Civil Rights Battle To Start Monday

Senator Calls It 'Carnival Of Politics'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It will be a carnival of politics."

That's the way Sen. Richard B. Russell (D - Ga) summed up Saturday the civil rights battle due to start in the Senate Monday.

Russell is the leader of Southern opponents who, as never before, appear to have their backs to the wall in fighting against civil rights legislation.

The key man in the election-year struggle over the emotionally and politically explosive issue will be Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the Senate majority leader.

Because of his leadership post, Johnson will have a major voice in deciding how long the Senate meets each day. If a filibuster develops, will he call for round-the-clock sessions in an effort to break it?

Johnson's influence also could be crucial in shaping the final legislative production—in bridging the gap between Southern senators who oppose any civil rights bill and senators who advocate a sweeping measure guaranteeing Negro voting rights and reinforcing the Supreme Court's school integration decision.

How well Johnson steers his course in these treacherous waters will be closely watched by colleagues who regard him as an eager although undeclared candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination this year.

HUNT MYSTERY SUBMARINE: This newsmap locates the area where 12 warships and 30 Air Force planes are searching the Nuevo Gulf off the Argentine coast, with orders to seek, strike and destroy two submarines of unknown registery believed to be lurking in its depths. President Arturo Frondizi ordered the Argentine Navy to destroy "any warships found in territorial waters." Nuevo Gulf is virtually an inland sea with waters about 500 feet deep. (NEA Telephoto)

Argentina Reports Two Subs Lurking In Gulf, One Damaged

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — The Argentine navy said Saturday two mystery submarines now are hiding in the remote Golfo Nuevo.

The navy announcement said one of the two subs in the gulf apparently had been damaged by a bombardment from navy warships and aircraft.

The statement came at a time many Argentines were beginning to doubt there was any submarine at all in the remote gulf. There has been a 15-day hunt for an elusive underwater vessel supposed to be lurking in the 20X40-square-mile gulf 650 miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

A terse communique from the secretary of the navy said naval and air operations in the gulf are continuing and added: "The existence of two submarines in the gulf has been confirmed, one of them apparently damaged and the other apparently conserving all its operating conditions."

The navy announcement led to new speculation, this time that a second submarine was trying to distract Argentine search forces away from a crippled sub in an effort to let the damaged vessel escape from the blockaded gulf.

The Argentine navy said two U.S. transport planes are bringing modern antisubmarine weapons here that were urgently requested by Argentina and "are of indispensable necessity to continue operations."

The continuing accounts of lurking submarines provoked mounting excitement in Bueos Aires and the possibility of international complications heightened the tension.

There was mounting speculation that the reported submarines might be Soviet.

Argentina regards the entrance of a submerged submarine in the gulf as an invasion of territorial waters.

Two Dutch warships, the destroyer Groningen and the frigate Van Amstel, and two Avenger antisubmarine aircraft reported from Curacao in the Dutch West Indies that a strange submarine may have been traced in that Caribbean area.

The Dutch said radar and anti-submarine detection apparatus had disclosed the presence of an unknown object Friday. A check showed the Dutch submarine Walrus in the area was too far away to have been involved.

Chessman Loses Another Appeal, Continues Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Caryl Chessman lost another appeal Saturday but declared he still has legal resources he hopes will save him from execution, scheduled for Friday.

A stay of execution was denied by Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black in Washington. He said he found no substantial federal question raised by the condemned man's attorneys.

Chessman told a news conference at San Quentin Prison that he also expected an adverse decision from a plea before the U.S. Court of Appeals in San Francisco.

It was presumed Judges Clifton Mathews, Gilbert H. Jertberg and Charles M. Merrill would study the Chessman appeal Monday.

Davis told newsmen, "This denial by Justice Black is not the action of the Supreme Court of the United States. But it is the action of a justice of that court acting in his capacity as a circuit judge."

George T. Davis, Chessman's attorney, told newsmen more direct appeals would be made to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Davis said the action before Judge Chambers challenged a federal rule, on the books for 52 years as unconstitutional.

He said the rule required a person to obtain a certificate of probable cause from some single judge before an appeals court can agree to consider an appeal.

This appeal by Davis is the one referred by Judge Chambers to the three other judges.

Judge Frees 29 Oil Companies Of Price Fixing

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Twenty-nine big oil companies charged with plotting to fix prices were acquitted Saturday by a federal judge who declared evidence submitted by the government didn't "rise above the level of suspicion."

U. S. Dist. Judge Royce H. Savage, in a decision of far-reaching importance to the petroleum industry's corporate structure, upheld motions by all defendants for judgments of acquittal.

"I think I should say simply that after giving consideration to the evidence I have an absolute conviction, personally, that the defendants are not guilty," Savage declared.

The court's decision came before a packed and tense courtroom at the close of the trial's 10th day, the second devoted wholly to argument on the motions.

The government cannot appeal the judge's ruling on the criminal charges. However, it could appeal a point of law but it was not known immediately if one is planned.

Snowstorm Shocks Southeast, Report At Least 16 Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A gigantic snowstorm shocked the Southeast Saturday, burying communities in a foot of snow, marooning hundreds of motorists and creating havoc with transportation, sporting events and business.

Charging in from snow-plastered Texas, the storm swamped Virginia with more than 13 inches, Tennessee 11 and the Carolinas 10 as it curved northeastward.

A fall up to 18 inches was expected in some parts of Virginia before the storm abates. Snows of 2 to 8 inches blanketed numerous areas of Mississippi and Alabama. Southeast Arkansas measured 5.

At least 10 persons died in the violent weather which gripped usually mild Dixie from southern Maryland into Louisiana. Six others died Friday when the storm pounded Texas.

More than 125 motorists were stranded in Alabama as snows piled to hub-cap levels. Some 300 persons were snowbound in homes near Huntsville, Ala., including several missile scientists from Redstone Arsenal.

Sleet and freezing rain put a treacherous glaze on fringe areas of the storm and torrential rains deluged the lower half of the South. Southern Florida, best by an up-and-down thermometer all winter, was warned to brace again for chilly readings in the 40s.

Gale force winds raged along the Atlantic Coast and warnings were hoisted from Florida to Atlantic City. Abnormally high tides were expected to pound the lowlands.

While Dixie reeled, the storm drove on. Heavy snow warnings were issued for New York and New England. Eastern Kentucky was told to be ready for 10 to 18 inches. Ohio and Pennsylvania could expect up to 6 inches, the weather bureau said.

The big blowing storm laid snow across northern portions of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, the western areas of the Carolinas, Maryland the Virginia. The border states of Tennessee, Kentucky and Maryland were hard hit.

Knoxville, Tenn., wallowed in 11 inches, heaviest since 1952. Air flights were canceled, city buses stopped running and downtown stores closed at 1 p.m.

Many telephone lines were knocked out from Knoxville east. Gatlinburg in the Smoky Mountains was completely isolated.

Marxist Ideology Imperils U.S. Way Of Life: Hoover

NEW YORK (AP)—Communists bent on destroying freedom "are succeeding right on our very doorstep," Former President Herbert Hoover declared Saturday.

He told a meeting of United Presbyterian Men that Marxist ideology has infected "both the thinking of our people and the actions of our own government."

"The American way of life has proved to be pretty tough," he said. "It needs to be even tougher right now."

The 85-year-old Hoover asserted that more Christian leaders need to recognize and oppose the spread of Marxism.

"This infection creeps through our nation by deluded and misled men and by disguised organizations, fronts and cults," he said.

"These agents of infection are like hermit crabs which crawl into such terms as 'liberal,' 'progressive,' 'public electric power,' 'managed economy,' 'the welfare state' and others," he said, adding :

"The clergy can perform a reat spiritual service to the American people if they would tear away the disguises and expose the meaning, the ultimate consequences and the destinations

Hoover, the country's 31st president, said the nation was facing many perils, including crises of inflation, unfavorable foreign trade balance, corruption in the labor movement and a decline in moral standards.

Cardinal Buried In Cathedral From Which He Was Barred

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac was buried Saturday in Zagreb Cathedral from which he was barred by the Communist government in life. In a final statement read at the service he forgave his enemies.

The sadness of the last rites was deepened by the serious injury of Franz Cardinal Koenig of Vienna, who was to have officiated.

Cardinal Koenig's automobile and a truck collided at Varazdin, Yugoslavia, as he was hurrying to Zagreb. The chauffeur was killed and the cardinal's ceremonial aide Dr. Helmut Kraetzl also was injured seriously.

The funeral was delayed slightly because of the accident.

The pontifical requiem was conducted in Cardinal Koenig's place by the Most Rev. Franjo Seper, the apostolic administrator of the Zagreb diocese and successor of Cardinal Stepinac as spiritual leader of Yugoslavia's seven million Roman Catholics. A number of Yugoslav Roman Catholic bishops and other dignitaries assisted him.

The huge Gothic cathedral was jammed with 3,000 faithful, come to honor the cardinal who died Wednesday at the age of 61.

In his sermon after the pontifical requiem, Msgr. Seper read parts of Cardinal Stepinac's last message to the people.

Cardinal Stepinac appealed to the people to remain firm in their belief in the Roman Catholic Church and faithful to the Holy See. He said he pardoned all those who erred against him.

The case of Cardinal Stepinac was one of the major obstacles to normal relations between the state and the Roman Catholic Church. Imprisoned on a charge of collaborating with Nazi Germany in World War II, he was released in 1951 and confined to his native village of Krasic.

READY TO ROLL

NEW YORK (AP)— Preparations have started for "The Unsinkable Mrs. Brown," a new musical comedy which will have its September premiere in Philadelphia before coming to Broadway. Producers Dore Schary and the Theater Guild will begin selecting the star players immediately now that author Richard Morris and composer Meredith Wilson have the show ready for rehearsals.

The story is based on the adventures of a Titanic survivor who rose high in society from her old job of chambermaid.

Mikoyan Signs Trade Treaty With Castro

HAVANA (AP) — Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan Saturday signed a huge trade pact with Prime Minister Fidel Castro, making the Soviet Union Cuba's second largest customer behind the United States.

Cuban leaders hailed the new trade agreement, under which the Soviet Union buys a fifth of Cuba's annual sugar crop, as the first step toward closer Soviet-Cuban relations.

American sources said the pact assures the Soviet Union a firm foot in this critical Caribbean area from which it can extend its penetration deep into the rest of the Caribbean and Latin America.

Before he left by plane for Moscow at the end of a 10-day visit to Cuba, Mikoyan also indicated at a news conference that resumption of Cuban-Soviet diplomatic relations may be near.

A final communique said: "Both governments approve the proposition of amplifying and reinforcing contacts in the field of economic cooperation, technical assistance and cultural exchanges to benefit their respective peoples. They agree ... to discuss opportunely the renewal of diplomatic relations on a plane of complete equality and independence."

Under the trade agreement, the Soviet Union will buy one million tons of sugar a year for the next five years. It will extend Castro's regime a credit of 100 million dollars to be repaid over 12 years at an interest rate of 2½ per cent.

For this amount of sugar, the Soviet Union will pay cash in dollars for 200,000 tons a year at the world market price, now three cents a pound. The remaining 800,000 tons of sugar will be exchanged for farm and industrial machinery.

The United States now buys about half of Cuba's annual sugar production of five million tons, paying from 2 to 2½ cents a pound over the world market price.

Seeks To Emphasize Arrival As World Nuclear Power

PARIS (AP)—France, exultant newcomer to the ranks of the world's atomic powers, declared Saturday night it will build a striking force of nuclear weapons to assure its "national independence."

The announcement came amid widespread criticism in other parts of the world over France's test explosion of an atomic device in the Sahara early Saturday.

There were reports that France plans to follow up with the explosion of an operational A-bomb.

Pierre Messmer, French defense minister, told a news conference: "We took an important step this morning with the explosion of the bomb. But we have not yet reached our goal. We will continue to work to give France a striking force of nuclear warheads and the means to deliver them so that the army can accomplish its mission of assuring national independence."

Messmer did not elaborate on his statement but it is believed he meant France intends to make nuclear missiles.

The successful test of a tower device placed France in the ranks of the world's atomic powers along with the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

The United States and Britain took the news of their ally's accomplishment calmly but the Soviet Union, the only Communist member of the atomic club, "deplored" the French atom test.

A statement from the Tass news agency said: "If nuclear explosions should continue, the Soviet government will, naturally, not be able to overlook it and fail to draw the proper conclusions for its own security."

The Russians have maintained in the past they would continue a ban on nuclear weapons tests so long as the West observed the same ban.

Newsmen asked Pierre Guillaumat, minister in charge of atomic affairs, if another atomic test is planned. He replied that the Sahara test area would continue to exist for some time.

Asked if France is considering making a hydrogen bomb, Guillaumat hesitated, then said: "The problem is being considered."

Immediately after learning of the atomic test President Charles de Gaulle sent this message to Guillaumat, who directed the test: "Hurrah for France! Since this morning she is stronger and prouder. From the bottom of my heart, thanks to you and those who, for France, have achieved this magnificent success."

Maj. Gen. Charles Ailleret, chief of the French special weapons division, anticipated Messmer's announcement earlier Saturday. He said the test of a plutonium device at Tanezrouf, deep in Algeria near the Reggane oasis, "will permit us to construct swiftly a completely modern nuclear arms supply."

France is known to have enough plutonium, a derivative of Uranium 238, on hand for two atomic blasts and is slowly processing more.

The French blast No. 1 appears to have been about equal to the first atomic bombs produced in 1945 by the United States. Their energy was rated as the equiv-

Paar Doesn't Want To Return To Show; Receives Apology

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Paar, who quit his television show in a huff, disclosed Saturday night that NBC has written him a letter saying it is sorry it happened.

Paar's agent called it an apology.

"Apology is a strong word," Paar replied.

But the comedian, who walked off his show last Thursday night after the National Broadcasting Co. censored out a five-minute anecdote Wednesday about a water closet, said he does not want to return to "The Jack Paar Show."

He also denied reports he wanted more money. He did say, however, he would like to work fewer hours.

Paar appeared at a hastily called news conference in a vacant studio in the NBC building. With him was his agent, Mary Kummer.

Paar said that if NBC would offer him his release now he would accept it.

But he said he wanted to continue in television because "there's nothing else I can do."

Summing up at the close of the conference, he said: "Everything is up in the air. There is nothing that I want to do (on television). I have no terms. I don't want to do the 'Tonight Show.' "

Although NBC has called Paar's late-night guest program "The Jack Paar Show," Paar has continued to call it the "Tonight Show," its name when Steve Allen had it several years ago.

Paar kept stressing throughout the interview that money was not an issue. He said he earns between $100,000 and $200,000 a year, and denied with some heated retorts that his income ran to half a million.

Paar said NBC President Robert Kintner had offered to visit him Friday, but the comedian turned him down because his rambling home in suburban Bronxville was crowded with reporters and "I don't want to talk to Mr. Kintner in front of everyone else."

Nikita Nears End Of Unfruitful Visit To India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev flies to east central India Sunday at the end of a three-day visit to New Delhi that so far apparently has been unfruitful.

Showing a little more bounce than he had in his first two days, the Premier toured a 30,670-acre, Soviet-equipped farm at Suratgarh, 200 miles northwest of New Delhi. He told the farmers they did not know how to harvest mustard.

He spent an hour Saturday visiting an exhibit of mystic impressionistic paintings by Svetoslav Roerich, whose parents fled the Soviet revolution 40 years ago. Khrushchev talked animatedly with Roerich and praised his work although he himself is an advocate of "Socialist realism."

But throughout most of his visit Khrushchev has lacked the sparkle and bounce he often has shown. He has cracked few jokes and refrained from the flamboyant antics that so often mark his tours.

Others theorized that Khrushchev is depressed by the deadlock between India and Red China over 50,000 disputed square miles on their frontiers. Many Indians have hoped Khrushchev might find a way out of the bitter quarrel.

Woman Hears Shot Near Time Coors Vanished

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—A rancher's wife disclosed Saturday she heard a gunshot and loud voices last Tuesday morning about the time wealthy Adolph Coors III vanished.

Mrs. William J. Stitt said she told the FBI the noises came from the vicinity of the small wooden bridge where Coors' car was found parked, its motor still running. The Stitts live about a quarter-mile from the bridge.

The FBI would not comment on Mrs. Stitt's disclosure.

She said her husband recently has seen a blue-green sedan parked in the vicinity of the bridge several times.

Coors, 44, is the millionaire chairman of the Adolph Coors Co., a brewery and ceramics manufacturing development here.

He disappeared en route to work from his Rocky Mountain foothills home last Tuesday. Nothing has been heard of him since.

Sheriff Art Wermuth says he believes Coors has been kidnaped. The FBI entered the case Wednesday, but has made no comment except to say its investigation is continuing.

Find Five Bodies Of Crew Of Lady Be Good Bomber Lost In Libyan Desert In 1943

WASHINGTON (AP) — The desolate sands of a North African desert have yielded up the bodies of five members of the Lady Be Good bomber crew after nearly 17 years.

Their four buddies may lie buried somewhere nearby in the shifting sand dunes of the Libyan Desert.

The Air Force announced Saturday an oil exploration party found the bodies of five members of the crew that failed to return from a World War II bombing mission over Italy on April 4, 1943.

They lay about 85 miles from the spot where the Lady Be Good's almost intact frame was discovered by chance 10 months ago.

For weeks after the finding of the bomber, an intensive air and surface search was conducted for its crew. It was obvious the men either had walked away from the plane after it was forced down or had parachuted from it as it was heading back to its North African base.

Clustered near the bodies of the five were pieces of equipment they had used in their effort to walk out of the desert — canteens, flashlights, pieces of parachute silk and harness, furlined flight jackets.

Individual identification of the bodies was awaiting results of analyses by an Army mortuary team. But one bit of equipment may have given a clue to the identity of one of the five men.

This was a sun glasses case bearing the name of Lt. D. P. Hays. He was the navigator aboard the bomber. His home was Lee's Summit, Mo.

At Independence, Mo., Mrs. George Barrett said the family had received no formal communication about her brother since he was officially reported missing in action and his military insurance was paid to his mother, who died two years ago.

The oil company men, apparently in moving about the vast, empty desert in their work, came upon the bodies and last encampment of the five on Thursday.

A commercial pilot who operates planes in the desert radioed word of the finding to Wheelus Air Force Base, near Tripoli. A U.S. Air Force party flew to the scene and reported back that these definitely were crew members of the long-missing bomber.

2nd Lt. John S. Woravka, Cleveland, Ohio.

T.Sgt. Robert E. La Motte, Lake Linden, Mich.

S.Sgt. Guy E. Shelley, New Cumberland, Pa.

S.Sgt. Vernon L. Moore, New Boston, Ohio.

S.Sgt. Samuel R. Adams, Eureka, Ill.

Mrs. M. A. Adams, mother of Sgt. Adams, said at her home in Eureka she always felt "that someday their bodies might be found." She expressed relief at the news but added:

"Of course it brought it (the original report of her son's death) all back again."

Adams' widow, Dorothy Mae, who has since remarried, was not immediately available for comment.

Grant And Yates

General Ulysses S. Grant of Galena, Ill., and Governor Richard Yates of Jacksonville are shown here as they will be recreated on a TV presentation that will be of more than ordinary interest to many viewers in this area.

This scene was taken from "Shadow of a Soldier," to be broadcast by NBC on Sunday, Feb. 21. It is one of the "Our American Heritage" series and was produced in collaboration with Bruce Catton, Civil War authority, biographer of Grant and a holder of an honorary degree from Illinois College.

Previous "Heritage" programs dealt with Thomas Jefferson, Eli Whitney and John Charles Fremont.

Grant and Yates became firm friends and the latter did much to help Grant toward his place as the general of the armies at the close of the Civil War. For Grant, like Yates, believed in "persistent, relentless, stupendous, exterminating war."

Yates' was the strongest of Unionists and his infectious leadership produced a spirit of patriotism Illinois never experienced before, nor since.

First College Man

Yates was the first college-trained man elected governor in Illinois. He was one of the first two graduates of Illinois College, back in 1835. After reading law with Gen. John J. Hardin of Jacksonville, he represented Morgan county in the Illinois legislature. In 1850 he was elected to Congress. Only 32 years old, he was the youngest man in Congress, but he was an outstanding orator and often led parliamentarian moves sponsored by the much older and more experienced Whigs.

Defeated in 1854 during the Kansas-Nebraska excitement, he returned to Jacksonville and built up a prosperous law practice. And in 1860 he was nominated for governor by the young Republican party.

A Real Canvass

Teamed with Abraham Lincoln and sparkplugged by such men as Dick Oglesby of Decatur, Ward Hill Lamon of Danville and Joseph Medill of Chicago, he was elected governor in what is termed the most exciting political campaign in the state's history.

Morgan county liked Douglas and Allen better than Lincoln and Yates; the voters considered Stephen A. Douglas every much a son as Yates and gave the Democratic candidates a sizeable majority.

Next Sunday's telecast deals much with Grant's writing of his memoirs while facing certain death from throat cancer. He had contracted the enterprise with Mark Twain, then a top-flight New York publisher, in order to provide funds for the support of his family. Completing the two-volume work was truly a race with time.

Grant wrote tersely and objectively and the enterprise was a huge financial success.

A Heart-Warming Story

This was due in part to the great publicity given Grant at the time. The story of the old general fighting his last battle (and would he win it?) captivated all Americans. For example, his serious illness in March, 1885, was the leading story in both the Journal and the Courier for ten consecutive days.

Everybody was pleased when he rallied to complete his assignment. He died Aug. 23, 1885.

In 1861 U. S. Grant was known (where he was known) as a West Point graduate who was promoted to captain during the Mexican war before he pretty well drank himself out of the army. After that he had failed at farming and in business.

Finally Invited

In February, 1861, he accompanied a company of Galena volunteers to Springfield, but nobody offered him an appointment of any kind. On the evening of his departure back to Galena — still in the role of a failure—he was walking through a hotel dining room when Yates called to him and asked what he was going to do. Grant said he was going home. Yates asked him to stay "at least overnight and see me at my office in the morning."

In June the officers of the 21st Illinois Infantry, who had been elected by popular vote, were proving totally unfit for any kind of duty and Yates picked Grant to take over. In July Grant, the newest colonel appointed by the commander of the Illinois militia, Governor Richard Yates, led his men west from Camp Butler, through Riddle Hill, Island Grove, Jacksonville and Naples, to begin his glorious and bloody route to victory.

As I See It
by E. W. BROWN

Anyone thinking seriously about using Jules Verne's roadmap for taking a "Journey to the Center of the Earth" had better take plenty of ice cubes along. According to estimates by Dr. John Verhoogen, professor of Geology at the University of California, folks planning a trip down some old extinct volcano ala Verne's heroes are due for a hot old time. Considering a trip to, say, just the bottom of the earth's crust? Then take along a thermometer that reads up to 1000 degrees Fahrenheit, because that's how hot it gets there. Want a longer vacation, to the earth's core, for instance? Then take one that reads to 3500 degrees Fahrenheit, according to Dr. Verhoogen's estimate. We don't know how the good professor arrives at his figures but we're willing to take his word for it and not let our curiosity get out of bounds. If this indicates a faint heart, at least we have lots of company.

Country Club Of Alexander Meets Thursday, Feb. 11

Mrs. Ann Hermes was hostess to the Alexander Country Club on Thursday, Feb. 11, at her home. In the absence of president Clara Camm the meeting was called to order by the secretary, Emaline Kramp. The meeting opened with the pledge of allegiance to the flag led by Mary Weiser.

It was reported that one of the members, Mrs. Katherine Camm, was in the hospital. Mrs. Elizabeth Hermes read two articles, "Mr. Lincoln's Gift to the Wrong Girl" by Ann Cutler and "Hypnotism" by John Pfeiffer.

Mrs. Josephine Walsh was in charge of recreation and conducted several games of bingo. Prizes were awarded to Nora Roberts, Leona Clancy, Mary Ellen Hermes, Emma Jean Zachary, Ann Hermes, Mary Weiser, Elizabeth Hermes and Emaline Kramp.

The hostess served refreshments. Guests attending were Mrs. Leona Clancy and Bernard, Mrs. Mary Ellen Hermes and Kim Zachary.

The next meeting will be held March 10 with Mrs. Elizabeth Hermes.

IN THE DORM . . . "AT HOME"

If you will invest just a little of your thought and time in planning, you won't find it nearly so difficult as you may imagine to fit a large family into a small home. And you won't have to sacrifice comfort, either. For instance, three small daughters doesn't necessarily mean three bedrooms. Very often, three can live as comfortably as one in an average-size room. IF the space is carefully maneuvered.

Three little sisters sleep and play in the attractive bedroom sketched above. There's no doubling up. Each child has her own bed and individual shelf space.

The beds, arranged dormitory fashion, are well out of draughts. This arrangement allows for plenty of play area and unimpeded traffic lanes.

Shelf and cabinet units along the entire window wall are bleached birch — tie in nicely with wood-paneled walls. A feminine touch has been introduced with the pink, blue and white floral-patterned washable cotton curtains and dust ruffles. Blue linoleum floor is eye-catching and simple to keep clean. Shelves provide easily accessible display space for dolls, books, toys and radio.

If, instead of girls, you are blessed with three little boys, the same room plan would be practical and appropriate. Stronger, more masculine colors, plaids and/or stripes could be substituted for the feminine pattern.

We are constantly seeking out the right furnishings to meet the needs of your growing family. So if you're looking for bedroom, living room and/or dining room furniture, we're sure you'll find just what you want here. So do make it a point to come in real soon.

With The Girl Scouts

"Dolls, Puppets and Diversions" is the title of the fourth film workshop which will be presented at the Girl Scout office this week, Friday at 9:30 a.m. Quite a few leaders have been taking advantage of these excellent presentations and program suggestions for troops given as a TV series last year. Shari Lewis stars in the presentation and assists the artist or specialist in each field. The dolls and puppet workshop is led by Ascanio Spolidoro, director of the marionette theatre, Department of Parks, City of New York.

The last film workshop of the series will be presented Feb. 23 and will be on leathercraft. "Music and Musical Instruments" was the title of the workshop held this past week; 12 leaders attended.

Three committees of the Board of Directors of this Council will meet this week at the Scout office: Training committee, Monday, Feb. 15, at 9:30 a.m.; Camp committee, Tuesday at 9:45 a.m.; and Public Relations Wednesday at 9:30 a.m.

Leaders of the Waverly-Franklin neighborhood will meet Thursday, Feb. 18, at 9:30 a.m. at the Scout office in Jacksonville.

Two neighborhood meetings last week were cancelled due to the bad weather and driving conditions, the Scott county meeting in Winchester and the Cass county meeting in Beardstown. However, the Greene county neighborhood meeting was held last Tuesday at the Legion Home in White Hall at 1:30 p.m. Newspaper sit-upons for troops to make were demonstrated. A new second grade troop of Brownies is being organized in White Hall as a result of a mothers' meeting held there last Monday.

Board Meeting

There was a large attendance of members at the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council held last Wednesday at the Scout office. Several new members were introduced including Mrs. Carroll Rexroat, chairman of the Membership-Nominating committee; Mrs. Howard Houlette, Camp chairman; Mrs. George McNamara, Public Relations chairman; Mrs. Bud Roth, Greene County Neighborhood chairman, and Mrs. DeRoy Martin and Mrs. Lela Thien, members-at-large.

The Board voted to pay $100 toward the expenses of two Senior Girl Scouts and an adult who will attend a training conference in Chicago and latter part of March. The group also voted to participate in a comic book drive with the girls in each troop collecting good, used comic books and bringing them to the Scout office. These will be sorted and bundled for redistribution. More information will be given to the troop later.

Plans for a board project were discussed to raise funds for extra Council expenses this year which include delegates' expense at the National Council to be held in November in St. Louis.

Troop Activities

The Valentine party and troop dramatic show given last Tuesday by the Intermediate Scouts of Troop No. 75 of South Jacksonville school was a tremendous success. Members of Troop No. 16 and No. 41 were also invited and there were 65 present. After the presentation of the troop play (given to fulfill first class dramatics requirement for badges,) a song fest was enjoyed and the group followed a Limerick Trail to the refreshment table. Sheet cake and cherry punch were served. Mrs. C. A. Dawson is leader of Troop No. 75.

Two Brownie Scout troops and five Cub Scout dens participated in a pageant of the flag at Lafayette school P.T.A. meeting last week. The occasion was the dedication of the new addition to the school building. Brownie Scout Troop No. 83, Mrs. William Cole and Mrs. Bud Walker, leader, and Brownie Troop No. 52, Mrs. A. K. Beams and Mrs. John Sauerwein, leaders, took part with the girls of Troop No. 83 opening the program showing the 13-star flag and singing "America." Troop No. 52 presented the 20-star flag for the years 1836-1858. At the conclusion of the flag series Miss Alaska and Miss Hawaii appeared for the 50-star flag of 1960. Kathy Hall was Miss Alaska and Melissa Green was Miss Hawaii. Patty Wood represented Betsy Ross and Tommy Kline was narrator; Edward Young served as drummer and Mrs. Nona Reid was accompanist.

Make Favors For Hospital

Brownie Troop No. 88 of Lincoln school made Valentine nut cups and tray covers, filled the nut cups with wrapped mints and took them to Passavant Hospital last week. Mrs. Don Robinson is the troop leader.

Intermediate Scouts of Troop No. 63 of Jonathan Turner school visited the Flamingo Beauty College last week and had a lesson on hair care and styling which the girls enjoyed very much. Accompanying them were Mrs. John Votsmier and the leaders, Mrs. Howard Choate and Mrs. Roy Christison.

Girls of Senior Troop No. 1, at the conclusion of their successful tea for their mothers and investiture service last week, decided that they must have a guardian angel for their troop since they have had so many successful ventures in the past two years. They voted to name her Julie after Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting. They will make an angel doll to have for troop meetings.

The March issue of "The Girl Scout Leader," the magazine which all registered adults in Scouting receive, carries an article about Mrs. Joachim Stenzel's Brownie troop of Richmond, Virginia. Mrs. Stenzel is a former resident of Jacksonville. She is very active in Scouting in California, where she now resides. The magazine has a picture of Mrs. Stenzel watching a Brownie use a sewing machine. The Brownies of Richmond, in a two-and-a-half-month sewing project, sewed 19 layettes, including diapers, wrappers and shirts, for the Medical College of Virginia. Most of the children were worried that the clothes would be too small, so the leaders had to explain how very little new-born babies really are. When the layettes were completed, there was not a chooked seam to be found, and the Brownies had the satisfaction of knowing their work was important and needed.

Virginia Mae Rhea

Miss Rhea is a 1959 graduate of MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Illinois, and is physical education instructor at Central High School, Camp Point, Illinois.

Mr. Hendricks is the son of Mrs. Lillie Hendricks, Camp Point, and the late T. J. Hendricks. After serving four years in the Air Force, during the Korean conflict, he received his military discharge in 1954.

Linda Louise Summers

WINCHESTER—Mr. and Mrs. James Summers announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Louise, to Ivan J. Dunn of White Hall. They plan a wedding in late September. Mr. Dunn is the son of Mr. Lou Taylor of White Hall and the late I. S. Dunn.

The bride-to-be graduated from Winchester High School in 1959 and is employed by the General Telephone Company of Illinois.

Joanne Launer and Vernon Anderson

VIRGINIA—Early Saturday evening, February six, Miss Joanne Launer, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Launer, became the bride of Vernon Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson, in an impressive candlelight service at the St. John's Lutheran Church, Bluff Springs, Illinois.

The Rev. Richard A. Bailey, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Appropriate selections and the traditional wedding marches were furnished at the organ by Mrs. Richard Petefish, cousin of the groom.

On the altar were lighted tapers and white gladioli with huckleberry. Baskets of red and white flowers adorned the church proper.

Wears Lace Gown

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a waltz length gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta featuring a Sabrina neckline accented by tiny scallops. The fitted bodice ended in points at the waist with tiny self covered buttons down the back. The very full skirt was finished with scallops around the hemline.

The bride's fingertip veil of illusion fell from a headband of orange blossoms. It had been worn by her two sisters at their weddings. She carried a bouquet of white stephanotis centered with a white orchid with white streamers. Her jewelry was a single strand of cultured pearls with matching earrings, gift of the groom.

Ushers were Ernest Launer, brother of the bride, and Leland Sweatman, brother-in-law of the bride.

The matron of honor wore red velvet fashioned similarly to the bride's gown, with sleeves of three-quarter length and V neckline. She wore a matching headband and carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

The bride's mother wore a blue print silk dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The mother of the groom wore navy crepe with white accents and black accessories. Her corsage was also of white carnations.

Special guests at the wedding included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Lydia Launer, and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Orne, who also wore white carnation corsages. The groom's grandfather, Gust Anderson, also attended the ceremony.

Church Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception for the wedding guests was held in the church rooms with the bride's chosen colors of red and white carried throughout the decorations.

The beautifully appointed table was centered with a four tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Leland Sweatman, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Ernest Launer, sister-in-law of the bride, cut and served the cake. Punch was served by Mrs. Ralph Anderson. Mrs. Carl Orne, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Floyd Reichert, aunt of the bride, assisted with the serving.

Mrs. James Trenter, cousin of the groom, cared for the gifts and Mrs. Homer Briney, cousin of the bride registered the guests.

The bride graduated from the Virginia High School and has been employed as bookkeeper for the D-Our Implement Company of Virginia. The groom, also a graduate of Virginia High School, is engaged in farming east of Virginia where the couple will reside.

Valentine Motif For Murrayville Woman's Club

Mrs. S. C. Martin was hostess last Wednesday to members of the Murrayville Woman's club at her home in Murrayville. The president, Mrs. Walter Hanback, presided.

Due to illness only nine members were present to answer roll by telling of a recently enacted law. The meeting opened with the pledge to the flag led by the hostess. "America" was sung with Mrs. James Symons at the piano.

The program chairman, Mrs. Symons, introduced the chairman for law and legislation, Mrs. Beadles. The latter spoke of legislation as studied by federated clubwomen and noted the National Culture Center at Washington, D. C., sponsored by the National Federation. The program closed with the club collect.

During the special feature, Club Carrousel, conducted by Mrs. Walter Hanback, a Valentine theme was followed. Mrs. Hanback told of the history of the observance and passed out Valentines to each present having the members read their respective verse. She was assisted by Mrs. Symons who read "February the 14th," and Mrs. J. L. Solomon who read "Valentine Reflections."

During the social hour the hostess served elaborate refreshments of Twenty-four Hour Salad with snacks, assorted sandwiches, coffee and nutmeats. The next meeting will be held Feb. 24 in Jacksonville with Mrs. Charles Wilson.

Rev. Rigdon To Show Slides Of South America

WHITE HALL — Rev. Charles Rigdon, pastor of the local Pentecostal Church, has announced colored slides of Colombia and Venezuela in South America will be shown at the church on Sunday night, Feb. 14, at 7:30 o'clock to which the public is invited.

The slides were taken by Rev. Calvin L. Rigdon, son of the pastor, on his recent trip to these countries, and will show the work of the United Pentecostal missionaries in those countries. Rev. Rigdon is general president of the youth department of the United Pentecostal Church.

The young people of the local church received national recognition in 1959 in the form of a third place plaque, giving the sum of $1,821.45 to the work, the plaque being received by the pastor, Rev. Charles Rigdon, at Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis, the total amount being received in the youth program being $90,179.07.

Believe in short names? There are railroad stops in Canada named: Bic, Dix, Pym, Rak, Ray and Usk. There's also a station known as Ha, but its full legal name is St. Louis de Ha. Ha.

IOOF Rally At Winchester

Curt C. Lindauer, of Belleville, Grand Master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Illinois and Grand Lodge Officers will attend an Odd Fellow rally, opening with a program of pleasures and fun and closing with an address by Grand Master Lindauer at Pioneer Lodge No. 70 I.O.O.F. at Winchester, on Saturday, February 20th.

Regional Director Chester A. Patton, Springfield, Chairman of the arrangements committee of District Deputy Grand Master Robert Martin, Hillsboro; Donald Mullins, Bluffs; Floyd McCleary, Pittsfield; Ray Ward, Edinburg and the Noble Grands of the host counties have arranged a most entertaining afternoon of pleasure and fun for the visiting Odd Fellows, candidates and friends, from throughout the state and neighboring states.

Everett Long of Jacksonville will present a reading. Illini Lodge 4 of Jacksonville will sponsor a talented group of entertainers under direction of Mrs. Alta Eisch, musical therapist at Jacksonville State hospital. Otto Henry of Winchester will give a narration on a timely subject.

At 7 p.m. the Past Grand and Grand Lodge Degrees will be conferred upon Past Noble Grands by the Grand Lodge Officers.

At 7:30 p.m. under the direction of Paul Gilbert, Illini Lodge No. 4 of Jacksonville will confer the Initiatory degree upon a large class of candidates from throughout the state.

Grand Master Curt C. Lindauer will deliver an inspiring address titled "One Heart—On Way."

Ashland Church Plans Father-Son Banquet

ASHLAND — The third annual Father-Son banquet will be held at the Methodist church Friday, Feb. 19, at 6:30 p.m. Speaker of the evening will be the Rev. Harvey Wright, Methodist pastor at Athens, who has an unusual way of presenting his message since he is an amateur magician.

A few of the local men were both entertained and inspired recently when they attended a similar banquet at Pleasant Plains and found that Rev. Wright not only mystifies his audience, both young and old, but at the same time presents a Christian message.

Donald Parsons, program chairman for the local Methodist Men's organization, says that a fine meal is being planned by the women of the church, and there will be special entertainment in addition to the speaker of the evening.

Library To Reopen

Beginning Tuesday, Feb. 16, the Ashland library will reopen after being closed for two months, during which time the library was redecorated. The public is cordially invited to visit the library to read favorite books and order books from the state library.

The library will be open on Tuesdays through Saturdays from 1 to 5 p.m. Library week will be observed in April.

Brief News Notes

Miss Susan Edwards, daughter of Lester Edwards, and the late Lorene Edwards, has been chosen by the faculty and senior class of the local high school to receive the DAR good citizen's award. Susan is a senior at Ashland high. Some of the qualities that were considered in her selection as recipient of the award were dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

All members of the Minstrel chorus are urged to be present on Monday night, Feb. 15, at 7 p.m. for rehearsal in the band room of the Ashland high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lohman and daughters have left for a two weeks vacation at Daytona Beach, Fla., visiting with the former's mother, Mrs. Annette Lohman, who is spending the winter there, and also visiting with the former's aunt, Mrs. Helen Dean, who resides there.

Charles Nolte Named Chairman Of Calhoun Group

HARDIN — Charles Nolte was named chairman of the Calhoun County Soil Conservation District board at the group's organization meeting early this week. Walter Meyer was elected vice-chairman, and Bernard Hillen, secretary-treasurer. The other members of the board are Aloys Schleeper and Howard Sibley.

Nolte and Hillen were re-elected to the board at the organization's annual meeting in Hardin on Monday, Jan. 25, and Howard Sibley was elected at the same time to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of H. L. Johnson, who served last year as chairman of the board.

Business in this week's meeting included the ordering of bulletins for ministers in the county, for use on Stewardship Sunday, which will be in May.

Legion Program

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary unit in Hardin is scheduled for Monday night, at the Legion Hall, at which time Mrs. August Simon, unit Americanism chairman will present a program appropriate to the month of February. Reports will be heard of the recent County Council meeting, and a tray favor meeting, according to Mrs. Howard Devine, unit president.

Passavant School Of Nursing Open July 1; Elect Four Trustees

Four new trustees of Passavant Memorial Area Hospital were elected Thursday night at the annual meeting of the Board of Governors. New trustees, all of whom will serve six year terms, are Mrs. Donald Littler, Donald L. Caldwell, and J. Harry Dowland, all of Jacksonville, and Allen B. Chrisman of Meredosia.

Fifty-six members of the Board of Governors attended the dinner meeting at Central Christian church. Also present were trustees and former trustees, and officers of the Aid Society.

Honor Retiring Trustees

Special tribute was paid to retiring trustees. Plaques in recognition of outstanding service to Passavant were presented to Mrs. J. N. Conover, M. J. Benscoter, and Lee A. Sullivan. Ben Montee, former president of the board, said the devotion, ability, and time these people have given to the hospital could not have been purchased at any price.

The rapid progress in the construction of the new School of Nursing building and additional patient rooms, and the continued increase in the scope of services provided by Passavant were emphasized in reports from trustees who serve as chairmen of the various committees.

"With the faithful payment of pledges, the building will be completed without indebtedness," Lawrence Crawford, co-chairman of the building committee, reported. He pointed out that two additional stories can be added to the section of the new building which houses the school and 16 patient rooms, should the needs of the community require it in future years.

New Building Rises

Plans to have the new facilities ready for operation by July 1 were announced by Harlan Lee Williamson, chairman of the interior furnishings committee. He said the committee feels the hospital is receiving the greatest value possible for each dollar spent on furnishings, and that the new patient rooms will have the latest in hospital equipment.

A. C. Hart, treasurer, reported that all but $224,000 of the cost of the new structure has been paid, and that $320,000 of the amount pledged to the campaign has been received. "We are in good shape," he concluded.

Lee A. Sullivan, chairman of the finance committee, said that the hospital showed a net loss of $12,000 last year, after allowances for depreciation on the present building.

Average 140 Patients Daily

More than 42,000 days of patient care were rendered by Passavant during the past fiscal year, Administrator Ralph B. Bersell stated in his report. Increases in service were shown by all departments. During the past four days, there had been an average of 140 in-patients in the hospital. Mr. Bersell said he hopes the clinics on pastoral care to the sick which have been held the past two years will become annual projects, since Passavant as a church-related Protestant hospital feels a responsibility for this aspect of patient care.

Dr. Mary Louise Newman, representing the medical staff, spoke on the high caliber of physicians on the staff, and commented that all recommendations for modern maternal and child care made at a recent state-wide conference are in practice at Passavant.

Mrs. Gertrude O. Hohmann, director of nursing and nursing service, spoke about the shortage of qualified nurses and instructors, and described the in-service training program maintained for professional nurses and nurse aides. She said a record number of inquiries have been received from prospective nursing students.

W. R. Bellatti, Jr., head of the budget committee, said the current fiscal year is the first in which a budget system has been attempted for Passavant and that costs have been kept within budget estimates for the first three months of the fiscal year.

Discusses Endowment Fund

W. O. Randall, vice-president of the Board of Trustees, presented a summary of the year's operation. Lawrence Oxley, a former member of the board, discussed the growth of the Endowment Fund, and urged Governors to help inform the community of the service and needs of the hospital.

Written reports of other committees had been mailed to all Governors, who are elected by congregations of Protestant churches in the Passavant Community. The nominating committee, headed by William Buchanan, included Wilbur Rodgers, Ralph Dahman, Ben Montee, and Mrs. Conover.

Following a closing prayer by Rev. G. A. Bischoff of St. Peter's Lutheran church at Arenzville, the meeting was adjourned by Mr. Watson.

Initiate New Members Of Honor Society In Chandlerville Rites

CHANDLERVILLE—The formal initiation of the new members of the National Honor Society was held in connection with a P.T.A. meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the high school gymnasium.

Mary Ellen Armstrong, president of the Society, presided over the program. Evan Garner, principal of grade school, gave the invocation and the benediction.

The speaker of the afternoon was the high school commercial teacher, Miss Shirley Vaughn, who spoke about the four base principles of National Honor Society, character, service, leadership and scholarship.

An impressive candlelight ceremony followed in which four of the old members of the society lighted candles representing the four basic principles. Then the president read the membership vows which the new members repeated.

Membership cards were handed to them by Judy Ellers, secretary of N.H.A. Roy Kirchner, secretary of the board of education, congratulated the new members and praised them for having received the highest award that the school can bestow.

New members taken into the Honor Society were, Kendall Garner, Katherine Merwin, Mary Jo Standish, Shirley Steehmer and Margaret Ann Warner.

150 Attend GOP Dinner Program At Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE — The Annual Lincoln Day potluck dinner and program sponsored by the Republican organizations of Jersey County Wednesday evening at the Holy Ghost Parish Hall in Jerseyville, attracted a crowd of over 150 persons.

Mrs. Melvin Johnson, president of the Jersey County Republican Women's Club, opened the meeting and the pledge of allegiance was led by a Boy Scout, Ronald Christen of Jerseyville.

A vocal trio composed of Mrs. Pearl E. Johnson, Mrs. Wm. Austin Cope and Miss Elizabeth Moore, sang three selections and was accompanied by Mrs. Hubert Catt.

Mrs. Johnson then turned the meeting over to Atty. Howard L. White, Chairman of the Jersey County Republican Central Committee, who served as Master of Ceremonies.

Short talks were given by the Republican candidates for United States Senator. They included John R. Harrell of Louisville, John W. Lewis, Jr., of Marshall, Warren E. Wright of Park Ridge, and Atty. Samuel W. Witwer of Chicago.

Chairman White also introduced the precinct committeemen of Jersey County, candidates for Congress from the 20th District who included Albert W. Hall, Jacksonville Attorney, Paul Findley, Pittsfield publisher, Alvin J. Ufkes, of Quincy, State's Attorney for Adams County and Clyde W. Baulos of Bluffs, and the candidates for Representative who were; Representative Orval Hittmeier of Litchfield and James Denby of Carlinville. Kenneth Dean of Staunton is also a candidate from the 20th District but illness in his family prevented him from attending the meeting.

Train Halted While Firemen Hose Track

Firemen spread a blanket of foamite after giving the G M & O tracks a bath Saturday morning before the train eased delicately through a potential danger area just north of Henry street.

Cause for yesterday's concern was a leak in a 12,000 gallon gasoline storage tank located 30 feet to the east of the railroad. The leak was discovered shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday morning and the tank was immediately pumped dry.

An undetermined amount of gas, estimated in excess of 1,000 gallons, ran out of the tank, over the ground and onto the railroad tracks, according to Arthur Seeman, manager of the Texaco bulk plant.

Firemen washed the area with water, then laid a blanket of foam over the area to reduce the danger of a spark igniting the fuel. Firemen were on duty about three hours at the scene.

The train passed without incident after the division trainmaster from Roodhouse made a final inspection.

General Meeting Of C.W.F. Held At Church

The Women's Fellowship of Central Christian church had on Wednesday evening, Feb. 10, a double program of entertainment. Mrs. Harvey Jarvis gave a skit showing some of the advantages of subscribing to the magazine, World Call. She used articles from a tote bag to compare to the magazine's contents, such as glasses for vision, keys to unlock doors and a billfold to show how little it costs to receive the magazine.

Miss Butcher gave a brief history and the geographic details of the island. The chief concern is the illiteracy of the mountain people. Mrs. Adams showed the slides and described them. Mrs. Littler was unable to attend.

The amount of $50 was budgeted for Passavant hospital and with the help of Mrs. Howard Brown a new Necchi sewing machine was secured for this amount. The sewing machine will be placed in the new nurses' home for use by all the nurses.

Preceding the meeting piano numbers were played by Mrs. Marvin Ray. As part of the devotions a sextet, Mrs. Milton Edge, Mrs. Robert Ray, Mrs. Herschel Hickey, Miss Nancy Robson, Mrs. Joseph Doolin and Mrs. Russell Armstrong, sang "O, Zion Haste" and "Jesus Rose of Sharon." Mrs. Ashley gave devotions.

Mrs. Jewel Mann, a guest from the United Council of Church Women, told of World Day of Prayer. The theme is "Laborers Together With God."

The offering is interdenominational and goes to women's colleges in Asia, Christian literature, foreign students, radio stations, migrant workers and others. The day starts in the Tong Island on March 4 and ends 24 hours later on St. Lawrence Island.

Local services will be 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. with a luncheon at Northminster Presbyterian church; afternoon service at 2 p.m., Congregational church; evening service, 7:30 p.m., First [illegible] church.

[illegible] and women are invited to attend any of the services and also a nursery will be provided at 2 p.m.

The collection of blankets from the church was reported by Mrs. Milton Edge; the total was 29. The Illinois Council of Churches reported the receipt of 50,000 blankets and $10,000 for postage.

In March the Men's Fellowship members will be the guests of the CWF and entertained by Dean Richard Nesmith, speaking on "To Tell to All the World."

A silver tea was served by the Corpron group, with Mrs. Russell Armstrong as the leader.

DAR Chapter Honors Good Citizen Girls And Their Mothers

Senior girls from eleven high schools in the area were presented Good Citizens Awards at the meeting of the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution at the chapter meeting held Thursday, February 11. The girls and their mothers were guests at one o'clock luncheon.

Red, white and blue were used in several floral arrangements throughout the home. The centerpiece on the dining table was an attractive arrangement of red, white and blue flowers around red and white candles extending above the flowers.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Ransdell, chairman; Mrs. John T. Taylor, Miss Mabel Withee, Mrs. L. J. Lorton, Mrs. Guy Martin, Mrs. Earl Myers and Mrs. Roy T. Hopper.

The meeting opened with the pledge to the flag led by Mrs. Paul S. Black, followed by the group singing the national anthem. Mrs. Carl Moulton, music chairman, was at the piano. The invocation was given by Mrs. Arthur Ewert.

Miss Powell Speaks

Miss Marilee Joeckel favored the group with piano selections. The speaker at the meeting, Miss Jeannette Powell, was presented by the program chairman, Mrs. Roy T. Hopper. Miss Powell told of the part five famous women played in the building of Morgan county: Katherine Kendall Carson, Frances B. Ellis, Elizabeth Smith Duncan, Katherine Gears Yates and Sister Josephine. Each had a part in building the future, in different ways, for Morgan county.

Mrs. Paul E. Grabill, Good Citizens chairman, presented the awards to the girls from the platform. Each mother pinned an Award pin on her daughter, then in turn the daughters presented corsages to their mothers in tribute to the importance a mother has in a daughter's life. These awards are given nationally by the D.A.R. for dependability, service and patriotism.

The secretary, Mrs. J. E. Dinwiddie, read the minutes of the January meeting. The March meeting will be held March 24 instead of the regular date, to enable all members to attend the D.A.R. State Conference, March 9, 10 and 11 in Springfield. Reservations should be made by March 1, to Mrs. Drennan.

Mrs. George L. Drennan, presiding at the meeting, appointed members to be hostesses at the State Conference in the hospitality room. Members are also requested to furnish cookies for the conference.

Mrs. Drennan, Regent, thanked the committee and members for the bountiful luncheon. She told the girls that this meeting each year is considered the chapter's nicest meeting and wished each girl the best in her future.

The meeting of the board will be held on Thursday, Feb. 25, at 2 p.m. at the Chapter Home.

In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Not long after Hugh O'Brian clicked on TV as Wyatt Earp, a reporter friend mentioned that he had seen Hugh's name linked with a movie glamor queen.

"You mean someone else is planting stories in the gossip columns about me?" queried Hugh.

"That means I've arrived."

It's an inside joke because Hugh made it to the top mostly behind the big push of Hugh O'Brian.

When Hugh was a $75-a-week stock player at Universal-International, the publicity department never had to look for him. He lived there when he wasn't working.

Hugh had to meet a columnist but once to know him forever. More important, Hugh knew the columnists' wives.

A Gable or a Grant speaks directly to a columnist but never one of the stock players. This didn't bother Hugh. Like Jayne Mansfield, he was his own best press agent.

"God helps those who help themselves, I always say," says Hugh. And who can argue with such success?

Although Wyatt Earp made Hugh a star, he doesn't consider himself a Western specialist.

"I just happen to be an actor who is playing a Western hero," he explains. "I know I can't go on playing Wyatt Earp forever."

Only 20 per cent of his income comes directly from his Wyatt Earp salary. The rest comes from personal appearances, movies, TV guest shots, a Palm Springs hotel, a construction company.

To Hugh, acting is a business. "I consider myself big business and work just as hard at it as any other corporation executive."

He wound up his Wyatt Earp shows for the season just before Christmas. Between takes, he practiced singing and dancing routines for a one-week job as Andy Griffiths' replacement in the Broadway hit "Destry."

O'Brian, 34, is a native of Rochester, N. Y. He grew up in Chicago, Lancaster, Pa., Evanston and Winnetka, Ill. He left the University of Cincinnati in his sophomore year, became one of the Marine Corps' youngest drill instructors and won an enlisted man's appointment to Annapolis.

But the entrance requirements were rougher than those for little theater groups—so Hugh became an actor instead.

"Punch," the English humor magazine, was not at first a success when it began publishing in 1841. But Mark Lemon, its editor, kept it alive with the rich royalties from several hit plays he had written for the London stage.

Only Art Authorities Can Tell If Old Painting Is Masterpiece

NEW YORK (AP)—A young actor, stranded by plane trouble in a small Oklahoma town, wandered into an antique shop. High on the wall in a dark corner he spotted a seascape in an elaborate gold frame.

The actor, a former art student, thought he recognized the work of American artist Winslow Homer. He asked the price—$45. The actor had only $42. He persuaded the dealer to sell the painting, minus the frame, for $32.

Then he shipped his acquisition back east. There it was authenticated as a genuine Winslow Homer worth $4,000 to $5,000. Experts on Homer, who died in 1910, had not been aware of the painting's existence.

This doesn't happen only to lucky amateurs. Three years ago the Detroit Institute of Arts sent a 15th century Flemish painting to New York for cleaning. The restorer found a major portion of the picture had been crudely painted over.

The picture underneath was identified as a masterpiece by Jan Van Eyck. The institute had paid $18,000 for the original work, supposedly by Petrus Christus. It insured the restored painting, "St. Jerome in His Study," for $150,000.

Incidents like these help build an American dream—finding an art masterpiece while cleaning the attic or browsing in the neighborhood second-hand store.

Newspapers recently headlined the discovery in California of 10 paintings described as Italian Renaissance masterpieces, reportedly worth 10 to 12 million dollars.

Leading art authorities quickly expressed skepticism. Suspicion was spurred by announcement that it had taken only three months to restore the paintings. (William Suhr, noted New York conservator, spent six months alone chipping off muddy paint from Detroit's Christus - turned Van Eyck.)

But such tests usually establish only what a painting is not—ferreting out discrepancies in age and paint pigments.

It is here that the connoisseur's knowledge and training cast the decisive vote.

Suhr, consultant on conservation for New York's Frick Museum, says, "After 40 years of intimate connection with the great masters, I read their handwriting in brush strokes. I see how the artist expresses his individual self in composition, color and subject matter—things that are like hidden trademarks."

Met do museums or galleries How do museums or galleries make sure they are spending their money on a genuine work?

Murray Pease heads a staff of 16 art technicians as chief conservator at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. He says, "We conduct careful chemical and laboratory tests on each work considered for acquisition. We can tell if there has been much restoration through shadowgraphs and ultraviolet light. Chemical tests are a further clue to age of paint and canvas."

Then, Metropolitan's Curator Rousseau says, "On the basis of what we know of the artist, his style, composition, brushwork, coloring, we make our decision."

Tells Carrollton Lions Of Work With Ex-Cons

CARROLLTON—Father Dismas Clark, founder of Dismas House in St. Louis, was the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Carrollton Lions Club Thursday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall with the wives of the members as guests of honor.

Father Clark was introduced to the group by Father Shae of Jerseyville and he talked and showed films concerning his work with ex-convicts at Dismas House. Father Clark stressed again and again that "Homes" are the greatest institutions for doing away with crime in our nation surpassing any other factor.

Better and larger penitentiaries are not the answer in the prevention of crime but better homes for all is the answer. He discussed the new plans which are being followed in California for convicted criminals and the results which are being shown. More schools on criminology are needed and Washington University in St. Louis is starting a school this week in which a better understanding of persons convicted of crime will be attempted.

Guy Petty, the Lions Club president, presided and announced a Moral Decency meeting to be held Feb. 19 at the Knights of Columbus hall and designated members of the Club to attend. The program opened with group singing led by Francis Geers and L. A. Hardaway.

Elevator Dinner

Lewis B. Pegg of East St. Louis will be the guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the stockholders of the Carrollton Farmer's Elevator which will be held Saturday, Feb. 20, in the gymnasium of the Carrollton Community Unit High School.

Peggs, who now is doing promotional and educational work for the National Stockyards at East St. Louis, is an expert on livestock producing and marketing. He was graduated from Purdue University in 1932 and since that time has been a livestock buyer, consultant ,public relations director and marketing specialist.

He was awarded a 25 year service emblem by the American Meat Institute in 1957. He recently spent 20 months in Germany assisting in the establishing of a livestock and meat packing industry in that country.

In addition to the program there will be a business meeting at which the board of directors will be elected.

GREENE LEGION TAKES ORDERS FOR NEW FLAGS

WHITE HALL—Robert H. Cunningham, adjutant of the local American Legion Post No. 70, has announced orders are being taken by members of the Post for the new 50 star United States flags. Mr. Cunningham has suggested that orders be placed as promptly as possible to avoid disappointment.

Paul E. Raabe son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Raabe of Hillview, has recently been promoted to the rank of captain in the U. S. Air Force. He has completed three years of overseas duty in Japan and is now personnel officer at Sheppherd Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Paul E. McPherson, storekeeper seaman USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman E. Silkwood of this city, is now serving aboard the Navy Supply Ship, USS Alstede, operating with the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Sweetheart Ball King, Queen

Bob Hammitt and Beth Priest

PITTSFIELD—One of the outstanding events of the high school year is the "Sweetheart Ball" given each year near Valentine's day. The Ball this year was given Friday night, Feb. 12, in the high school gymnasium, sponsored by the Future Homemakers of America and the Future Farmers of America. Dancing was from 8:30 to 11:30 with Virgil Bowen's orchestra from White Hall playing. Over 200 students attended.

The gymnasium was beautifully decorated in Valentine motif with red and white. The setting for the crowning of the King and Queen was a huge red heart with white lace edge for the background, with two large silver cupids shooting their arrows at the heart. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the King and Queen.

The Queen is chosen from the Senior F.H.A. members and the King from the senior F.F.A. Beth Priest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Priest, was chosen Queen and Bob Hammitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hammitt was chosen King. The attendants were seniors—Barbara Allen and John Shue; juniors—Janet McMakin and Kent Curless; sophomores—Judy Hammitt and Ray Scott, and freshmen—Libby Brummell and Danny Hayden.

Refreshments were served by F. H. A. Mothers Mrs. Roswell Kelly, Mrs. Dick Springer and Mrs. Eva Foster.

Personal

Mrs. M. D. King and Mrs. Rosebelle King Smith were in Greencastle, Ind., Sunday, Feb. 14, attending a shower for Mrs. King's daughter, Miss Sarah King, at her sorority house, The Delta Gamma House, at 4 p.m. Miss King is being married in Greencastle on Saturday, Feb. 20, at Mr. Frederic Kautz of Moline. Both are students at DePauw University.

Mrs. Wm. Morris Feted At Pink. Blue Shower

CHAPIN — Miss Pauline Hart, Mrs. Wilma Anderson, Mrs. Helen Stocker and Mrs. Betty Ballard entertained Monday at a pink and blue shower in honor of Mrs. William Morris. Several games were played with prizes going to Mrs. Rita Austiff, Mrs. Peachy Daniels, Mrs. Mildred Hamm, Mrs. Lola Hurt and Mrs. William Morris.

Mrs. Morris received many nice and useful gifts.

Those present were Mrs. Florence Morris, Mrs. Joyce Nutgrass, Mrs. Louise Hoots, Mrs. Cora Ballard, Mrs. Rita Austiff, Mrs. Donna Brogdon, Mrs. Lola Hurt, Mrs. Nettie Rigg, Mrs. Harriett Corner, Mrs. Peachy Daniels, Mrs. Mildred Ham, Mrs. Geraldine Reining, Miss Flodena Ballard, Miss Nancy Stocker, Miss Clarice Stocker, Janice and Donna Austiff, Roger Brogdon, Angelia Anderson, Linda, Virginia and Christine Ballard and the hostesses and guest of honor.

Those sending gifts but unable to attend were Mrs. Alice Jackson, Mrs. Lorieta Ballard, Mrs. Faye Robson and Mrs. Albyne Anderson.

Refreshments of cake, ice cream and mints were served.

Hays Farm Sold At Auction

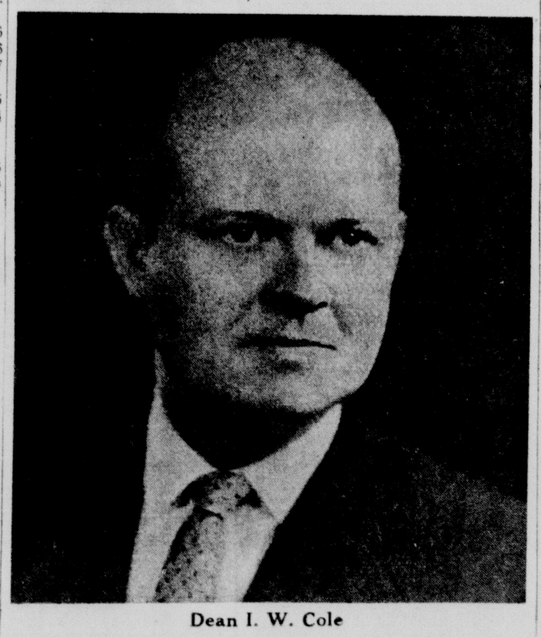

A 140 acre livestock and grain farm located seven miles south of Virginia, Ill., was sold at public auction Saturday to Merrill Mastin of route three, Jacksonville. Mastin entered the highest bid at $286 per acre.

The farm has a seven room house, barn, two implement sheds, garage, cornerib, and small cattle shed, and is equipped with electricity. It was formerly owned by Julius Hays.

Auctioneer for the sale was Charles A. Forman of Ashland.

To Address News Seminar

Dean I. W. Cole

Dean I. W. Cole of Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern University, will address 300 high school and college students at a banquet Friday evening at MacMurray College, where a newspaper conference for school journalists will be held Feb. 19 and 20.

His subject will be "Journalism—The Challenge and Opportunity."

Dean Cole was a reporter on the Champaign News-Gazette in 1942-43 and 1947-48, before receiving his B.S. in journalism at the University of Illinois in 1948, where the next year he received an M.S. degree. He was assistant director of the School of Journalism at the U. of I., 1948-56, and director of the school of journalism, Penn State University, 1956-57.

The conference starts with a series of seminars Friday for college editors only. Workshops will cover news, editorial, feature and sports writing, along with reviews, columns, and criticism, and photography. Almost all schools have been registered for the special layout, makeup and typography clinic which will run throughout both days of the conference.

High schools will register Friday afternoon and evening in time for the 7 p.m. banquet, traditionally one of the conference highlights. A mixer for all delegates will be held at 9:30 in the Hardin avenue field-house after the MacMurray-Harris Teachers College basketball game.

Saturday will find both high schools and colleges attending workshops all day.

New Science, Bionics, Probes Nature's Secrets

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NUTLEY, N.J. (AP) — A new science, bionics, is probing nature's secrets to create great new human inventions.

The bat and radar are an example.

The bat broadcasts pulses of sound waves, receiving the echo back to guide its flight. Radar broadcasts pulses of radio energy to "see" and measure distant objects.

"But we didn't learn about the bat's radar until after radar was invented," remarks Louis Derosa, vice president in charge of the Electronics Defense Laboratories at International Telephone and Telegraph Laboratories here.

Now researchers are trying to understand and apply secrets of animal or human ears, eyes, nerves, muscles, noses, and even the brain itself to develop new or improved electronic devices serving man.

A pioneer in bionics, DeRosa has already developed devices based upon the ingenious workings of human and animal ears. These devices, it can only be said, are militarily useful in gathering information, in receiving signals, and in direction finding.

The Electronics Defense Laboratories are one of several engaged in hush-hush work to detect, deceive or jam enemy radio or radar signals, and to develop countermeasures even against U.S. electronic defense devices.

This work can involve reconnaissance, "active" systems designed to trick or disable enemy radar, and "passive" methods of detecting enemy radar without the enemy's knowing they are being used.

DeRosa became interested years ago, first as a hobby, in learning how the human ear works.

One of the especially fascinating parts of the ear is the cochlea, the inner part which is only about the weight and size of a dime. But the cochlea works amazingly well, detecting and analyzing sounds over a wide frequency range.

But electronic versions can provide more compact and more accurate representations. It is first necessary to work out mathematical formula of how the cochlea works, DeRosa says.

MRS. ROWENA HARDING

ROODHOUSE—Sixteen relatives gathered at the home of Mrs. Rowena Harding recently in celebration of her 92nd birthday. The above picture was taken by the husband of her great niece, Mrs. Vincent Reagor.

Residing with the 92 year old woman is a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mary Harding. The elder Mrs. Harding's husband, L. B. Harding, died in 1956 and since that time a son, after which the widow came to Roodhouse to reside with her mother-in-law. Mrs. Rowena Harding's maiden name was Spencer.

Funeral Services For Harry Ruyle Held Wednesday

ROODHOUSE—Funeral services for Harry Ruyle were conducted Wednesday afternoon at the Roodhouse Methodist Church, Rev. Delmar Redmon, pastor of the church, officiated. The soloist, Mrs. W. W. Wilkinson, was accompanied by Mrs. Mae Johnessee at the organ.

Pallbearers were Lloyd Yonker, Robert Rawlins, Lloyd Coffman, Lloyd Dunavan, Walter Ricks and Frank Shuman.

Burial was in Fernwood Cemetery.

BEREA UNIT HOLDS MEET AT BECKER'S

The Berea Home Bureau Unit met at the home of Mrs. William Becker on Feb. 12. Thirteen members and one guest were present. The roll call was answered by famous sayings of Lincoln's.

Mrs. Hazel Graves of the Morgan-Scott Home Bureau gave the major lesson on "Food Prices." The minor lesson was given by Mrs. Dale Lepper on "Spot Removal." The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. William Becker, chairman.

After a recreation period, delicious refreshments were served, in keeping with the Valentine season, by the hostess.

MSU-O Places Emphasis On Learning, Ideas—They're Out To Produce Eggheads

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

ROCHESTER, Mich. (AP) — Right now Michigan State University-Oakland is just three buildings, a student body of 535 freshmen, a faculty of 25 — and a dream.

The dream is to start right from scratch and build MSU—O into one of the nation's greatest institutions of higher learning.

Even before the first classes opened last fall the goal was clear: They're out to produce eggheads. Not just from the gifted and the brilliant, but from any reasonably able youngster who is willing to work.

Tuition is $255 a year for students who live in the state and $555 for those who live outside of Michigan.

MSU—O is a sister, but no twin, of Michigan State University at East Lansing, a pioneer in developing vocational courses in agriculture, applied science and the mechanical arts. It's hard to imagine two members of the same academic family going in such opposite directions.

At MSU—O the emphasis is on learning, not training; on ideas, not techniques.

Every student must take at least half his courses in liberal arts. Required of all are stiff, one-year courses in English literature and rhetoric, history and development of Western civilization, history and philosophy of science, and a study of contemporary non-Western cultures, with emphasis on the Far East, Africa and Latin America.

There are only four fields of study: liberal arts, engineering science, business administration and teacher education. In each field the emphasis is on depth, not a vast variety of splinter courses on the same subject.

Perhaps the real key to the MSU—O plan is the freedom given the individual student.

For example, no roll call is taken in class. It is assumed the student is there to learn. If he can do it better outside class than in, the official view is "good for him."

Students are encouraged to do independent study and research, and to work together in small groups.

No other state university, and very few private schools, is so demanding of its students. There is no time for frills. Students are expected to be on the campus from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., and most have four or five hours homework each night. They are urged to work at outside jobs only on weekends.

At the end of the first quarter, just before Christmas, MSU—O officials found they had been too demanding. Forty-three per cent of the students taking calculus, chemistry and economics had flunked. There was also a high rate of failure among students taking political science and French.

"In most cases the instructors were probably at fault," says Loren Pope, assistant to the chancellor. "They were demanding too much, too soon. Perhaps it was a conscious effort to make it tough."

The students who flunked were given a chance to repeat the course and erase their failure. More than two-thirds of them did so. Next year the course in economics and political science will be moved up from the freshman to the sophomore level.

To help the subject devote full time to learning, the university has cleared away much of the nonintellectual underbrush.

Social fraternities and sororities are forbidden. There is no ROTC program. There will be no intercollegiate athletics, no required physical education.

When MSU—O opened its doors last September its approach to higher education was an untried experiment. Much still remains to be proved, but staff and students alike are delighted with the results.

Mary Stewart, 18, who hopes to become a teacher, says "I had no idea of the high caliber of work expected here. But it has been good for me. I know for the first time what a really good education can be."

"Everything here makes you want to be a better teacher," says Dr. William Klubach, an assistant professor of history.

Three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson offered President John A. Hannah of Michigan Satate their 1,600-acre estate, Meadow Brook Farm, 25 miles north of Detroit. The property included a 40-room home and baronial 125-room Meadow Brook Hall, which in 1928 cost 3½ million dollars to build and 6½ million to furnish with art treasures.

With the estate went a gift of two million dollars for construction of a classroom building and a combination laboratory and faculty office building. Oakland County, in which MSU—O is located, financed construction of a $700,000 student center.

Acquisition of additional land has made the campus into 2,100 acres of gently rolling land in the heart of a great industrial complex.

Eastern Star Meets Friday At Manchester

MANCHESTER — A meeting of Manchester Chapter 675 Order of Eastern Star was held February 5 with Mrs. Albert E. Powers, worthy matron, in the east.

The chapter was the recipient of golden anniversary song booklets donated by Mrs. Earl Clark. The booklets were made by Mrs. Clark's daughter, Miss Laura Ann Clark.

Charter members, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heaton, Mrs. J. C. Andras and Mrs. Henry Taylor were presented Valentine boxes of candy.

A Valentine box of candy was also sent to a fifty year member, Mrs. Emma Chapman.

Hostesses for the Valentine Party used the theme of hearts and flowers for their entertainment and decorations of Valentines and red roses. Refreshments of hot chocolate and pink frosted cake were served from a table covered with a pink cloth, centered with a silver candelabra holding pink candles. Pink satin streamers connected the candelabra to nosegays of flowers at the corners of the cloth.

FINES ASSESSED BY MAGISTRATE

Fines assessed by Police Magistrate Fred Daniels at a court session Saturday included Harry L. Williams, 602 North West street, $10 for failure to yield right-of-way; David A. Lawson, Springfield, $15 for driving too fast for conditions; Carl E. Stewart 725 South Diamond, $15 for failure to obtain city wheel tax sticker.

A number of fines were imposed for parking violations.

Hold Rites For Henrietta Meyer Friday Afternoon

Funeral services for Mrs. Henrietta Marie Meyer were held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Salem Lutheran Church. Rev. Herbert C. Rose officiated.

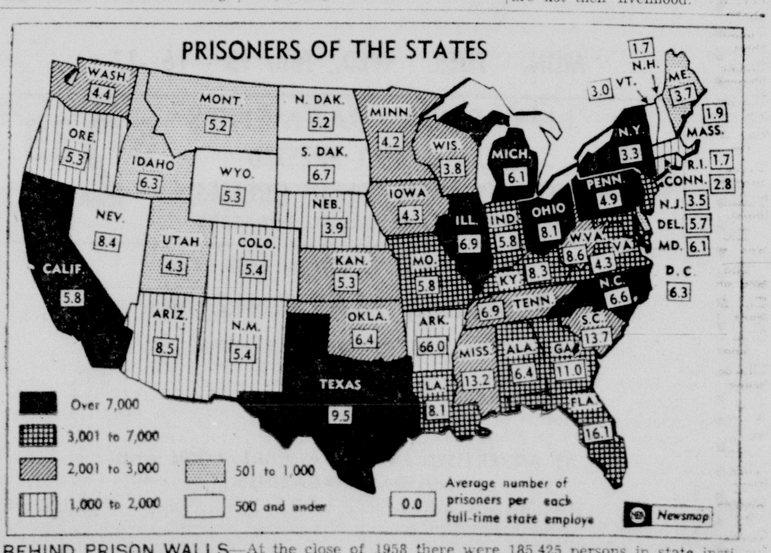

Mrs. Rhoda Schirmer, soloist, was accompanied by Roy Lovekamp at the organ. Harold Tomhave and Robert Werner were ushers.

Flowers were cared for by Gladys Tappenbeck, Lorna Harbin, Emma Ervin and Anna Large.

Burial was in Diamond Grove Cemetery.

Sheep 100; slaughter lambs 50-1.00 higher, ewes steady. Bulk good and choice 90-115 lb wooled slaughter lambs for the week 19.75-21.00. Late in the week short load good and choice 90 lbs 21.75, new high since October 1959. Utility grade sold down to 18.00 good and choice 90-110 lb No 1 pelt to fall shorn lambs 19.00-20.50, cull to choice slaughter ewes 6.00-8.00.

CHICAGO (AP) — The heavy midwestern snowstorm curtailed hog marketings sharply on two days this week and prices climbed abruptly. But most of the advance was lost as offerings increased on Friday.

At the close, however, all barrows and gilts were steady to 25 cents higher for the week while sows were up 50 to 75 cents.

The week's supply of 30,500 head here was the smallest since last September and offerings on the 12 major markets also were the smallest since then. But shipper demand slackened considerably here because of increased marketings of new crop hogs at terminals in the eastern corn belt.

Cattle offerings again were near their lowest volume since last June, mainly because of the severe snowstorm. The Friday supply included several loads that had been enroute to market from Iowa since Tuesday.

General trade on slaughter steers was at prices 25 cents to $1.00 higher. Offerings of prime grade steers were a little more liberal than during the previous week and some of these sold up to $29.25, the highest in several months.

The storm-curtailed sheep supply of 6,000 head was the smallest for any week since October and prices for slaughter lambs advanced as much as $1.00 a hundredweight.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resumed its downward course this week on the lightest trading in four months.

The small turnover continued to indicate extreme caution as to whether the next sharp move the market makes will be higher or lower.

Many investors and traders were on the sidelines, awaiting some definite sign. At the same time, a considerable number were reported seeking refuge in bonds, shorter term government paper, fixed income securities such as preferred stock and "defensive" equities, in foods, utilities and so on.

The bond market, both corporate and government, vindicated this report by advancing on the week.

The stock market, after last week's moderate technical recovery, began this week with a very sharp dip Monday, followed by a Tuesday advance which more than canceled Monday losses. Stocks slid lower Wednesday and Thursday. Friday, however, the market put on a surprising recovery in very dull Lincoln's birthday trading.

On the week, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell a moderate .90 to 216.40, once again putting the average around the level of last October's lows.

The margin of losers over gainers was not too bad, 698 to 556. But new highs were an insignificant 13 compared with 167 new lows for 1959-'60.

The total volume of 13,483,960 shares was the smallest since the week ended Oct. 17 when turnover was only 11,543,106 shares. It compared with 14,075,209 last week.

Most active issue on the New York Stock Exchange was NAFI Corp., up 10⅜ at 29⅜ on 532,400 shares. Most active on the American Stock Exchange was Silver Creek Precision, up ⅛ at 17⅜ on 166,200 shares.

France Plans Striking Force Of A-Weapons

alent of that packed in 20,000 tons of TNT, or 20 kilotrons.

Hydrogen weapons developed since by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are far more powerful. The United States has tested hydrogen explosives considered equal to 15 to 17 megatons, or 15 to 17 million tons of TNT.

The French blast was the world's first since the Big Three nuclear powers halted proving-ground experiments in the fall of 1958 in preparation for their Geneva talks on banning further tests.

Touched off atop a 300-foot steel tower at dawn, the explosion lighted the desert and paled the full moon still visible in the morning sky. A mushroom cloud soared up in a wild mixture of colors—blinding white, violet, and rose.

French officials said first indications were that there was no radioactive fallout in inhabited Sahara regions. They said weather conditions for the test were ideal — almost dead still near the earth's surface, with winds of 96 miles an hour from 10,000 feet upward for quick dispersal of high-altitude radioactivity.

Despite the French assurances, protests exploded quickly around the world. These came chiefly from Communist and neutral countries, but even American officials reacted coldly.

The Soviet Union deplored France's nuclear blast.

A statement distributed by Tass, Soviet news agency, said that "if nuclear explosions should continue, the Soviet government will, naturally, not be able to overlook it and fail to draw the proper conclusions for its own security."

The Soviet Union will continue pressing for the "early, complete cessation of all nuclear tests" and conclusion of an international agreement to that effect, the statement said.

"In this context," it added, "the action of the government of France in disregarding the views of public opinion and setting off her atom bomb today cannot but be deplored."

SNOWSTORM SHOCKS SOUTHEAST, REPORT AT LEAST 16 DEAD

Transportation slithered to a halt in Virginia where snow was the deepest in recent years. Roanoke had 13 inches and areas in the southwest mountains had 12.

In Alabama, 50 cars and trucks were struck near Decatur. More than 75 motorists took refuge in a National Guard Armory at Haleyville, Ala. Big National Guard trucks with four wheel drives were used to reach cars stuck in 7 inches of snow.

As the storm swept into Maryland, racing at Bowie was called after the fifth race. Officials said it was because a big storm two years ago trapped 1,000 fans. Charlestown, W. Va., completed its nine-race card with snow falling and flakes fluttered down as far south as New Orleans making the Fair Grounds' track muddy.

The nation's capital had 4 inches on the ground by evening and the weather bureau said 8 to 12 inches could fall by morning. Special traffic plans were put into effect and crippled traffic complicated shopping by residents already inconvenienced by a strike which has shut down all chain groceries in the city.

Several college basketball games were called off in the south and Mid-Atlantic states. Virtually the entire high school basketball program in Virginia was called off because of snow.

Hazardous driving conditions were reported all through the snow belt. Freezing rain extended as far south as the Gulf Coast City of Mobile, Ala. Light snow also powdered Atlanta.

Texas' six dead topped the state's fatalities. Virginia had 4, Tennessee 3, and North Carolina, Louisiana and Mississippi 1 each.

CIVIL RIGHTS FIGHT STARTS MONDAY

The nucleus of Johnson's support for the nomination is in the South, and of primary consequence to the other senators is the question of how far the Texan will go in supporting civil rights proposals.

Sen. Herman Talmadge (D-Ga) is reported to have sent word to Johnson already that if Johnson lends his backing to the administration's voting referee plan, he can expect to forfeit Southern support for the presidency.

The administration plan calls for the appointment of federal court referees to oversee registration, voting, and vote-counting in state and national elections in areas where systematic discrimination against Negroes is found.

Just how the civil rights issue is to be joined in the Senate never has been announced by Johnson, but he committed himself in the closing hours of the last session of Congress to letting it come up by Feb. 15.

Civil rights advocates pressed for such a commitment after being thwarted in efforts to pass a bill last year, except for a two-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission.

The expectation is that the fight will be started by the offering of civil rights measures as amendments to a minor House passed bill providing for a centennial celebration of the establishment of land-grant colleges.

This type of procedure is necessary because no civil rights bill has been passed by the House or approved by a Senate committee.

Paar said the letter from NBC was delivered to his home Friday night.

Paar did not say who signed it, but he referred frequently to Kintner. He also mentioned NBC Board Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff, and discussing the letter several times used the word "they."

Neither Kintner, Sarnoff nor any other NBC official was available to comment on exactly what the letter contained.

But the man who cut the joke out of the program said Saturday he would do it again. Ernest Lee Jahncke Jr., head of the network's newly established Department of Standards and Practices, said his decision was based solely on the question of good taste.

Paar said he and his wife, Miriam, will leave next week on a short vacation. Earlier he said he planned to go to Europe, but found he couldn't get immediate passage. There also is the problem of school for his 10-year-old daughter Randy.

Paar said he probably would meet with Kintner and Sarnoff on his return.

NBC already has announced the show will resume Monday, continuing under Paar's name with Hugh Downs, Paar's announcer, as MC. Downs, who has filled in for Paar on vacation occasionally, took over when the star took his walk Thursday night. Friday's show, as usual, was a repeat of an earlier program.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. S. J. Camm of Franklin entered Our Saviour's hospital, Tuesday, suffering with a throat infection.

Miss Maude Rees of Franklin is a patient at Passavant hospital with a broken hip received in a fall in Waverly several days ago.

Wayne McLin of Ashland suffered a fracture of his right hand in an accident at his home on Wednesday. He was taken to the Memorial hospital, Springfield, for treatment and then released. Wayne suffered the injury when he was struck by fragments from the rim of a truck wheel which shattered as he inflated the tire.

Mrs. Martha Walbaum of Ashland, who was flown to the Mayo Brothers hospital recently for observation, underwent a major operation there Wednesday morning. Her nephew of Decatur accompanied her to Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. Richard Thompson of Ashland has been admitted to St. John's hospital, Springfield, as a medical patient.

Mrs. Bessie Wynn, 615 South Kosciusko, is a medical patient at Our Saviour's hospital.

Band, Orchestra Parents Plan Meeting Tuesday

The J.H.S. Band and Orchestra Parents will hold their monthly meeting Wednesday evening, Feb. 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school band room. A brief business meeting will be held with an interesting program following.

The eighth grade String Orchestra will play selections as will the dance band from the Jacksonville High School. The string group has been chosen because of their espirit de corp and will be making their first appearance before the parents group.

The band parents recently voted to absorb the string sections into the organization. The official name of the organization is now the Band and Orchestra Parents of Jacksonville High School and Jonathan Turner Junior High School.

In addition to the music, Mr. Mann has been invited to speak to the group concerning the approaching referendum. Mr. Welch and Mr. Pierce will introduce the program and Dr. Hans Kant will preside over the business meeting.

Receives Word Of Father's Death

Mrs. Harold Seeman of Jacksonville received word that her father, Angus Newy, Mt. Pleasant, Utah, passed away suddenly Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Seeman and their three children left for Utah Saturday afternoon.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday.

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS

CHICAGO (AP)— Estimated livestock receipts for Monday are 24,000 cattle, 12,000 hogs and 4,000 sheep.

Neon first was used for an advertising sign on a theater in New York City in 1923.

Salvation Army

Fred Evans, chairman of the Winchester Salvation Army Service Unit committee, has announced the date of Feb. 15 for the Annual Fund Appeal in Scott County to support the local and state-wide program. The county quota is $340.

The local committee is composed of Fred Evans, chairman; Warren Breeding, treasurer; Mrs. Audrey Peak, Mrs. Pauline Lawless and Scott Longenbaugh.

Letters are being sent to residents appealing for donations. Please return them as promptly as possible. If you did not receive a letter you may send your donation to this very worthwhile cause to the treasurer, Warren Breeding or to the chairman, Mr. Evans.

There are few homes today which do not know at least one member who is or has been in the Armed Forces. Not only does the Salvation Army work with the active servicemen, but hundreds of hospitalized veterans are given aid each year. When or where disaster strikes the Salvation Army is ready to assist in meeting the needs of humanity.

Funeral Rites

Graveside rites for John A. Morris of Chicago, former resident of the Exeter community, were held at the Exeter cemetery at 3:00 p.m. Saturday in charge of the Woodcock Funeral Home in Winchester.

Mr. Morris passed away this past Monday in Chicago and the body was returned by train to Winchester for burial here.

Birthday Party

Michael Sauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Sauer, was feted at a birthday party held on Friday in the dining hall of the IOOF building in honor of his eighth birthday. Several games were played with prizes won. Refreshments were served and the tables decorated in keeping with the Valentine season.

Altar Society

St. Mark's Altar Society held their regular February meeting on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Ferenback with 15 members present. Miss Nell Ring, president, presided over the business session at which time further plans were formulated for the annual St. Patrick's Day Supper which will be held on March 13. This year the society will serve approximately 500 persons at four different servings. Co-chairmen of the kitchen committee are Mrs. Francis Welsh and Mrs. Harry Gidney. Dining room co-chairmen are Mrs. Dick Lashmet and Mrs. Urban Sauer.

Father O'Hara was present and discussed with the group projects he had tabled for the year. He also showed colored slides he had taken of the church and various scenes during the Christmas season.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostess assisted by Mrs. James Ego and Miss Nell Ring.

Personals

Miss Pat Flynn of Springfield and Tom Flynn are weekend visitors with their sister, Marjorie, student at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale.

Mrs. Daniel Harp and daughters, Marily and Susie, of Bloomington and Mr. and Mrs. Russel Slagle of Springfield were among those from out of town attending the funeral of Mr. Slagle's nephew, Dean Batley, held here last Wednesday.

Mrs. Melvin Dalhaus and Mrs. Harry Reuter attended the United Lutheran's Christian Women's Group meeting held in Bluffs on Thursday evening at the Wilbur Westermeyer home.

J. Ralph Peak of Winchester is a patient at Passavant Hospital in Jacksonville having undergone surgery on Saturday morning.

Several BYF members of the Baptist church enjoyed a skating party in Pittsfield this past Friday afternoon.

Mrs. William Flynn has returned home after spending the past week with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Dodge, in Ashland helping care for the new grandson.

The infant son born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Springer this past week at Passavant Hospital in Jacksonville has been named John Randall.

Mrs. Helen Thomas, Mrs. Addison Scott and Mrs. Frank Redshaw were Saturday shoppers in Springfield.

FIRE DAMAGES OLD DANIEL BOONE HOME

DEFIANCE, Mo. (AP)— Fire of undetermined origin Friday night extensively damaged the 148-year-old Daniel Boone home where the famous frontiersman spent his last days.

Firemen from five St. Charles County communities fought the blaze for nearly five hours before bringing it under control.

RELIGIOUS BROTHERHOOD

BOSTON (AP)—When the Rev. Frederick P. Walker, a Roman Catholic Maryknoll missioner, reported to a clinic here for observation, doctors sent him to the New England Baptist hospital where a Jewish doctor treated him.

She was a lifelong resident of this community, born April 18, 1884, a daughter of Bernard and Elizabeth Peek Vanvertloh. A member of St. Joseph's church, she was married there June 20, 1917, to John Tracy. He died in 1954.

Surviving are: a son, John, Jr., Mt. Sterling; a brother, Frederich Ververtloh, Mt. Sterling; three sisters, Miss Anne and Mrs. Helen Cox, Mt. Sterling, and Miss Clara of Quincy, and seven grandchildren.

Soviet Deal May Cost Cuba Part Of U.S. Sugar Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three senators said Saturday the new trade agreement between Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro and the Soviet Union may cost Cuba part of its U. S. market for sugar.

Under the trade deal disclosed Saturday in Havana, Cuba will sell the Soviet Union five million tons of sugar over the next five years in exchange for farm and industrial machinery.

The Soviet Union also promised Cuba a 100-million-dollar credit, repayable over 12 years, at 2½ per cent.

The agreement came as Congress is preparing to consider a revision or extension of the U. S. Sugar Act. The act provides that Cuba can sell approximately three million tons of sugar in the U. S. market yearly at prices which generally run almost three cents a pound above the world level.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla), a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said it may be that Castro "will create a situation that will show he doesn't merit continuation of our preferential treatment."

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt), another member of the Agriculture Committee, said that if Cuba can market enough of its sugar elsewhere, it may be possible for the United States to expand its own sugar production and to increase the import quotas assigned to other Latin-American nations.

Views similar to Aiken's were expressed by Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant Democratic Senate leader.

Mrs. James Major was the pianist. The flowers were cared for by Mrs. Clyde Buchanan, Mrs. Minnie Lefever, Mrs. Lena Boyd, and Mrs. Charles Schmitt. Pallbearers were Robert Alhorn, John Peters, Robert Jenkins, Gail Staake, Leland McAllister and Billy Joe Schmitt.

Burial was in Oakland cemetery.

RECEIVES WORD OF RELATIVE'S DEATH

MANCHESTER — Mrs. George Mason received word of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Liza Sooy, Saturday morning. Mrs. Sooy died at her residence in Carlinville. Funeral services will be held at the Carlinville Baptist Church at 2 p.m. Monday.

DALY SUES COMMENTATOR

CHICAGO (AP) — Lar Daly, Chicago bar furniture salesman, asked 2½ million dollars Saturday in a Circuit Court suit for damages against Irving Kupcinet, a columnist and television commentator, and the Columbia Broadcasting Co.

Daly asserts he was libeled by Kupcinet in a telecast Feb. 15, 1959 when Daley was a candidate for the Chicago mayoral nomination, and that remarks on the air hurt Daly's chances in the primaries.

Interpreting The News

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle is expected to follow up France's emergence as a nuclear power with an insistent new bid for sharing U.S. atomic weapons and know-how.

The prospect is embarrassing to Eisenhower administration leaders. They fear new friction with De Gaulle inside the North Atlantic alliance.

This is one reason the government reacted with such obvious coolness to the Paris announcement of an achievement which would ordinarily have been expected to draw congratulations from an ally.

President Eisenhower was informed of the shot, but the White House said there would be no comment. The State Department said only that the French feat was no surprise.

Washington leaders were keenly aware that the French test explosion instantly drew condemnation and protest from countries in Africa and elsewhere, including Japan. The administration evidently was concerned that these countries would resent a congratulatory message to Paris.

On the other hand, officials were equally aware that the State Department comment risks incurring resentment of the French. They have put long years and much money into the effort to detonate the device they hoped would win new prestige for France as the world's fourth nuclear power.

The U.S. law governing international atomic relations, last amended in 1958, permits exchanges of atomic secrets with Britain but not with any other country. Such exchanges are limited to friendly countries well advanced in the arts of nuclear weapons manufacture.

One shot like that in the Sahara at dawn Saturday falls far short of making France a nuclear power within the meaning of this law.

But the real problem, as officials privately concede, is not the rate of France's progress in this enormously costly atomic arms race as it is the record of political instability in France over the 15 years since World War II ended.

De Gaulle's unswerving drive to win new prestige and power for France, of which the nuclear explosion is a spectacular symbol, is certain to make itself felt in the whole range of East-West negotiations now underway or in prospect.

De Gaulle, it now appears, will go into the May 16 summit meeting in Paris in a stronger position than French leaders have held in international negotiations for the past 15 years.

FAN BREEZES

BY STAN SPOTTS
Journal Courier Sports Editor

"My kids have done a whale of a job this season and even if they don't win the first game of the regional I'm going to tell them so," said Ray Page, coach of Springfield High. "When you lose three players like Cole, Mathis and Shauger off the state championship team and then bounce back the following season to win 19 in 24 starts, then all you can say is that the boys have done one helluva job," the Solon mentor continued.

— S —

When asked what happened at Danville in Thursday's 74-64 loss, Page replied, "They just outran us." Bill Shouse will be pleased to know that Page has labeled Danville a strong contender for state honors. Danville's record is 13-6 for the year but when you look at the losses, and all of which have been close, you begin to realize that Page didn't mind the loss very much. Collinsville beat Danville by three points; Decatur beat them by five points on the Reds' home court; Kankakee, the fifth ranked team slipped by them by 39-38; Lincoln, always tough at home, beat them on the home court and Champaign got them in a freak win when Danville scored only one point in the fourth quarter while Champaign mustered 19 tallies in the same period.

"I don't know how far the kids will get once the elimination series begins but when you consider that we'll have the nucleus of our team back next year—four of our first seven are juniors——all you can say is that the team has come through, and brother, that is a pretty tough conference we operate in," Page concluded. Although he wasn't selling his team short, Ray left the impression that his Solons wouldn't repeat as State Champs.

— S —

The Virden Bulldogs, 23-1 for the season, are paired against Feitshans in the Springfield Regional and Page felt this would be Virden's last game of the season. If Feitshans triumphs, who is impressed with Virden's record after the game? This boils down to one thing, why does the IHSA insist on one classification for all schools. Why don't they set up a plan fair to all the schools, depending on the enrollment and have playoffs for state crowns in Class AA, Class A and Class B competition. The little fellow has a lot to say in our democracy but very seldom does he become president. The same applies in basketball and very few ever bring home the state championship.

— S —

A large majority of fans are starting to think about Regional tourneys, especially Jacksonville High's in which New Berlin, Routt, JHS, Winchester, ISD, Virginia, Franklin and Waverly are entered. Page didn't know that Winchester and Virginia also came here after inquiring as to whether New Berlin was the favored team. His first reply was, "Virginia beat Beardstown badly, then how in the world did Beardstown beat Feitshans?" When told that the Tigers possess a jinx over the Flyers when it comes to the gridiron or hardcourt, Page and I agreed that this game of basketball can be as daffy as two men standing on second base.

— S —

Before Page departed, he said JHS was a very hard team to scout. The Senator skipper said he wasn't being critical or knocking anyone but that the Crimson passing kept him off balance and it was very hard to determine just what kind of patterns they use. He said this cycle-thing was bound to catch up with Chapman as he's had some outstanding teams. But he couldn't understand why any boy having basketball experience should try to throw the ball through their opponent's mid section. This is one thing a coach can't give a boy —judgement.

Blueboys Give Good Account Of Themselves In 86 - 74 Triumph

The Illinois College Blueboys played one of their finest games of the season last night in defeating a highly touted Concordia of St. Louis quintet, 86-74. IC was never better as they overcame the red hot shooting of the preachers in the first half and displayed a "net scorching" attack of their own in the final stanza.

The Preachers started off as if to run the Blueboys out of the gym as they poured through 5 straight field goals, missed one, and made four more in a row. Larry Brown carried the IC attack with 8 of the first 12 points to keep within striking distance. Brownie probably played one of the finest games of his career as he sank 11 of 16 attempts from the field and 3 of 3 free throws. All eleven field goals were from 15 to 25 feet away and usually came when the Blueboys needed a basket most.

Concordia was notably minus their top-flight, high scoring ace, Tom Faszholz, who injured a knee last night against Carthage. Faszholz played periodically but had a very bad limp and was almost ineffective.

Brown and Big Bill Schildman completely dominated the scoring for IC the first half as Brown got 10 and Schildman 12, for 22 of the Blueboys' 33 points in the initial stanza.

The Preachers sank 18 of 34 attempts the first half for a fine 52% while the Blueboys were collecting 13 of 32 for 40%. Illinois College was not to be outdone, however, and ripped the nets at a 57% clip in the final period in sinking 20 of 35.

The victory was a team credit all the way with several coming in for special mention. Bill Schildman did a real fine job as he scored 29 points while displaying a variety of shots. He made hooks, 15 foot jump shots, and several tip-ins. Brown was his able assistant in the front court in gathering his 25 counters.

The bench should also receive its share of credit as Wallace, Dawdy and Linxwiler "spelled" the five starters and played key roles throughout. Johnson, Ransom and Scott played their usual fine all around games.

The Blueboys' next game is Tuesday night at Carthage, and they will be out to avenge an earlier defeat at the hands of the Redmen.

Ohio State Dumps Hawkeyes, 75-47

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—All-America candidate Jerry Lucas scored 28 points Saturday night to pace Ohio State to its ninth straight Big Ten conference victory, a 75-47 romp over Iowa.

The fourth-ranked Buckeyes, overcoming a sluggish first half, edged closer to their first conference crown since 1950.

Iowa, which suffered its fourth straight setback, now stands 4-5 in the loop and 12-7 overall. The win was Ohio's 10th in a row and boosted the Bucks to a 17-2 season mark.

Lucas netted 18 of his tallies in a slow first half which saw the Buckeyes emerge with a 30-25 halftime advantage.

Iowa stayed within reach until Don Nelson fouled out with a few minutes gone in the second half. The Bucks then turned the game into a rout jumping from a 45-35 lead to a 58-38 spread in the space of six minutes.

COACHING ADDITIONS

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs Saturday announced the addition of Ray Blades and Thomas Kain to their scouting staff for the coming season.

Blades, a former Cub coach and manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, will do special assignment work and will cover the major league teams in Florida during spring training.

Saukees Triumph Over Central

PITTSFIELD — The Saukees won their fifth conference victory of the season Saturday night as they took the first place berth in the Midwest Conference, with a win over Central's Panthers. The Pittsfield team has only one blemish on their conference record for the year and this was the Panthers' second, with four wins in conference play.

With Ernie Patton and Gary Curtis setting the pace, the Saukees came from behind a 1 point deficit in th second quarter to take the lead and hold onto it for the rest of the game. Patton and Curtis both got 18 tallies, the high of the game. Cantwell and Saxbury played good ball as they racked up 10 and 12 points respectively to back the leading scorers.

The big man for the Panthers was Bill Knight who made 10 points for the evening, with fine play coming from Meyers and Cox. Despite the Panthers' fine efforts, they were not strong enough to overcome the margin set by the Saukees in the second quarter, and were handed the loss, their ninth of the season over 12 wins.

In season play the winning Pittsfield five now stand at 19 wins and 2 defeats.

Tech Crushes Southern, 66-53

ATLANTA (AP) — Roger Kaiser, Georgia Tech's jumpshot artist, fired 37 points Saturday night in a brilliant display of basketball shooting accuracy and led sixth-ranked Tech to a 66-53 victory over Georgia Southern.

The non-conference victory gave Tech a 19-3 season record.

Kaiser's deadly aim produced 21 points in the first half — more than the entire Georgia Southern team could achieve. Tech led at intermission 30-19.

During the first 20 minutes Kaiser made 9 of 15 field goals attempted, compared with only 3 of 19 tried by his cold shooting teammates.

Kaiser took 25 shots from ranges out to 40 feet and bagged 16 field goals. He also made 5-of-5 free throws in compiling the highest point total by a Southeastern Conference player this season.

Prentice And Crocker Tied For Women's Lead

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Jo Ann Prentice and Fay Crocker tied for the lead Saturday as wind and a wet course sent scores soaring in the seventh annual St. Petersburg Women's Open golf championship.

Miss Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., carded a 76 for total 214 in the third round at the Sunset Country Club course.

Miss Crocker, of Montevideo, Uruguay, moving up steadily since the $7,500 tournament got under way Monday, carded a 36-38 Saturday after a first round score of 71 and a second day 69.

FOURSOME CHAMPS

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A foul weather finish brought William G. Hundman 3rd of Philadelphia and Anne Quast of Seattle, Wash., a 4-and-3 victory over Bob Gardner of New York City and Pat Tiernan of Manhasset, N.Y. in the 2th annual National Amateur Mixed Foursomes Golf Tournament.

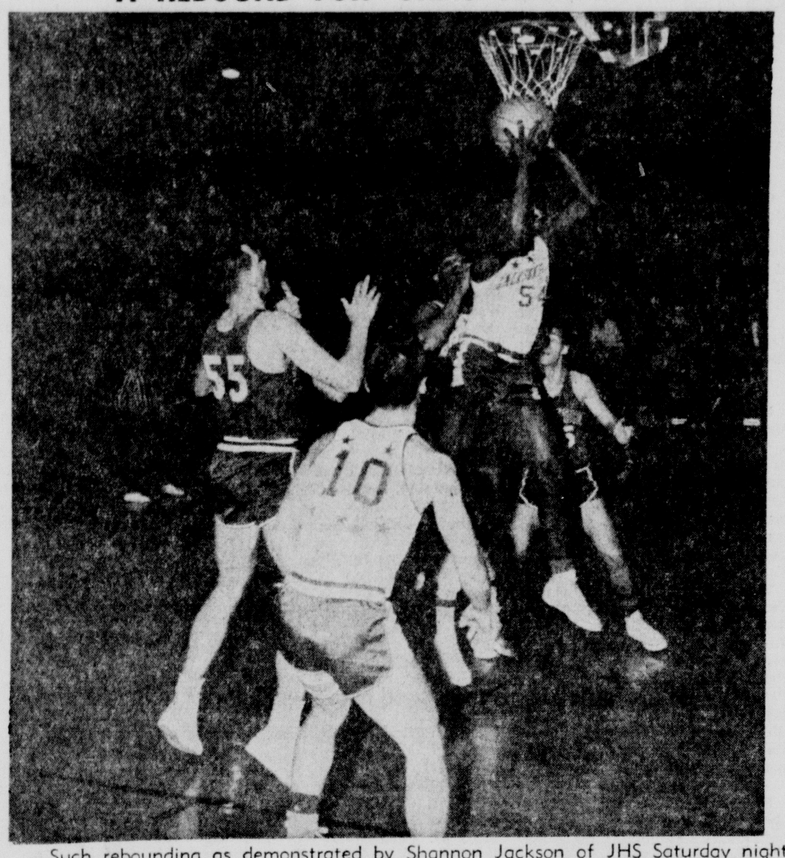

The first 27 holes were played in winds of about 35 m.p.h. in gusts. A squall struck at the 27th hole bringing rain that held up play for 15 minutes and continued the rest of the way.

A REBOUND FOR 'SHAG JACKSON'

Such rebounding as demonstrated by Shannon Jackson of JHS Saturday night kept the Crimsons in contention with Springfield High's Senators but Jacksonville couldn't cope with the Solons' 21 of 22 free throws in the final quarter and the 68-56 loss was the 15th for JHS. Others looking on are Gary Spangenberg (10) of JHS and Bob Plohr (55) of Springfield.

District Wrestling Title To Crimsons

SPRINGFIELD — Coach Tom Carmody's Jacksonville High aggregation ousted nine other contenders here Saturday in the IHSA District Wrestling Tournament. The Crimsons registered 95 points and qualified 10 of their 12 entries for the sectional meet at Granite City next Saturday.

Gophers Topple Spartans, 82-73

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota, braced by Ron Johnson's 30 points, fought off its chronic late-game shakes Saturday night and whipped Michigan State 82-73 in a bone-rattling Big Ten basketball battle.

The Gophers saw a 17-point lead nearly vanish in a blizzard of Spartan break-aways and Minnesota blunders before the scales swung back in the final three minutes.

Driving Dave Scott moved Michigan State to within three points at 70-67 with 3½ minutes left, but a flurry of free throws and a couple of vital field goals by Johnson and Dick Erickson nailed down Minnesota's sixth victory in 10 Big Ten games.

Collins, Venturi Share 3rd Round Lead At Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Will Collins of Crystal River, Fla., and shared the third round lead Saturday in the $22,500 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

Collins, six strokes off the pace after 36 holes, fired a brilliant seven-under-par 64 — just one stroke shy of the tournament record.

Venturi survived his second day of tree trouble on the back nine to bring in a five-under 66.

That gave each a 54-hole total of 204 — nine strokes under par.

Bagdad Captures $57,500 Handicap

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Bill Shoemaker gave Howard B. Keck's Bagdad a great ride Saturday in capturing the $57,500 San Antonio Handicap.

Bagdad outraced the favored First Landing in an exciting stretch duel at Santa Anita and Shoemaker had his colt well placed for the drive to the wire.

First Landing had to make up ground on the far turn and wasn't equal to catching the fast-flying Bagdad.

The net to the winner was $34,000. Bagdad now has won $69,400 this year in three starts.

The Irish-bred Promulgation, showing a great burst of speed was the pacemaker all the way to the far turn. But at that point, Shoemaker made his move. Applying the pressure, he shot Bagdad into a quick lead and the 4-year-old son of Double Jay really went to it.

Eddie Arcaro, on First Landing, went to the whip and brought his horse up for the challenge. It was a two-horse sprint to the wire, but there wasn't much doubt of the outcome in the last sixteenth, for First Landing couldn't cut into Bagdad's two and one-quarter margin at the finish.

Lincoln Halts MacMurray, 83-68

The MacMurray College Highlanders dropped an 83-68 tilt to the fast and accurate Tigers from Lincoln University of Jefferson City, Mo., last night on the home court.

Gary Little of the Highlanders dumped in nine points in the first five minutes of play enabling MacMurray to keep in the game until midway in the half when the superior rebounding and deadly shooting of the Tigers gave them control of the game. MacMurray was cold at the rim the first half, hitting only 26% of their attempts from the field, while Lincoln, led by Chester Moran and Bill Thomas, sang 45%. Lincoln led at halftime, 42-31.

Lincoln increased its lead in the second period to 56-39 with 13 minutes remaining in the game when Don McCarty, playing the post, led a Highlander rally which cut the Tigers' lead to 10 points, 60-50. Lincoln again pulled away, however, and went on to win by 15, 68-83. Norm Stikes was the big man for the Tigers in the second half with 16 tallies in the stanza.

High scorer for the game was Chester Moran with 25 points, and he was followed by Little of MacMurray with 24. Norm Stikes sank 23 for the Tigers. Both teams were hot at the charity line, with Lincoln hitting 88% of their attempts, and MacMurray sinking 80%. MacMurray hit 31% of their field attempts for the game, while Lincoln counted 42% of their tries.

MacMurray has now won 12 games, and lost six, and Lincoln has a 10 win seven lost record. The Highlanders now take to the road next Tuesday to meet Millikin University before returning home Feb. 19 to take on Harris Teachers College of St. Louis.

Lousiana Bows To Wolves, 78-62

PLEASANT HILL — The host Wolves handed the Louisiana Bulldogs loss number 13 Saturday night as Pleasant Hill took the contest 78-62. With the victory the Wolves collected their 8th win of the season over 11 dark spots.

Jerry Zumwalt led the Wolves offensive drive with 27 points as he collected the high point berth for the game. Gary Watts was close behind offering his suport of 21 points to the Wolves winning cause.

Two Bulldog players tied for high honors on the Louisiana five as Morris Patrick and Gerald Beer each managed to put 18 points in the scorebook.

With the Pleasant Hill offense getting off to a good start, the Wolves took the lead early in the game and led at the end of the first quarter by 4 points, 11-7. In the following quarter they continued to add up the buckets and at the midway point of the game the score stood 43-22, still in favor of the Wolves.

The last half was much the same as the first with Pleasant Hill slowly pulling ahead, until at the end of the third quarter they led 57-38, and continued on until the end of the game when they handed Louisiana a 78-62 defeat.

YEAR OF MOUSE
BAD ONE FOR RATS

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's Oriental calendar Year of the Mouse may be a bad one for rats. The Tokyo Health Bureau has made Feb. 29-March 5 Rat Extermination Week, hoping to wipe out many of the estimated 27 million rodents that gnaw away about $25 worth of goods yearly per head. Ratcatchers will be given tickets in a lottery offering prizes such as electric stoves and blankets.

Senators Sink 21 Of 22 FT's In Final Canto To Beat Crimsons, 68-56

By STAN SPOTTS

Jacksonville High brilliantly checked Springfield to only six field goals in the second half but the Senators sank 21 of 22 charity awards in their 27-point fourth quarter to gain a 68-56 victory over the Jacks at the Bowl Saturday night.

The Crimsons were in the game right up to the final eight minutes of the game but Coach Ray Page's Solons started the final stanza by hitting eight straight points, six of which were free throws, to break the game wide open. This came about when JHS failed to score in the opening two minutes.

The game produced a total of 49 fouls, which turned the annual get together into a charity affair rather than a game of marksmanship from the floor. The foul route also took its toll on the players—Springfield lost three and Jacksonville two on personal fouls. The Solons hit 30 of 37 charity awards, 23 of 27 which were produced in the second half. Jacksonville made 24 of 38 attempts, 13 of 23 coming in the final two quarters.

Senators Grab Lead

Springfield controlled the lead for the remainder of the contest after Lee Pelham put them in front, 2-0, with 7:13 remaining in the first period. The Solons grabbed a six point lead, 9-3, with 3:03 left but Jacksonville sliced the deficit to three points twice, 9-6, and 11-8, before Plohr put the leaders on top by five, 14-9, as the quarter ended.

In the second canto, Springfield applied a full court press and this enabled JHS to narrow the margin to two points with three minutes to play on Sweeney's bucket, 21-19. Sweeney collected all of his eight points in the second quarter and this kept JHS in the game. Coach John Chapman's five experienced difficulty in getting their shots away against Springfield's man to man type deefnse in the first canto but the press was made to order for the Jacks. The Senators controlled the boards in the first half, 15-11, and the four rebounds was enough to give the winners an eight point advantage at halftime, 33-25.

Crimsons Threaten

The third quarter belonged to JHS after they overcame a nine point deficit, 36-27 with 6:29 left in the quarter. JHS outscored Springfield, 14-8, but could never overtake the lead or tie it up after coming within one point twice of the Senators, 37-36, and 39-38.

Springfield had to rest Lynn Neff and Lee Pelham most of the third stanza and this may have slowed their attack. Nevertheless, JHS made a bid for top honors and couldn't be denied in the role of underdogs. The Crimsons lost Ken Norton with three minutes left and their rebounding began to suffer.

But with 30 seconds to play, guard Tom Christison made a driving layup to narrow the count to 39-38. Center Bob Plohr then connected with 17 seconds to play to keep the Senators out in front after Gary Spangenberg's free throw with six seconds to go narrowed the margin to 41-39 after three periods.

Springfield then hit eight straight points in two minutes while JHS went scoreless to notch their 19th win against four defeats. The loss was JHS' 15th in 17 starts.

Bob Plohr's 18 points led Springfield scoring while Ken Norton and Gary Spangenberg had 13 and 12 for the losers.

Tigers Smother Missouri Deaf

The ISD Tigers won an easy victory Saturday night as they downed Missouri School for the Deaf by a comfortable 33 point margin, 72-39.

With the start of the opening quarter the Tigers took control of the tip, but lost the ball moving under the basket. Missouri broke the ice first on a 30 foot jump shot and took the lead, 2-0. This was the only time in the contest that the Eagles enjoyed the lead, as the Tigers took over after three minutes had elapsed and began to open up the lead. With 4 minutes left in the first stanza the visiting Eagles found themselves down, 12-7, and called for a time-out to think things out. In the remaining minutes of the quarter ISD stayed hot from the field and ran the score up to 23-12 at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter the Eagles were held to 10 points as ISD added 21 tallies and led the game at the half 44-23.

In the opening quarter of the second half the Tigers put in second string men, and they set the scoreboard reading at 54-28 as the end of the third quarter rolled around.

The final quarter was handled by the second string until the last minute, when the regular starting five was brought back. The Eagle five were still cold and offered no threat as ISD racked up the victory to give them a 13-7 standing for the season.

The high man of the contest was Louis Edwards who added 19 points to the Tiger list, with A. C. Parish and Rich Grob backing up play with 12 and 11 points respectively. The other two members of the starting five played fine control ball for the Tigers although they did not hit high figures in the scoring column.

None of the Eagles made double figures, but Manion and Kistner each sank 8 points for the losing Missouri five, to pace the team.

Triopia Defeats Franklin, 63-50

TRIOPIA—The Trojans outplayed Franklin Saturday night to take victory number 17 for the season and at the same time handing the Flashes loss number 11.

As Alvin Werries led the way with 23 points via 10 field shots and 3 charity tosses, the Trojans proceeded to take the lead in the first half of play as they led midway by 6 points, 33-27. In the final half of the contest 30 more tallies were added by the Trojans to put the score by the end of the game at 63-50 favoring the Triopia five.

Close behind Werries was Anderson of the Trojans, fighting for the high point man slot, but could not edge Werries out as he went on to take honors. Anderson collected 20 points for his efforts.

The big gun for the Flashes was Rawlings who managed to rack up 16 markers for the evening with Francis backing him up with 14.

Illinois Uses Pair Of Overtimes To Beat Purdue, 93-89

Mighty Galesburg Upset By Canton

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Mighty Galesburg was upset by Canton Friday in the tightening Illinois high school basketball race downstate.

The second loss in a season of 16 relatively easy successes came in a 70-69 battle with Canton on the Galesburg floor.

An earlier encounter at Canton produced an easy 82-63 win for the Silver Streaks, ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll. Canton has had an up and down career, losing more than a half dozen games.

Also suffering upsets were Rock Island at Davenport, Iowa, 59-58 and Waukegan with Niles 54-52. It was the third loss for the Rocks and the fifth for Waukegan.

Rock Island beat Davenport once 62-51 and Waukegan slapped down Niles 53-42 in a first meeting.

Another upset suffered by a ranked team was Springfield's Thursday downfall at Danville 74-64, the fourth Senator loss in 22 games.

Collinsville, Ottawa and Pinckneyville — all top-ranked teams beaten only once—came through with flying colors. Collinsville won its 20th, 57-51 over Alton, and Ottawa its 22nd, 74-49 over Geneseo.

Pinckneyville's defeat of Sparta 76-52 had a special flavor. The Pincks avenged their single loss, taken at Sparta's hands, and put in the first stitch of two needed to sew up the southwest Egyptian Conference flag for the second year in a row. Anna-Jonesboro is the Saturday Pinck foe.

Vengeance also came to Bridgeport, 75-51 winner over Flora, the only team to mar the Bulldogs' record. Bridgeport returns to North Egypt play next Friday against Carmi. A first conference title in 32 years is assured to the Bulldogs but they seek to take it undefeated in loop games.

East Proviso, Danville Schlarman, Decatur and Kankakee—all beaten twice—came through again. Proviso stopped New Trier 59-54, Schlarman tagged Bradley 66-46, and Decatur whipped Mattoon 57-49 in a Thursday game, Kankakee topped Bloom of Chicago Heights 57-48.

In the Peoria area, Richwoods sped by Woodruff 68-56 while Manual went into an overtime to edge Spalding 72-68 and pay back an earlier defeat. Both Richwoods and Manual hold state ratings and Manual is inching closer to cinching a share of the Mid-State Eight title.

La Salle-Peru won 69-57 over East Aurora and Litchfield defended its first place post in the Mid-State Conference against Shelbyville, loser 73-49.

Erie, rated as a strong underdog Northwestern contender, came through again 76-49 over Milledgeville. Moline stopped East Moline 63-57.

West Frankfort's South Seven leaders won 65-54 over Marion while second-place Herrin set back Mount Vernon again 74-58.

Once-beaten Grayville won over Edwards County 96-65. Metropolis, beaten twice, stampeded Shawnee 74-38.

One outstanding individual performer was Rich Falk, scoring 57 points for Galva in its 111-86 win over Toulon.

Russia Favored In 13 Of The 27 Championships

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Russia's mighty Winter Olympics team, talent-rich in speed skating and the Nordic skiing events, was favored Saturday to capture 13 of the 27 championships in the eighth games starting Thursday.

In addition, the men and women from the land of the Hammer and Sickle were expected to collect a flock of silver and bronze medals to go with the gold.

Carol Heiss, three-time world figure skating queen from New York, and Penny Pitou and Betsy Snite, the alpine ski beauts from New England, each figured to bring home a gold medal.

The other 10 championships may be divided in the following manner:

Sweden, Canada, Austria, and Switzerland two each, and Finland and Norway one apiece.

In their first appearance in the Winter Games four years ago, the Russians won six gold medals and piled up a winning 121 points in the official team scoring at Cortina D'Ampezzo, Italy. Olympic officials count only individual performances and frown on team scoring.

Speed skating is the Soviet's pet field. The Russians won three of the four men's events in 1956 and have a horde of world record-breakers all set to snatch four this time. And they practically have no competition in women's speed skating.

Baxter Mile To Jim Beatty

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Beatty, an outsider who almost was pushed into another event, hit the tape a shade in front of Dyrol Burleson of the University of Oregon Saturday night and won the Baxter Mile in 4:05.4 in the New York Athletic Club Games.

Beatty, former North Carolina University ace, shared honors with Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan who won both the 60-yard dash and 60-yard high hurdles — the second time in two nights he accomplished the feat.

Beatty almost was tossed into the two-mile because he wasn't considered a threat in the mile. But he held himself in check until he was two laps from the finish. Then he pulled ahead of Burleson and they fought shoulder-to-shoulder right up to the tape.

Beatty got a couple of feet ahead at the final turn, but Burleson, one of America's top hopes for the Olympic 1,500 meters, began to cut the margin in the stretch.

They hit the tape almost abreast. Ed Moran of the New York A.C. was third. Vic Reeve, a teammate of Burleson's, was fourth and Archie San Romani, University of Wichita freshman, last.

Beatty, who is 25, is only 5-6. This was his best mile ever, and it broke the meet record of 4:06.2 set by Fred Dwyer in 1955. His previous best was 4:06.5 when he was at North Carolina.

San Romani was in front at the start but his quarter-mile clocking was a mere 65.5. Then Moran decided to take over, and he hit the half in 2:04.1 and the three-quarters in 3:06. Meanwhile, Beatty and Burleson were back in the pack. Then, with two laps to go Beatty went out, followed by Burleson. From then on it was a two-man race.

College Briefs

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — Monmouth College rolled up a 16-point halftime lead and then coasted to an 88-75 victory over Ripon Saturday night in a Midwest Conference basketball game.

Monmouth held a 46-30 halftime lead and never was in difficulty. Monmouth's Clair McRoberts and Renny Greenmun of Ripon shared scoring honors with 23 points each.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana University's basketball team Saturday night thumped Wisconsin for the second time this season 91-71 and moved into a second-place tie with Illinois in the Big Ten race.

It was a contest for about nine minutes. Marty Gharrity and Bob Barneson connected on Wisconsin's first two shots for a 4-0 lead.

The Hoosiers' 6-foot-10½ Walt Bellamy scored 31 points, one fewer than he got in Indiana's 97-85 victory at Wisconsin a week ago. Frank Radovich added 21.

Barneson and Gharrity were high for Wisconsin with 17 and 15, respectively.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harris Teachers of St. Louis pulled away rapidly in the second half with Rick Lessmann and Art Sidner leading the drive for an 89-68 victory over Carthage (Ill.) College Saturday night.

Lessmann hit 23 points and Sidner 22 as Harris, in front only 43-40 at halftime, scored its 14th victory in 20 games. It was the 13th defeat in 20 games for Carthage.

Dischinger Tosses In 38 Points But Illini Attack More Balanced

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — With five men hitting in double figures, Illinois Saturday overcame the 38-point scoring spree of Purdue's Terry Dischinger to defeat the Boilermakers 93-89 in double overtime.

The loss gave Purdue a 5-4 Big Ten record and knocked it from second place. Illinois took aim at second spot with a 5-3 mark.

Purdue wiped out a 35-31 halftime lag by spurting to a 62-50 edge in the opening 10 minutes of the second half. Dischinger, the Big Ten's top scorer who entered the game with a 28.1 average, hit 13 points in the surge.

Govoner Vaughn led an Illini comeback that tied the score and Illinois went ahead 77-75 on Al Gosnell's two free tosses with 1:37 to go. Jerry Berkshie's corner shot in the last seven seconds tied it 77-77 and sent the game into overtime.

Purdue hit six straight free throws, four of them by Dischinger, for an 83-79 margin, but shots by Mannie Jackson and Ed Perry locked the score 83-83 and the game went into extra time.

Illinois had four separate leads in this heat and was in front 91-89 on Lou Landt's long one with only seconds remaining. Purdue took the ball out of bounds, and Bob Orrill's throw-in went into the hands of Illinois' Lee Frandsen. Frandsen was under his own basket and tossed in the final field goal.

Dischinger, making 12 baskets in 17 shots and 14 of 15 free throws, collected 26 of his total points after intermission, including 6 free throws in the overtimes.

Dark's Lead In Players' Tourney Cut To A Stroke

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Alvin Dark's lead was reduced to one stroke in the National Baseball Players' Golf Tournament Saturday as he scrambled for a third round score of 82, giving him a 54-hole total of 225.

One stroke in back of the Philadelphia Phillies' star infielder was Jim Hearn. The former Phillies pitcher, now a free agent, fired a 79 for a three-round total of 226.

Albie Pearson of the Baltimore Orioles shot a 78, best round of the day, for a 229 total and third position.

The three will play in a foursome with Miami Marlin Manager Al Vincent in Sunday's final round on the 70-par 6,620-yard country club course at Miami Springs.

Al Lopez, Chicago White Sox manager, had an 80 for a fourth place 233. Lee Walls, Cincinnati outfielder, was tied at 235 for fifth place with John Gray of Philadelphia, former major league pitcher.

AMERIGO 1ST IN TURF CUP CLASSIC

Amerigo, bred in England and owned by Mrs. Tilyou Christopher of Miami, ran the mile and a half in 2:39 1-5 on a soft grass track and held off the fast-closing Rafty, with North Pole 2nd finishing third and Tudor Era fourth in the nine-horse field.

Winter Olympic Injury List Mounts Saturday

By ALAN CLINE

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—The 1960 winter Olympic injury list shot up Saturday and controversy broke out anew over both men's and women's downhill courses.

A Japanese skier was hurt on the men's downhill and a Norwegian jumper was put on the doubtful starting list. Several other jumpers were forced to rest because of falls Friday.

The weather was warm and clear, bringing out a huge pre-Olympic crowd that caused a mammoth traffic problem.

Skiers complained, after saying Friday that the 2-mile men's downhill course was both difficult and dangerous, that Saturday's track was too slow. Five inches of new snow fell on the upper portion Friday night.

At the women's downhill, a mile and ⅛ course on KT22 mountain, complaints came that there were too many check gates.

America's Penny Pitou and Annamarie Wasser of Switzerland said some of the 20 slow-down gates should be removed. They want more speed.

DARLING OF THE WINTER GAMES IS 'COOKIE' MATTHEWS

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Darling of the Winter Olympic Games is 11-year-old Marcelle (Cookie) Matthews, youngest, smallest and cutest athlete in the international competition.

Cookie and her partner, 20-year-old Gwyn Jones, attract quite a crowd when they take their practice turn on the outdoor skating rink. Cookie and her partner may not execute the intricate Olympic figures up to gold medal standard—but, as they say in show business, they're a tough act to follow.

SHERRY GETS AWARD

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Sherry of the Los Angeles Dodgers will receive the Babe Ruth Award as the outstanding player of the 1959 World Series when the Dodgers meet the Yankees, June 27, in a night exhibition game in Yankee Stadium.

Our Saviour's Wins District Opener, 47-19

GREENVIEW — Coach Barney Ferry's Our Saviour's five passed their first test in the Greenview grade school district Saturday by eliminating Petersburg, 47-19.

The win enabled Our Saviour's to meet Oakford Monday at 6:30 p.m.

West Virginia Triumphs, 103-57

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Fifth-ranked West Virginia streaked to its 20th basketball victory Saturday night with a 103-57 Southern Conference romp past Richmond.

All-America Jerry West contributed 28 points, though he saw only part-time action, as the Mountaineers boosted their conference record to 9-1 and climbed back into a tie with Virginia Tech for the lead.

It was the 16th consecutive triumph for West Virginia on the Richmond Arena court where it will seek its sixth straight conference championship in the title tournament beginning Feb. 25.

Lee Patrone pitched in 20 points and reserve Kenny Ward added 11 for the Mountaineers.

ONE NEVER KNOWS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — On Feb. 28, 1958, Brookmeade Stable sent a little 2-year-old colt to the post in a maiden race at Hialeah to make his first start against 13 other non-winners. The youngster was 12 to 1 and ran fourth. In 1959 the colt became the horse of the year. He was Sword Dancer.

Juan Marichal of the Springfield Giants led the Eastern League pitchers with a 2.39 earned run average in 1959. He won 18 games and lost 13.

Neale Fraser Strong Favorite In Indoor Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—Neale Fraser of Australia, the world's top-ranking amateur, is a strong favorite to win the National Indoor Tennis Championship at the Seventh Regiment Armory next weekend.

He will face a classy international field which includes most of the top 10 amateurs in the world and Davis Cup stars from seven countries. They're calling it the "Hardboard Wimbledon."

"If Neale is serving the way he did at Forest Hills last summer, nobody will come close to breaking his service, who is going to beat him?" said Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, who will be America's chief hope of keeping the title at home.

Halfback Ger Schwedes led the 1959 Syracuse University football team in scoring with 100 points. He made 16 touchdowns and four extra points.

Wildcats Coast Past Wolverines, 83-75

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Northwestern piled up a 20-point lead midway in the second half and went on to hand Michigan its eighth straight Big Ten basketball loss 83-75 in a regionally televised game Saturday.

The Wildcats, after piling up a 41-36 half time lead, spurted into a 78-58 lead with nine minutes remaining.

Michigan's Jon Tidwell, who topped both teams in scoring with 28 points, led a late surge which narrowed the margin to its final eight-point difference. Willie Jones led the Wildcats with 24 points, followed by Charles Brandt's 19.

Spectacular Pileup Involving 37 Cars Provides Race Drama

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A spectacular pileup involving 37 cars, with eight drivers sent to a hospital, provided chilling drama Saturday for 25,000 spectators at the start of the 250-mile modified Sportsman's Race on Daytona International Speedway.

The event, run for 25 of its 100 laps under a caution flag because of rain, was won by Marion Farr of Augusta, Ga., in a 1956 Ford with 1958 Lincoln engine.

The big pileup occurred on the southeast turn of the 2½-mile track as the field of 68 soup-up machines were about to enter the grandstand straightaway on the first lap.

Nobody is certain how it started, but in instants cars were rolling, tumbling and sliding over the track and down into the infield in a tremendous crash of crunching metal.

The first 20 or so cars had passed the scene and escaped unscathed. But few of the rest escaped entanglement in the pileup. The race was stopped immediately as cars were strewn over the track.

Three drivers taken to Halifax Hospital were released after treatment. Four others were held for X-rays and observation, and a fifth later was admitted for similar treatment.

The hospitalized men were Jack McLaughlin of Thorofare, N.J.; Bill Wark of Barrington, N.J.; Bill Rafter of Clarence Center, N.Y.; Will Kagle of Tampa, Fla., and Dick Freeman of Orlando, Fla.

Dr. Calvin Herron said their conditions were not critical.

1960 Cooking School Tickets Go On Sale By Mail On Monday

Twelve hundred and fifty seats for KITCHEN CLASSICS COOKING SCHOOL, sponsored by the Journal Courier, will go on sale by mail tomorrow morning to housewives of Jacksonville and community.

After one week—or beginning Monday, Feb. 22—any remaining tickets will be sold over the counter at the Journal Courier business office, 110 South West street.

The presence of a nationally known lecturer, the novelty of attending sessions in the evening, and the thrilling anticipation of the many fine gifts that will be given away make this year's cooking school, sponsored annually by the Journal Courier, a standout.

Miss Janice Plager, a skilled home economist with an excellent reputation as a lecturer, will be the cooking school hostess. She will be assisted by Miss Elizabeth Kent, also an expert at the preparation of delectable foods.

At School For Deaf

The Illinois School for the Deaf auditorium will be the scene of the cooking school. Four lectures will be presented, one each on the nights of March 1, 2, 3 and 4 — Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Each night's session will open at 7:30.

In order to assure that there will be a seat for everyone attending the school, admission will be by previously purchased tickets only. By purchasing her ticket well in advance, a housewife will be able to get to the school each evening just before 7:30 and be assured of a seat.

Tickets for each evening will cost 10 cents apiece. All money collected will be turned over to the Morgan County Crippled Children's Association. The Jacksonville Journal Courier makes no profit from the sale of cooking school tickets.

Order Tickets Early

Mail applications for tickets will be received beginning Monday morning, Feb. 15. All ticket orders will be filled by return mail. Housewives both in Jacksonville and in surrounding communities may obtain their tickets by mail.

In applying for tickets by mail, enclose in your letter 10 cents for each session you wish to attend. Be sure to designate which days you wish and give your name and address so that your tickets can be mailed to you.

With order, enclose an additional five cents to cover the costs of handling and mailing your tickets.

Address:

After one week of ticket sales by mail, all remaining tickets will be placed on sale over the counter of the Journal Courier business office, beginning at 9 a.m. Monday, Feb. 22.

The purchase of a ticket is only for a seat in the auditorium during the cooking school sessions. Anyone, whether he attends the school or not, may register for gifts in the lobby of the school auditorium before or during the sessions each evening.

An individual does not have to be present to receive a cooking school gift.

School Board Views On Election Stated By Pres. J. L. Bunch

Editor's Note:

The following statement regarding the proposition to authorize an increase in the tax rate for educational purposes, to be voted upon next Saturday, Feb. 20, 1960, was issued last week by the president of the Board of Education.

The people of a community want to provide for their children the best education possible. So a School District is formed. Its sole purpose is the education of all children within its boundaries, whether they are bright or dull, eager to learn or indifferent, whether the I.Q. is 40 or 140, whether they are exceptionally brilliant or mentally retarded, whether they have a strong body or a crippled one. The responsibility of the School District is still to afford each student an opportunity to achieve to his fullest extent.

The voters of that District elect a School Board to govern its affairs. That Board must have money to attain the educational philosophy it feels the District desires.

Now school finance presents an unusual picture. The School Board spends money it does not have but assumes it will receive from next year's taxes. That first year for the District no money was available, so it was necessary to anticipate money from next year's taxes. Therefore, Anticipation Warrants came into existence to enable that Board to borrow money with which to operate.

Let us assume you are a school board member who sees this borrowing go in five years from $87,000 to $495,000. You watch the cost of all products and services spiral upward, the cost of education going right along with that trend. You see the assessed valuation of your district rise and you realize increases in State Aid, but it is still not enough to offset the increase in your budgetary needs. So you spend many hours in taking a hard look at your budget. Where can we cut? What can we do to try to get even? You still realize that all you do is for the students in your schools. Your responsibility is primarily to them and secondly to the tax payers in your district. You are one of them and you don't like to pay higher taxes either. Yet you are in a position where you can only give your faculty token raises in pay. You want them to be happy and work diligently, yet they are professional people in every respect save financially. You are $600 below a district only 35 miles away, you are $200 to $300 below the average starting salary of graduates from your State Normal Schools and you realize you are retrograding into a position where your attempts to hire top-notch new teachers and to retain those you now employ is being made almost untenable.

Your community is educationally minded and you believe that the people want quality education for their children. What can be done other than to ask the tax payers to give you more money to do the job?

About this time along comes a complete reappraisal of real estate in your county and you have no idea what the income of the district may be because of it. You decide to postpone going to the voters until you know. But when the reappraisal is completed the assessed valuation of the school district remains the same, therefore your income for school purposes will be the same. Some property was assessed higher and some lower. School-tax-wise, you do not gain.

Again you look to other sources. What about state aid? The 1959 General Assembly comes along with an increase in state aid and you decide to wait another year on the tax rate referendum. But the total increase is not sufficient.

You have tried your best to avoid a tax rate increase but now there is nothing left to do. The referendum is set for Saturday, February 20, 1960.

This referendum is a test of where the people in our school district place their values. Do you want quality education without waste, or do you want us to cut back, to fail to go forward with the urgent needs of our day and to leave our faculty in a relatively poor status financially?

We do not believe that you want the latter. It will be up to you on the twentieth of this month.

I have tried to express to you the feelings and beliefs of your Board of Education in District 117.

Dr. James L. Bunch
President,
Board of Education

Examiner Says White Hall Plant Violates NLRA

WASHINGTON (AP)—An examiner ruled Saturday that the American Vitrified Products Co. of White Hall, Ill., had violated the National Labor Relations Act in its dealings with employes.

Vincent M. Rotolo recommended to the National Labor Relations Board that the company, which manufactures sewer pipe, be ordered to: stop discouraging membership in Local 967, United Brick and Clay Workers of America, stop refusing to bargain in good faith with the union and stop threatening plant shutdown or layoff to make employes abandon the union.

The company normally employs about 40 workers.

Edward McCarty Of Ashland Dies; Funeral Monday

Edward McCarty of Ashland passed away late Friday evening at the home of his son, Howard McCarty, at 564 North Webster in Jacksonville. He was a retired farmer.

Janet Ehlert Receives DAR Award At Winchester High

By Dorothy Sauer
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone PIoneer 2-3439)

WINCHESTER — Miss Janet Ehlert, daughter of Oscar Ehlert and the late Mrs. Ehlert, has been chosen to receive the annual DAR award by her classmates and the school faculty of the Winchester High school.

Each year a Senior class girl in high schools in all of the 50 states are chosen by the Daughters of the American Revolution to receive this coveted award. The girls are selected for their dependability, service, leadership, scholastic records and patriotism.

Janet is a member of the Winchester High School Band and her clubs include GAA, Dramatics, FHA and FTA. She has been a 4-H member for the past eight years and last year was leader of the Glasgow Homemakers Club. She is a member of the Trinity Lutheran church in Neelyville and the Walther League.

Miss Janet Ehlert

Heart Drive At Halfway Mark

With Scott county residents halfway through the drive for the Heart Fund emphasis is again being placed on the nation's number one health enemy. Albert Hainsfurther, Jr., Scott County Heart Fund chairman, tells us that the year 1960 will witness development of new life saving methods of preventing and treating heart disease and stroke according to a recent prediction by Dr. Paul Dudley White, Dean of American Cardiologists and a national honorary co-chairman of the current Heart Fund campaign. The internationally renowned Boston cardiologist listed seven areas in which new and exciting break-throughs are most likely to occur within the next ten years, as follows:

1. Medical science will be able to develop definite knowledge regarding the roles, if any, played by diet, heredity, obesity, high blood pressure, emotional stress, exercise, excessive smoking in the processes responsible for arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries). This condition sets a stage for "heart attack" and "strokes." It should be clearly established during the next decade whether and to what extent abnormal amounts of cholesterol in the blood influences development of arteriosclerosis.

2. This new knowledge may, in turn, enable physicians to tell their patients what they should do to avoid the premature onset of arterial disease now responsible for more than half of the nearly 900,000 deaths caused by heart attack and blood vessel diseases in this country each year.

3. New drugs, or combinations of existing drugs, and "relaxing" effect of other measures, preventive as well as therapeutic, that will be developed, will enable us to control high blood pressure even more effectively than at present. Also, it is likely that scientists will discover the still unknown causes of the common form of high blood pressure as accentual hypertension.

4. New and more effective drugs also are likely to be perfected to inhibit clotting in the blood vessels, with the result that more individuals may be safeguarded against heart attacks and strokes.

5. Vast strides will be made in prevention, treatment and correction of heart and circulatory disorders, primarily affecting children and young people. It is entirely possible that we shall learn how to prevent cases of rheumatic fever, and rheumatic heart disease that it causes, during the next decade. It is also possible that medical science will learn why certain babies are born with defective hearts, and how to prevent these inborn defects from occurring.

6. New surgical techniques will be developed to make operations on the heart and blood vessels even safer, and to permit operations which cannot now be performed. Use of artificial arterial graphs and heart valves will become more and more common, and a beginning will be made in the construction of the artificial hearts.

7. And lastly — more sensitive and more accurate techniques and divices will be developed for diagnosing the various forms of heart and blood vessel disease. "All evidence points to the conclusion tha we are indeed on the threshold of many new and exciting discoveries," said Dr. White.

These findings, however, are conditioned upon the willingness of the American people to provide the funds with which to conduct these programs of research. There is no better way of insuring the realization of our hopes than through a gift to the 1960 Heart Fund Drive. Heart Fund Sunday will be held on February 28 in Scott County.

Adult Education

The Winchester High School Adult Course in Soils and Fertilizers will hold its first organizational meeting this Monday, February 15, in the local school commencing at 7:00 p.m. The date was originally set for February 16. Among the topics to be covered are Soil Development, Fertility, Plant Nutrition, Land Use Planning, Crop Selection, Fertilizer Selection and Application, and Soil Conserving Structures.

Any adult interested is invited to this first meeting. Meetings will be held once a week for ten weeks thereafter under the supervision of Willitt Pierce, Vocational Agricultural teacher in the local High School.

Store Now Open

Announcement has been made of the re-opening of the Walker Implement Company in Winchester which has been closed this past week for inventory following the death of the owner, B. F. Walker.

Lunch Menus

The following is the lunch menu to be served this next week in the Cafeteria of the Winchester Schools: Monday, February 15—Chicken Noodle Casserole, green beans, bread, butter, milk, and applesauce. Tuesday, February 16—Sloppy Joe Sandwiches, lettuce wedge with French Dressing, succotash, milk and strawberry jello. Friday, February 19—Toasted Cheese Sandwiches, tossed salad, creamed peas and carrots, milk and peach halves.

Educational Club

The members of the Evening Educational Department of the Winchester Woman's Club met on Thursday evening, February 11, at the home of Mrs. Loretta Glossop. Twenty members and two guests were present for the business session conducted by Mrs. Carl Woodcock, President. The members voted to sponsor a Benefit Bingo on March 1 to be held in the American Legion Hall to raise money for their project for the year. The members of the Ways and Means Committee with Mrs. Murl Hardy as Chairman are in charge of this project.

Guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. Marjorie Powers of Manchester who spoke on the responsibility of women in politics and of their responsibility to vote, regardless of party but at each voting time.

A review of the book, "Status Seekers" by Vance Packard, was given by Mrs. Louis Hieronymus.

Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Junior Women

The February meeting of the Winchester Junior Woman's Club will be held this Thursday, February 18, commencing with a 6:30 p.m. dinner at the Fletcher Cafe. The meeting is designated as Guest Night. Guest speaker for the evening will be Ivan K. Garrison, of Jacksonville, Special Education Director of the Jacksonville Schools.

The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting. Dinner reservations may be called in to Mrs. Jerry Alberts, PI2-3602, or to Mrs. Ted Pemberton, PI2-3603, no later than Tuesday, February 16. Cancellations must be received no later than Wednesday.

Lohman To Speak

Joseph D. Lohman, State Treasurer, candidate on the Democratic Primary Ticket for the Governor of Illinois, will speak at the Scott County Court House in Winchester on Tuesday, February 16, commencing at 3:00 p.m. All County and District Candidates will be present and will be introduced.

The public is cordially invited to attend and to hear the issues of the Primary Campaign discussed by Mr. Lohman.

Scott HIA Meeting

The Scott County Health Improvement Association and Board of Directors held their organizational meeting last week at the Farm Bureau Hall in Winchester. Officers elected were Carl Stegemann, Bluffs, President; Truman Scott, Winchester, Vice President; and Mrs. Ray Campbell, Winchester, Secretary-Treasurer.

Paul Carol, Blue Cross representative of the State Health Improvement Association, spoke on the broader program for the State Health Improvement Association which had been decided on at the annual meeting of the Illinois Health Improvement Association in Springfield on Jan. 21 and 22.

General Assembly

The General Assembly of the Winchester Woman's Club will hold a 1:00 o'clock luncheon at the First Baptist church this Monday. Rev. Oscar Grindheim will present the program on "American Home."

Farm Bureau Opposes School Tax Increase

The board of directors of the Morgan County Farm Bureau voted unanimously last week to oppose the proposed school tax increase in District 117.

The decision followed a study of the proposal following a similar vote at the January meeting of the Morgan board.

In making the final decision the board members said they "recognized the fact that this would be an increase in taxes on an already overburdened source as evidenced by the following factual information."

The information quoted was contained in the annual report of the resolutions committee of the Illinois Agricultural Association, which was adopted at its annual meeting held last November in Chicago.

Illinois property taxes, during the past 10-year period ending the last of 1958, have increased 97.4% while during the same period net farm income decreased 4.1%.

Increase During Past Decade

In 1940 the average tax on Illinois farm land was 98 cents per acre. By 1958 the tax had risen to $3.79, an increase of $2.81 per acre. During this same period our neighboring states had increases per acre as follows:

Indiana	$1.33
Iowa	1.65
Michigan	1.20
Missouri	.51
Ohio	1.23
Wisconsin	1.40

Taxes as Related to Income

In the years 1956 and 1957, estimated farm real estate taxes levied in Illinois were equal to 12.7 per cent of total farm income as reported by the United States Department of Commerce. While estimated taxes levied upon all real estate in Illinois amounted to only 3.3 per cent of total personal income. Farmers receive approximately 4.4 per cent of the income but pay about 16.4 per cent of the property taxes.

How We Stand

In view of the foregoing tax facts the 99 Farm Bureaus of the State of Illinois have reaffirmed our position as stated in the following resolutions.

We will:

1. Oppose additional property taxes or increased property taxes.
2. Support measures to require the state to carry up to one-half the educational or operating costs for public elementary and high schools.
3. Support efforts to strengthen our assessment machinery.
4. Support legislation providing that the State Legislature shall set the level of property assessments.
5. Support legislation to:

A. Broaden the Occupation Tax to include certain service occupations and transactions not now subject to the Occupation Tax.

B. Impose a tax on corporations based upon net income from business done in Illinois.

6. Support either legislation imposing or a constitutional amendment allowing the State Legislature to impose a state individual income tax of not to exceed 5 per cent on net taxable income, the proceeds to be used in whole or in part to relieve personal property and real estate taxes.

Lizzie Haynes Sooy Dies At Carlinville

Mrs. Leonard Sooy of Carlinville, the former Lizzie Haynes of the Franklin community, died Saturday morning at Carlinville following an illness of the past ten years. Mrs. Sooy was 82 years of age.

She is survived by her husband, formerly of Murrayville, and the following children: Mrs. Ada Atchison, Carlinville; Wyman Sooy of Jacksonville and Avery Sooy, Springfield. A sister, living in Kansas, also survives.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at Emmanuel Baptist church in Carlinville with interment to be made in Carlinville cemetery.

Gladys Savage Rites In Ashland

ASHLAND — Graveside rites were held Wednesday evening, at the Ashland cemetery, for Mrs. Gladys Elmore Savage, of Washington, D.C., whose body arrived in Springfield that afternoon. Rev. Vincent Heraty, pastor of St. Augustine's Catholic church, officated.

Pallbearers were William Huston, Boeker Batterton, Eugene Danenberger, Fred Hexter, Jr., Homer Butler and D. L. Clarke.

Mrs. Savage's daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth (Timmie) Savage Canfield, accompanied the body from Washington. Mrs. Savage's nieces, the Misses Helen Louise and Betty Glenn, and Mrs. Nancy Short of Wichita, Kans., also were here to attend the graveside rites.

Vandals Damage Two Automobiles

Two cases of vandalism to automobiles were reported Saturday evening to local police officers. Both reports were made at approximately 9:20 p.m.

The first complaint resulted from a broken antenna on a car belonging to Joe Boyle. Boyle's car was in the vicinity of Morgan-South West Street intersection at the time of the damage.

A second complaint came from Tom Lashmett of Winchester who reported the loss of four hubcaps. The Lashmett auto was parked on North Mauvaisterre at the time.

Police are investigating the complaints.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE SCHOOL ELECTION

Editor's Note:

As a public service, this newspape. is publishing a series of questions and answers regarding the proposition to increase the tax rate for educational purposes which will be voted upon Saturday, February 20, 1960. Anyone desiring to submit a question may do so by writing to the Journal Courier.

Q. How many teachers are employed in the Jacksonville system and what is the present budget for teachers' salaries?

A. 227 teachers are employed. The budget for teachers' salaries last adopted amounted to $1,261,448.

Q. Isn't it true that it is likely that the current assessed valuation of the district will be up this year?

A. Although the valuations upon which 1959 tax levies will be extended have not been determined, there have been indications that the total valuation may be up about a million dollars. This increase when applied to the present educational rate of $1.40 would produce only an additional $14,000.

Kindergarten pupils at South Jacksonville School are very conscious of Valentine Day, Feb. 14th, this year. The kindergarten room is gaily decorated with Valentines on the walls and boxes for the morning and afternoon classes to deposit their Valentines, which were distributed in the traditional manner at the "mail delivery" Thursday.

Vote 'Yes' For Better Schools

As the date for the special school election to be held next Saturday, February 20, approaches, and as the facts regarding the issue are presented and explained, two things seem evident.

First, there is a definite need for added school revenues to maintain and improve operations in the face of inflation and steadily rising costs.

Second, if we want better schools for our children and future generations we will have to take the action ourselves.

We cannot sit back and expect the state and federal government to step in and bail us out.

State aid, while important, accounts for only 20% of the revenue available to the district.

Federal aid is not at all likely despite the passage by the Senate of a school aid bill last week. Observers in Washington say that it is highly doubtful if this bill will clear the House and, in any event, predict a presidential veto for it.

In this country elementary and secondary education have always been regarded as the primary responsibility of local citizens. The present is no exception. It is only an illusion to think we can escape the burden by shifting the costs to the state or federal governments.

Few things are more important to a community than a good school system. The election next Saturday will determine to a very large degree the future course of our schools, either progress or retrogression.

The Ever-Burning Fuse

The 20th century's "law of continuous tension" is proving itself once again. French President Charles de Gaulle cracks the Algerian rightist revolt, and disturbances break out on the Syrian-Israeli border.

Reports indicate they are the worst since the 1956 Suez war that led to United Nations intervention. As so often before, each side accuses the other of aggression. Lives have been lost, guns are bristling, soldiers are marching.

U.N. truce forces are, of course, still on duty in the general area. If we are fortunate, U.N. observers may be able to get to the fighting scene and give us an impartial report on whose responsibility is paramount in this new flare-up.

The news comes as particularly disappointing because a fairly long period of relative quiet suggested that perhaps at least relations between the Arab and Israeli peoples were beginning to improve. Evidently they have continued on the razor edge, and the quiet has been as much accident as anything.

Whatever impartial observers may learn, we know now that the underlying causes of Middle East tension have not been eased. The Arab world, and especially President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, refuses even at this late date to accept Israel as a permanent reality in its midst.

As always, Nasser ruthlessly employs for his own political ends the continuing Arab-Israeli hostility. He plainly is not interested in softening it so long as he has something to gain by maintaining it at pitch.

Perhaps only the long passage of time will do what Nasser and similar self-serving Middle Eastern politicians decline to do — establish the permanence of Israel despite all the rancors of the surrounding Arabs.

If it is to be this way, it seems tragic that in the interim both the Middle East itself and the nervous world outside must be subjected periodically to these painful and dangerous clashes. One can hardly believe that either the Arabs or the Israelis want or would dare a war that could spread widely. Yet every time they fire a rifle across a hostile border, they flirt with that prospect.

Communications

Dear Editor and Citizens:

As a citizen and taxpayer in District 117, I am very much interested in the School Referendum on Feb. 20. I am sure all of us want the best possible education for our children and grandchildren and not go back to the good old days so aptly described by Dr. Sheppard.

But the question is: When additional revenue is needed, must it always fall on the ones who own real estate? I would like to quote from the February issue of "The Morgan County (Farm Bureau) Farmer:" "The average tax increase on Illinois farm land from 1940 to 1958 was $3.79 per acre." Our neighboring states' increase for the same time was: Iowa — $1.65; Wisconsin—$1.40; Indiana—$1.33; Ohio — $1.23; Michigan — $1.20; Missouri—$.51.

Surely not all of these states have poor and inefficient educational systems.

The question is not primarily whether or not additional funds are needed, but rather whether income-producing property (real estate) can bear more of the burden without being, in a sense, partially confiscated. All of us in various ways pay every revenue that is assessed to real estate in rent, higher prices, lower salaries or fewer opportunities.

So let us vote "No" on this referendum and find some other way to raise the needed revenue.

Letter to the Editor:

From an authoritative source I've learned School District No. 117 is considering increasing Sex Education. I certainly don't think this is necessary.

This new program would be for all elementary grades and what little six-year-old needs Sex Education? Seventh and eighth grades are barely ready for this information and they are prepared to give it to the younger ones. Why? Don't they get what's necessary in their health classes?

This program is ready to be released next year, has been O.K.'d by the school district's administrators, to be shown to all grades if the parents voice no objection.

Do we need more tax money to lengthen the school term to teach this in the Public Schools?

This could be very beneficial to teen-agers but why befuddle preteens with this information which they do not yet have the knowledge to understand.

Let Sex Education stay in the home where it belongs. They have some Sex Education in schools now that I don't approve of 100%. Where will a program like this end?

Some would think it was awful if their children were asked to bow their heads in a little prayer at school, yet they turn around and throw all this Sex Education at them.

As a whole I think District No. 117 is a fine school system. Let's keep it that way.

In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lena Horne, queen of the night club artists, wants to chuck the saloon circuit for a stay-put job on Broadway or in the movies.

It appears she has both. She scored a personal triumph on Broadway for 18 months with "Jamaica" and another musical is being readied for her.

But first Dick Powell wants her for the heroine in "Big River, Big Man."

Lena was under contract for years at MGM but was mostly wasted singing specialties in musicals. Only in pictures like "Cabin In the Sky" did audiences see the sex appeal and talent that make her a top night club draw.

Lena is getting renewed movie interest because of the production code's dropping of the ban on miscegenation themes.

"I always used to tell them at MGM that miscegenation would be big box office someday. And look what's happened," she says.

Meanwhile, Lena appears three or four times a year on television guest shots. She has sung several times with Perry Como. Monday night she and Frank Sinatra will duet on the thin singer's show.

Recently the Hollywood Women's Press Club gave its golden apple to Shirley MacLaine as the most cooperative actress — justly deserved.

She was not present at the luncheon to receive the award—she was in Seattle. That night she showed up in Hollywood at a premiere.

Some feminine members of the press have been giving Shirley a bad time since. Here's Shirley's explanation:

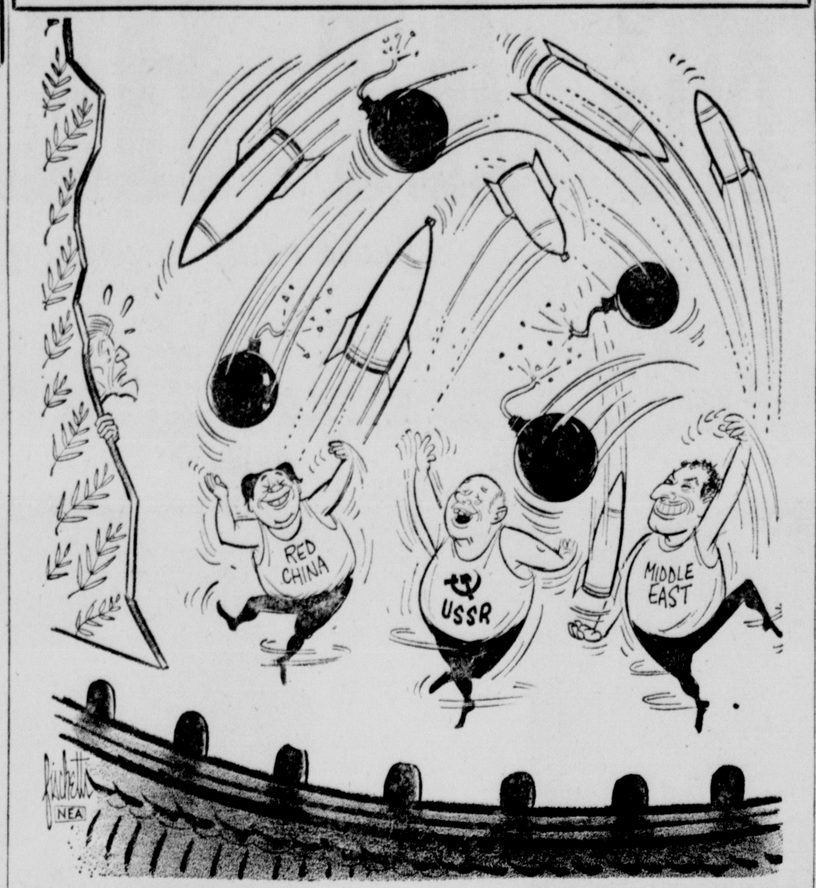

"For weeks I had planned on taking my daughter, Steffi, to Seattle to put her on a plane with some friends so she could visit her father in Japan.

"The day before I was to leave, I was notified that I had won the award. I changed my plans to leave Seattle in time to accept the award. A very simple thing happened. The plane from Seattle was delayed three hours and instead of arriving in Hollywood in the late morning, I did not arrive until afternoon."

Wrong Number Gives Someone a Happy Day— Guests Found Plenty of Bounce at Reception

BY JERRY BENNETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A secretary for Rep. Bill Widnall (R-N.J.) recently phoned the research office of the Library of Congress and asked for an account of "the economic progress of the United States from colonial times to the present."

The voice on the other end of the line quickly replied, "I'm very happy to tell you that you have the wrong number."

A Reception given by General Motors turned out to be the season's most hazardous cocktail party. Some carpeting came loose and tripped guests carrying drinks up a short flight of stairs. Those who managed to avoid this obstacle still stumbled over the long bottom branches of a potted plant at the top of the stairs.

No one was hurt. But victims could be easily identified the rest of the evening by the large liquor stains on their backs.

The Party was also the season's biggest. Three thousand automobile dealers and their wives packed two Mayflower Hotel ballrooms and the hallway. There were eight enormous buffet tables, about 10 bars, two 20-piece bands and a three-man combo.

But the party's biggest hit was a gorgeous brunette named Penny who was promoting oil products. When she walked up to a buffet table, five normally businesslike waiters raced from their stations to fill her plate.

Sen. Hiram L. Fong (R-Hawaii) told partygoers recently that the 50th state's capitol building is the palace where native kings and queens used to reign. "Hawaii is the only state in America," he explained, "where a tourist can say, 'I'm going over to the Palace,' and not mean a hotel or burlesque theater."

A GOP spokesman described the fancy food at a Republican National Committee party this way: "The spread is worthy of the Democrats in the days they held the White House and the Republicans were serving nothing but cheese."

Upon hearing about the remark, Katie Louchheim, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, declared:

Rep. Ken Hechler (D-W. Va.) of the House Space Committee likes to ask colorful questions. When questioning Air Force Chief of Staff Thomas White about America's position in the space race, he put on a pair of large rose-colored sunglasses.

"Do you see things this way, general," he asked "or like this?" Then he removed the rosy specs and put on a pair of black ones.

Defense Dept. wags are talking about the partygoing strategist who was being hounded by his teetotaler mother-in-law to stop drinking. So one day he spiked her orange juice with vodka and called the concoction "retaliatory punch."

THE MOVING PACIFIC

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP — Deep waters of the Pacific Ocean move northward from the Antarctic at a rate of about seven miles a year, scientists report.

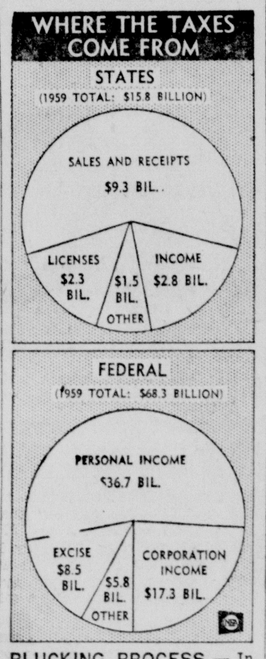

The measurement, based on age of carbon taken from two-mile depths south and north of the equator, was made by Hans Suess, professor of geochemistry at the University of California's Cripps Institution of Oceanography. He said the result supports the generally accepted theory that deep ocean waters in the Pacific originate by sinking of surface waters in the Antarctic.

Don't Restrict Friendships To Those Your Own Age

"The worst things about growing older," says a woman who looks and acts much younger than her years, "are seeing your friends age, lose their enthusiasms, get overly concerned about their health, grow critical of young people, and begin to draw into self-centered shells."

It's bound to be depressing, of course. But there's one way to guard against it. And that is by never giving up the habit of making new friends.

If a woman closes her circle of friendships during the middle years and expects those friends to see her through old age—without additions or replacements—she is going to find the circle less and less dependable as the years go by.

Some of the friends will move away. Others will give in to "enjoying poor health," others will give up, and still others will be weighed down by family responsibilities to the point where they have no time for friendship.

So the circle will grow smaller year after year, and watching it decrease will be a saddening and frightening thing.

The only way a woman can prevent that from happening is by continuing to reach out to make new friends; friends who will share her interests, whose personalities and talents will brighten her life, and to whom she has something worth-while to offer.

That way a circle of friends doesn't have to dwindle with the years and leave a woman to regret the aging of her few friends even more than growing old herself.

So through the years keep widening your circle of friends to include persons with different interests and enthusiasms.

Don't stick to one age group in offering the hand of friendship. Have friends who are older and younger as well as those your own age.

And never let yourself get to the place where you think you have all the friends you need.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the years to come what probably will be most quoted from President Eisenhower's news conference this week is not what he said on nuclear test or payola but his ideas on the presidency.

When examined, those ideas don't throw any new light on the tasks of the man in the White House, present or future, but they at least establish the position Eisenhower feels he takes in the national life.

He was asked, in view of his seven years' experience, what he thought would be the problems of the man who succeeded him. He said he wouldn't try to predict the future but he could give some of his own thinking.

He took a position between the "so-called ultra liberal" who he said wants only "to give your money away for some pet theory of his own," and the reactionary who he thinks should be repudiated like the Devil and all his works.

In other words, Eisenhower was calling himself a moderate, a middle-of-the-roader, perhaps a conservative and maybe even a liberal since he blasted only the "ultra-liberal."

His point was that the man in the White House, whoever he is, must steer a course between extremes. And, he said, "I hope that I am helping to establish a pattern" for solving problems in the manner of reasonable men.

He may here have been trying to give an insight into his presidential conduct: Avoiding fights with individuals or political parties by following a non-name-calling course that creates no needless enmity or opposition.

This is in contrast with the conduct of many presidents in the past and may in the future provide a guide-line for political candidates who can't fail to look for the secret of Eisenhower's political success and popularity.

But as for the way he actually tackles the problems which come before him, Eisenhower provided nothing that a top executive in a big corporation wouldn't know and practice.

He said the problems which come to him for handling, domestic or foreign, have to be studied for their long-term and short-term effect. There's nothing new in that. That kind of consideration is expected.

He said—as he has said so many times before—that before deciding a problem he seeks the best advice he can get.

Before Scorning 'Homes,' Investigate Their Potentials

BY MARIE DAERR

The other day I climbed a steep flight of stairs to a two-room apartmtnt in which a woman in her 80's lives alone.

Her eyesight is nearly gone, yet she insists on doing most of her own cooking. She uses a cane to cover even the short distance between stove and sink. She complained bitterly of the pain her arthritis gives her.

"I wish very much that she would go into a home for the aged, but she won't listen to me," her only relative, a granddaughter, told me.

The granddaughter works, so can't have the old lady in her home. She comes to the apartment every other day, to bring food, do chores.

To many older people a suggestion that they enter a home is like a condemnation to Siberia. Yet in many cases "independent" living is a hazard for them, and a worry for those who love them.

How many of you have actually visited the homes for the aged in your area?

I know one little old lady who calls the home for the aged in which she lives "the best home I ever had." For years this woman worked as a housekeeper. She lived in other people's homes a few years at a time.

"Here I have a pleasant room," she told me. "I've even bought a few little things of my own.

"I come and go as I please. The only rule I must follow is to let the home know how long I'll be gone."

Skilled in sewing, this woman alters clothes for other residents of the home. Here the wise director encouraged volunteering for "chores."

"Several of the women help clear the tables after meals," she said. "One makes the flower arrangements for our parlors.

"Three of the men who are handy at fixing things help us out when we need a faucet washer or a frayed iron cord replaced. Other residents take shifts at the switchboard.

"Our people are happier this way."

In a church home, I saw a woman who is blind and who has both legs amputated making artificial flowers.

"I sell these," she told me, "One of our nurses' aides showed me how to make them.

"I'm contented here. People are always dropping into my room to say hello."

If you are a member of a church denomination, a fraternal group or a union which sponsors a home for older people, you will want to take advantage of this. Not only will you have a valuable priority, so far as entering is concerned. You will be among people with whom you have something in common.

In any case, don't underrate the advantages of a home for the aged. Such a home may be the best solution to your special living problem. It's worth investigating.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

Parables: Rich in Meaning

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The parable was a favorite method used by Jesus in His teaching and preaching. Sometimes, today, those who read the Gospel seize upon this to point out how simple was the teaching of Jesus, how much it appealed to the people, and how easily it was understood.

The parables seem simple in their story form, but almost invariably those who heard Jesus were somewhat puzzled. A particular story may have taken hold in their minds, but they did not understand what it meant; so they asked Him again and again to interpret the parable and make its meaning plain.

The Christian truth contained in the Gospel and the application of the Gospel to life is deep and varied. It cannot always be made simple.

There are things that ought to be made so clear that he who runs may read, but there are other things in the Gospel that reveal the fullness ond richness of their feeling only through study and meditation and prayer.

The way of the Christian life is not morally or spiritually easy.

Truth is a quest, and those who would know and understand the truth must be willing to take pains and make sacrifices in order that they may know and understand.

Consider, for example the Parable of the Sower. I like to think of it as the "Parable of the Hearer," for it IS a parable for hearers. This seed sown is the word, but in human hearts and minds is the ground in which it must take root, if it is to come to fruition.

God scatters the seed widely, but if our hearts are stony or shallow—if we do not nurture it with thought and meditation and prayer—it will wither and die away.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Last week in San Francisco we dined at a friend's home and enjoyed summer barbecue flavors indoors as we looked out toward the Golden Gate Bridge. The dish was steak strips—thin strips simmered in a barbecue sauce spiked with California Burgundy. Oh, yes, that's a great town for folks who enjoy eating.

Barbecued Steak Strips (Makes four servings)

One pound beef round steak, 1 tablespoon oil, ½ cup tomato catsup, 1 teaspoon mustard, ½ teaspoon chili powder, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon instant minced onion, ½ cup California Burgundy wine.

Cut beefsteak into thin strips. Brown in heated oil. Add all remaining ingredients, cover and cook slowly about 1 hour, or until tender, adding a little more wine (or water) as needed. When steak is tender, sauce should be fairly thick.

California Meat Puffs (Makes nine small puffs)

Six slices soft, stale bread, 2 well-beaten eggs, 1/3 cup sauterne wine, 2/3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 pound ground lean beef, 1 tablespoon instant minced onion or ¼ cup chopped onion.

Crumble bread very fine. Add all remaining ingredients, and beat with a fork until fluffy and well mixed. Spoon into greased muffin pans. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Serve at once, plain or with a tomato sauce.

Fertilizer Help To Beans Tied To Soil Test

URBANA — Soybeans continue their reputation of responding poorly to fertilizer even though that may not hold true on soils of extremely low fertility.

At the University of Illinois Fertilizer Conference Agronomist L. T. Kurtz told of 1958 trials where 185 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate per acre increased soybean yields about 6 bushels. Five hundred pounds of superphosphate hiked yields nearly 9 bushels. This series of northeastern Illinois plots had previously tested "very low" in phosphorus.

In 1959 the experiment was repeated at the same location. Kurtz said that where superphosphate had been applied in 1958, there was generally very little yield increase from additional applications in 1959.

Yield boosts from fertilizer have always been more spectacular in corn, mainly because of nitrogen shortage, Kurtz said. But this isn't a problem with soybeans.

Though soil tests have to be quite low, phosphate fertilizers can increase yield of soybeans. Kurtz also pointed out that increases of up to 50 percent are not uncommon from potash fertilizers where soils test very low in potassium.

Royal Neighbors Of Hillview Have Meeting Monday

HILLVIEW—The Royal Neighbors of America in Hillview held their regular meeting Monday night, Feb. 8, with Oracle Lela Hubbard presiding.

After the business session, arrangements were made for the next regular meeting, Feb. 22. As the meeting coincides with the anniversary of Washington's birthdate, Oracle Hubbard suggested that all officers answering to the request "of their duties," answer by some quotation or statement depicting some incident of the life of Washington.

The "secret sisters" will be revealed and new ones chosen. Cherry pie and coffee will be served. Bingo will be played and prizes will be awarded.

Woman's Club Meets Monday At Chandlerville

CHANDLERVILLE — The Chandlerville Woman's Club met in regular session Monday, Feb. 8, at 7:30 p.m. Meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Edmund Sarff. The pledge of allegiance was given.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. James Merwin, secretary.

Mrs. Paul Abbott reported $414.13 has been received for the polio fund to date. The meeting being open to the public all business not requiring immediate attention was postponed.

Mrs. Sarff presented Miss Mary Ellen Armstrong, who by the absence of Mrs. Harrison, had charge of the musical program, given by high school students. Vocal and instrumental selections were enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. T. O. McCullough, chairman of the evening's program, introduced Mr. Ernesto Osterheimeh, an exchange student from Bogota, Columbia, South America, attending MacMurray College in Jacksonville.

He gave a talk on his home country on industries, government, climate, schools, produce, customs and various other subjects.

Mrs. Albert Nelson announced the program of the next meeting. The hymn of the month," The Church's One Foundation," was sung by the club.

Goal Of Hog Research Farm: Disease - Free

URBANA—A team of animal scientists, veterinarians and agricultural engineers at the University of Illinois Moorman Research Farm will attempt to develop and maintain a disease-free swine herd.

"If this goal proves successful," says A. H. Jensen, "we can help conquer the No. 1 enemy of efficient hog production."

Swine researcher Jensen will direct management and environmental studies at the College of Agriculture's new Moorman Farm. Already under construction, it will be completed in 1961. A $200,000 grant from the Moorman Manufacturing Company has made the farm's construction possible.

Although the farm is designed primarily for animal breeding studies, researchers can also study management and environmental conditions. Disease prevention and control will be a key in this work.

To help keep the farm disease-free, Jensen reports that a high fence will completely surround it. Visitors, employees and researchers will enter only through a gate house. There they will receive sterilized boots and laboratory coats.

To Hunt 'Hidden' Disease

Veterinary medicine researchers will work hand in hand with the animal scientists. Under the direction of Dean C. A. Brandly, they will continually check hogs for "hidden" diseases. These diseases have no visible symptoms; yet they are present in hundreds of hog herds. They sap the animal's strength and reduce his feed efficiency and rate of gain.

Often they rob hog producers of profits. And the producers never know why they didn't make a profit!

According to Dean Brandly, these "hidden" diseases have opened up a brand-new research area. Detecting them requires special equipment and know-how, not just a sharp eye.

Brandly and his staff will use tissue culture tests as one tool for detecting these diseases. They'll prepare samples of animal tissues in a special solution. These solutions show the presence of any viruses. Hogs having viruses will then be treated accordingly.

By Caesarean Section

Jensen notes that researchers will take the original Moorman farm pigs by Caesarean section. This will prevent them from getting any diseases from their dams. The pigs will be raised in isolation, as free as possible from diseases.

Successive generations will farrow naturally, but in isolation quarters.

Turning to the management studies, Jensen and his co-workers will study such factors as (1) different housing systems, (2) location of feeders and waterers, (3) floor space requirements, (4) manure handling and disposal, (5) ventilation, heat and air-conditioning systems.

Some buildings will have a controlled environment. This control will allow researchers to study relationships between environmental stress and physiological functions of the pigs. From the results the scientists can determine the best environment for pigs of different ages and sizes.

Jensen feels that management is the most neglected area of swine research today. He hopes that within a few years they can suggest to farmers the most ideal management and environmental conditions for growing hogs.

Directing the physiological studies will be A. V. Nalbandov. His colleagues will include P. J. Dziuk and B. A. Rasmusen. They'll study artificial breeding of swine. They'll also conduct studies in the new field of iffunigenitics.

Find New Paper Mulches Helpful To Gardeners

URBANA—A new paper mulch may soon help home gardners and commercial vegetable growers control their common enemy: weeds.

Tested during the past two summers by University of Illinois researchers, this improved kraft paper mulch did an excellent job of stifling weeds. Yields increased as a result.

These studies are reported by horticulturists Norman F. Oebker and J. Wilson Courter in the current issue of ILLINOIS RESEARCH.

Fungicide Added

They point out that paper mulches are not new. For the first time, however, the improved kraft paper contains a fungicide that keeps the paper from breaking down before the growing season ends. Previously this was paper mulching's biggest drawback.

Oebker and Courter tested the paper on cucumbers to see how it performed under Illinois conditions. For comparison, plastic-mulched and ordinary cultivated plots were included in the experiment.

Results showed that in both years all mulched plots significantly outyielded the cultivated plots. In 1958 the paper-mulched plots yielded 29 more bushels an acre than plastic-mulched plots.

The reverse was true in 1959. Yields averaged 15 more bushels an acre from the "plastic" plots than from the "paper" plots.

How They Help

Both plastic and paper mulches offer many of the same benefits. They control weeds, conserve water, keep fruits clean, warm the soil in spring, prevent soil nutrients from leaching and help keep the soil in good physical condition.

In addition, a tractor-attached applicator can easily apply them.

The new paper mulch has two advantages over the plastic. First, it costs less. Second, it's easier to dispose of. Farmers can plow it under, knowing that it won't interfere with the following crop.

Plastic mulches must be removed from the soil.

Paper's main disadvantage is that it tears easily. But if it is laid carefully, and if the seedbed is smooth, this problem can be overcome.

Best For Vine Crops

The new paper mulch will work successfully with tomatoes and other warm-season crops. Oebker and Courter believe, however, that it shows more promise for commercial use in vine crops. These crops respond well to mulching, and planting can possibly be mechanized when paper is used.

Agricultural engineers are now working to develop a planter that will be attached to the paper-laying machine. This planter will plant seeds directly through the paper.

Beginning in 1960, dieldrin will be added to the paper for controlling insects. Since this has not been tested yet, it's not known how effective it will be.

Weeds left growing in corn and soybeans rows can rob a farmer of one-fourth of his entire crop. In three years of research at the University of Illinois, giant foxtail left undisturbed in corn rows cut yields by almost 23 bushels an acre.

Buy sexed pullets in order to use labor and rearing facilities most effectively. Only rarely can farmers profit from raising egg-type cockerels. Competition from commercial broilers is too great.

New Test To Check Phosphorus Content

The board of the Morgan County Farm Bureau last week voted to expand its soil testing laboratory to comply with recent recommendations of the U.I. soils department. The local laboratory has enjoyed a Class A-1 rating ever since it was organized in 1943.

The recommendations are designed to be of benefit to all farmers, and especially to those who desire a high level of available phosphorus at wheat planting time.

The former chemical test for phosphorus indicated the total number of pounds of the element in the soil. The new test employs a different solution and the reading is made by a photometer. It shows how many pounds of phosphorus, in the form ready and available for plant use, are in the sample.

In years past farmers who had applied recommended quantities of rock phosphate to their ground often found that the amount immediately available to the plant was inadequate for full yield. So especially treated phosphates, often in combination with other fertilizers, were added at wheat seeding time to insure maximum crops.

This addition—or insurance—was expensive and sometimes of doubtful value. Sometimes there was plenty of the element ready to work already present in the soil. The new test will determine whether this is so, or not.

The board voted to order the necessary new equipment immediately and will arrange for the laboratory technician, Mrs. Alfred Enke, to go to Urbana for a week's intensive study on the new procedure.

Farm Adviser George Trull will alter his customary soil test reports to conform with the new tests. The laboratory fee is expected to remain at the former rate: 15c per sample.

TOURING AMERICANS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications are that more Americans will tour Europe by automobile next summer than ever before, says Russell E. Singer, executive vice president of the American Automobile Assn.

The AAA issued 94,000 international driving permits in 1959, he says. Early applications for 1960 permits indicate that approximately 120,000 will be issued this year, says Singer.

AAA issuance of permits in 1959 doubled the number issued in 1956 and were three times the number issued in 1955. "Americans," Singer says, "are finding that drive-yourself trips through Europe bring them the same flexibility for seeing out-of-the-way places as they enjoy at home."

Tractor School Begins March 8

The annual 4-H tractor safety and maintenance school will begin Tuesday, March 8, says Bob Hayward, Jr., assistant farm adviser. It will be held on five succeeding Tuesday evenings at the Baumann & Son implement house on East Morgan street.

The first class will deal with safety in operating a tractor, the second will be concerned, primarily with handling fuels safely; the principles of internal combustion will be the third lesson and the school will end with a study of ignition systems and spark plugs.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

CORN DISAPPEARS 9 PER CENT FASTER THAN A YEAR AGO

Corn disappeared at a record rate during the October-December quarter. The amount used for feed is estimated at 959 million bushels, up to 9 percent from the year before and 22 percent more than the five-year 1953-1958 average.

Exports during the period totaled 62 million bushels, up 12 percent from a year earlier and 62 percent more than the five-year average. Wet process uses (for starch and syrup) took 38 million bushels, 3 percent more than in the previous year and 8 percent more than average. Use of corn for alcohol is estimated at 8 million bushels, which is average.

Total disappearance of corn during the past quarter is estimated at 1,067 million bushels. This was 8 percent more than a year ago and 24 percent greater than the five-year 1953-58 average.

This disappearance left stocks on January 1 at 4,453 million bushels. That was 14 percent more than the record for the date set the year before and 42 percent above the five-year 1953-58 average.

Largest Carryover Seen

The supply and disappearance figures point to a carryover next fall of about 2,000 million bushels of corn, or about one-third more than was carried over on Oct. 1 last fall.

The carryover of sorghum grain also seems likely to be larger next fall. Disappearance in the October-December quarter totaled 187 million bushels, 7 percent less than a year before. This left 902 million bushels on hand, 25 percent more than last year. The carryover of sorghum grain next fall will probably be about a third larger than the 510 million bushels carried over last October 1.

The larger supplies of corn and sorghum are partly offset by smaller supplies of oats and barley. Stocks of oats on January 1 were estimated at only 1,011 million bushels, or 24 percent less than a year ago. Disappearance since July 1 is estimated at 667 million bushels, only 4 per cent less than in the previous year. The prospective carryover next July 1 is something like 200 million bushels, or two-fifths less than in 1959.

Less Barley

Barley stocks were listed at 360 million bushels on Jan. 1, or 8 percent less than a year before. Disappearance since last July 1 totaled 263 million bushels, only 2 per cent less than in the previous year. By next July 1 stocks of barley should be down to about 180 million bushels, or 10 percent less than in 1959.

Altogether we calculate total stocks of the four feed grains on Jan. 1 at 167 million tons, up 12 percent from the year before. This increase is partly offset by a reduction of 12 percent in stocks of hay and by some increase in numbers of livestock, particularly cattle on feed.

TO ATTEND CHICAGO INSURANCE ROUNDUP

Two members of the Morgan County Farm Bureau insurance committee, Charles Williams of Chapin and Lloyd Smith of Alexander, will attend the annual "Insurance Roundup" sponsored by the insurance cooperatives affiliated with the Illinois Agricultural association.

The three day conference at the Edgewater Beach hotel, Chicago, will begin Sunday.

Williams and Smith will be accompanied by their wives.

Illinois 4-H and FFA members in the market for top-quality calves for dairy projects can buy them at the 12th annual 4-H and FFA Club Sale in Urbana February 27. The sale starts at 11 a.m. in the University of Illinois stock pavilion. About 85 calves will be sold.

Use 75 Tons Of Feed? Home Grinding O.K.

Larger farms using completely ground and mixed rations may find on-the-farm mixing profitable. Some other operations will probably find it cheaper to hire a custom mixer.

R. J. Mutti, University of Illinois agricultural economist, says that farmers who use less than 75 tons of feed a year will probably find it less expensive to use custom-mixing services than to mix their rations on the farm. But when feed use rises above 100 tons a year, an automatic electric mixer and grinder on the farm will often cut costs below those of custom mixing.

To use over 100 tons of feed, any one of these enterprises would be required: 200 hogs, 65 feeder cattle, 50 milk cows plus replacement stock, 2,200 laying hens, 24,000 broilers or 1,300 lambs on feed.

Other Advantages

Farmers may find that farm processing has other advantages, however. It can make work schedules more flexible and may offer more freedom in selecting sources of protein supplements and feed ingredients.

On the other hand, many farmers will not find it advisable to feed complete rations. Uncertain conditions on many Illinois tenant-operated farms will also make farm feed processing impractical, he pointed out.

Limitations

M. D. King, Pittsfield feed miller, pointed out certain limitations to farm feed mixing. Before a farmer begins to process his complete feed rations, he must consider his feeding volume, his buying power for feed ingredients and his investment in equipment.

He must also decide whether he will be able to take the time to properly maintain and operate processing equipment.

Russell Jeckel, Delavan farmer, reported a $3.50 a ton saving from mixing rations on his farm. In 1959 he and his father produced 2,500 hogs at an average feed cost of $9.46 a hundred pounds. This operation uses 1,400 tons of feed a year.

Livestock Health Meeting Tuesday

All persons interested in the raising, feeding or handling of livestock are invited to attend a meeting to be held Tuesday, Feb. 16, at Farm Bureau hall.

It will begin at 7 p.m. and will deal with animal health and diseases. Dr. Earl Huffman of the Anchor Serum company will be the speaker. A question and answer period will be followed by refreshments.

The meeting is sponsored by the Illinois Farm Bureau Serum company, which is headed by Everett G. Reynolds of Jacksonville and Morgan County Supplies.

FARM, HOME LEADERS PLAN AREA MEETING

The Illinois Extension service will sponsor a district educational meeting in Jacksonville all-day Friday, Feb. 26.

Nine counties will send representatives here to confer on the 1960 program with W. G. Kammlade, associated director of agricultural extension; Miss Martha Dunlap, home economics extension; Miss Marion Simpson, home advisers' leader; and Bill Coolidge, farm advisers' leader.

The meeting will be held at First Baptist church.

Minimum tillage saves gas, time and machinery costs. But perhaps more important, it means less soil and water losses. Last year wheel-track planting saved three to four inches of rainfall and reduced soil losses by several thousand pounds per acre, according to researchers at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station in southern Illinois.

4-H Electricity Class Attended By 18 Youths

The second session of the 4-H electricity school will be held at Farm Bureau hall Monday evening, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Eighteen boys enrolled at the first meeting. Bob Hayward, Jr., assistant farm adviser, says any youth interested may begin the course Monday evening. He emphasized there is no age limit.

Enrolled are:

Arcadia—Vernie Thomas.

Northside Ag — Leon Baptist, Clyde Werries, Ronald Tomhave, Tom Glossop, David Strawn, Charles Hadden.

Victory—Allan Anderson.

Waverly Hustlers—Jim Crouse.

East Side Juniors—Gary Ginder, Kent Western, Jim Scott, Dick Hembrough.

The school will be held each Monday evening through March 7. REA and Illinois Power employees are the instructors.

Three Directors Named By Local Soil District

Three directors of the Morgan County Soil Conservation district were reelected to two year terms Monday evening at the annual dinner meeting held at Salem Lutheran church. Nearly 100 attended and the principal speaker was Rev. Herbert C. Rose, pastor of the church.

Reelected were Earl Myers, rural route 3; Amos Western, rural route 4, and Floyd Goodpasture, Concord. Holdover members are President R. G. Leavell, rural route 2, and Cecil Oxley, Franklin.

Farm Planner Ted Pierce reviewed the history of the district since it was organized in 1943 and told of some of its accomplishments. He will retire next month after serving here for more than 14 years. His endeavors during that time were lauded by E. H. Garlich, farm manager of Elliott State Bank.

Rev. Rose, a former Ohio farm boy, discussed the misuse of the soil in the hands of man since the beginning of history, quoting Biblical passages to illustrate his remarks. He observed that Mesopotamia, once called the bread basket of the world, was exploited by man until it became the desert of today.

RURAL YOUTH PLANS LEAP YEAR PARTY

The Morgan County Rural Youth will meet for a Leap Year party at Farm Bureau hall Thursday, Feb. 18, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The recitation period will be led by Miss Martha Raftis and Richard Lerschner.

Batteries will discharge even if they are not in use. Since a discharged battery will freeze at 19 degrees F., recharge batteries on idle combines and tractors now.

BIRTHDAY PARADE

Valentine's Day Marchers

Vicki Jo Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Hall of Carrollton, starts our Valentine's Day Parade. Vicki blew three candles out on her Birthday Cake just yesterday, February 13, and writes (with some help) "My Mother had a party for me and I will write about it and send a picture." We will be watching for that, won't we boys and girls?

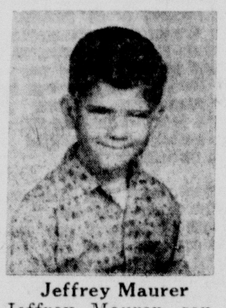

Donald Kerley

Diane Wilson

For the parade, Diane Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wilson of Franklin, wears her pretty first recital frock. Diane, who is a first grader, was 7 years old February 13. She is a big sister to Donna Jo who will be 4 in April.

Jeffrey Maurer

Jeffrey Maurer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Maurer of RR 2, may well wear that fine smile for he is celebrating his 6th Birthday right today, February 14!

Kenneth Tucker

Kenneth Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Tucker of Literberry, gives a fine Western flourish to the conclusion of our Birthday Parade. Kenneth has only two days to wait to blow out those 7 candles on his Birthday cake, Tuesday, February 16.

All the Junior Page readers and your editor wish each and every one of these Birthday Marchers a VERY HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

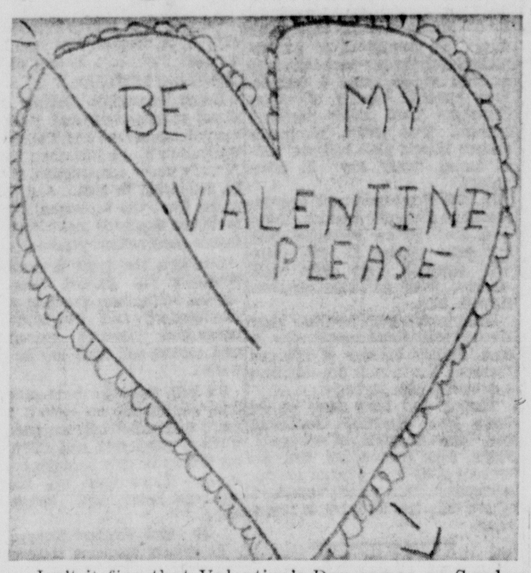

YOUR BIRTHDAY

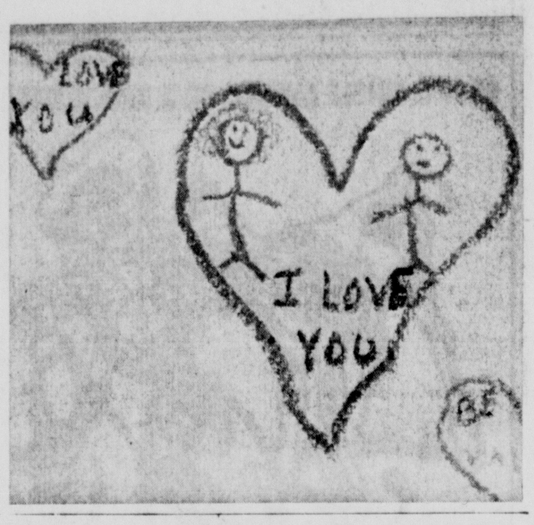

To march in the Birthday Parade just send your name, address and age—with a snapshot if you have one—to the Jacksonville Junior Journal-Courier two weeks before your Birthday. Photos may be called for as soon as they have appeared in the paper.

If you have a Birthday party, write and tell us about that later.

Junior Page Readers Draw Valentines

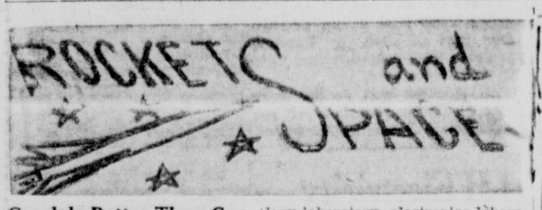

Isn't it fine that Valentine's Day comes on Sunday this year so that these drawings by Junior Page readers can appear right on that special day!

On the left is Debbie Zeller's drawing of a heart. We wish you could see the gay red color she used. Debbie is 7 years old and lives at RR 4, Jacksonville.

In the middle Marilyn Noe's lace edged heart asks politely to "Be my Valentine please". Marilyn lives in Virginia and is 9 years old.

Becky Zeller's gay Valentine, on the right, says cheerfully "I love you." Becky lives at RR 4, Jacksonville, and is 9 years old.

These artists are now entitled to a JUNIOR JOURNALIST PENCIL and a JUNIOR PRESS CARD which all earn who have anything they have drawn or written printed on the Junior page.

Gondola Better Than Car

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

The gimbal (swivel) controlled gondola of the Aviation Medical Acceleration Laboratory centrifuge is quite a bit better than the free-swinging cars of the older centrifuges.

This gondola is equipped to simulate altitudes up to 60,000 feet and temperatures from 44 to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. Also more extensive studies can be made by the routine use of television, movie, and X-ray cameras as well as other physiological recording devices.

In addition to its giant centrifuge, the AMAL has several complete and well equipped supporting laboratories which work together. There labs include: a physiological labratory with attached surgical space, a biophysical laboratory, a biochemistry and gas analysis laboratory, a pathology laboratory, electronics laboratory, radiation laboratory, fabrication shop, service building and a medical library.

Study G Effect

In the physiological laboratory physiologists study what permanent effects high g (gravity) forces have on living things. In the biophysical laboratory biophysicists study the physical effects of high g on the body.

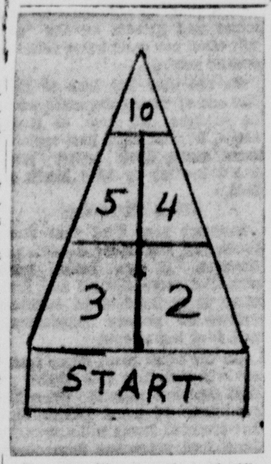

In the biochemestry laboratory biochemists study the effects of high g forces on the atoms and molecules in the body. And in the pathology laboratory pathologists study the courses harmful effects of high g forces take.

Besides the large centrifuge, these labs have several other devices they can use. These include: a chill room, a low pressure chamber, a centrifuge with an 8-foot arm and another with a three-foot arm.

These small centrifuges are used for testing equipment or small mammals. Mammals are animals which feed their babies milk. In this case they would be mice, rats, or monkeys.

Indoor Game

By Joseph A. Smith

Do you like to play shuffleboard but the weather outside won't let you? You say you haven't room for a shuffleboard layout anyhow?

Well, how about the basement? Does it have a concrete floor? If so, then you can have a lot of fun some bad day when you must stay indoors with this version of shuffleboard.

Round up a piece of chalk, locate an open place in the basement, and mark off the enclosed floor playing board. Then round up a bean bag of some kind or sew one together out of two 6" pieces of tough cloth and before closing the top, fill it about one half to two thirds full of small kidney beans.

Now place the bean bag on the floor in the starting section, and attempt to kick the bean bag up toward the high number sections. Each time a successful score is made the kicker is allowed another try. The bag must land completely inside a numbered square before it counts.

If you wish, and if more than one bean bag is available, opposing teams can play. Two opponents might stand at opposite sides of the starting section; first one opponent kicks, and then the other. If he can use his bag to knock his opponent's bag out of a high score position well so much the better. While the usual top score might be 100 points, any agreed upon top score can be substituted.

Picture Window

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Houses have windows, some called picture windows; whatever kind they are, they open up views to those within the houses.

The view may be a street, a tree, a factory, a sunset, a railroad track, a superhighway, an ocean, or a garden, or neighbors. What is your view?

Miss Ann Stevenson's window opens upon a garden and a bird feeding-station, a home-made station which provides a truly delicious smorgasbord for birds. On the Sunday afternoon of Jan. 24, along with Miss Stevenson, I saw five different species of birds as they enjoyed the several dishes.

The slate-colored Junco flew in modestly and picked up daintily a few of the smallest seeds. Then, flashing its snowy outer tail feathers, it flew down to the ground below, enjoying also the gleanings from the other bird gourmets.

Soon two Chickadees, one after the other, darted to the tray, took a bite of peanut butter, snatched a fat sunflower seed, and bounded away with it. Curious English Sparrows snooped around to see what other birds were doing on their territory. A White-breasted Nuthatch slipped in, crept over the suet stick, tasted the peanut butter, balanced a sunflower seed in its chisel-like bill, and slipped away.

Exciting Scene

However, those bird skits were only a prologue to the exciting scene. The great character, a Hermit Thrush, made its appearance by degrees: from a dense vine covering a part of the garage to a Red-bud tree on to a shrub near the feeding-station and at last to the feeder.

Slowly raising and dropping its reddish-brown tail, it perched on the edge of the tray for only a moment. Then it moved close to the pine-cone drenched with peanut butter, pecked off large and small bits of the peanut butter, and flew back to the sheltering vine.

Within a short time the Hermit Thrush performed the same act for us again and again until we had to declare the show over.

Were we sure that this visitor to the feeding-station was a Hermit Thrush? Yes, its gray-brown back and red-brown tail, brown-spotted light breast, and indistinct white eye-ring guaranteed its identity. It is not a winter-resident with us and should have been farther south.

What had kept it alive during our cold periods and snow-covered gardens? Perhaps it was the berries still clinging to the vines and the shrubs.

And now it need not fear for the remainder of the winter: it has found Miss Stevenson's bird smorgasbord, and undoubtedly will concontinue to choose the peanut-butter dish for breakfast, dinner, and supper. And what a view such a bird would be from any picture window, large or small!

Where Are You?

BY MRS. OTTO DORR

Part I Who Is Calling

Hettie started to dust her knick-nack shelf when she heard someone calling.

"Where are you?" she asked and ran to the kitchen. No one was there, still she was sure a voice called "Stop, look, look!"

"This is the strangest house," puzzled Hettie thought, "One time I found my best spoons talking, now what is this!"

Then her small album almost opened its brass clasp, and two gold edged pages shook.

"Look, look!" sounded a bit louder. Hettie opened her book at the quivering pages to find a little girl waiting.

Strange House

"I live here," the little girl announced, "Your album keeps my dress clean, you see. It is made from my grandmother's wedding silk, would you know that it is really fawn color?"

Hettie looked at the little frock; rows of tiny puffs down each sleeves, a fluted double ruffle around the neck and three ruffles at the hem, there on the skirt too was a matching puffed pocket topped with fresh handkerchief points.

"My! You have a pretty dress, little girl — I — I cannot remember your name."

"Mabel," the child answered, "And you can call me that even though I grew up to be your great aunt; you take care of me the way my twenty-year-old sister did. Ella brushed my hair and tied its white ribbon. Doesn't your hair pull? It looks tight."

"Oh," Hettie laughed, "That is a pony tail, haven't you seen one?"

"Not since I saw a pony," Mable explained.

Preparing Own Meat In Long-Ago Days

By Mary Pence Claywell

Part 2

Andy felt exactly as if he were sitting right there at the table with long-ago little Tom and Pa, and he felt sure he saw the flame flicker when Aunt Jane told about the brightness of the coal-oil lamp that used to hang in a bracket on the kitchen wall with its silver reflector sending a flare of light across the cookstove. He could even hear the "tick, tick-tock" of the little clock on the kitchen shelf as it cheerfully ate away at the golden minutes of the new day. Aunt Jane continued her story. . . .

Full to the brim, Pa and the boys donned their coats and heavy overshoes as they stepped out into the nippy air to get things going for hog-killing day.

Big, heavy iron kettles had been put in place the night before, their legs resting upon huge stones. They were banked with dry cobs and chunks of wood ready for Pa and the boys to set a match to. But they had to wait until morning to fill them with water to prevent their freezing and bursting over night.

Back and forth . . . back and forth, they trudged between pump and kettles, carrying big pails of water.

Twinkling Good Morning

The friendly moon shone down upon Pa and the boys and millions of bright stars twinkled a cherry "Good Morning," as they trudged back and forth.

Sometimes the ground was white with snow, but folk never put off a well-planned butchering day unless there was a real old fashioned blizzard like the one in the old poem "Snowbound." Telling of bygone days it says "We piled with care, our nightly stack . . . of wood against the chimney back."

In no time at all, the fires were lighted and long, red tongues of flame leaped skyward as the burning cobs nibbled away at the huge crackling logs placed crisscross on top of them. The big kettles were soon wrapped in a blanket of intense heat.

SNUFF SAID

Figures of the U.S. Treasury Department reveal that 3,334,478 pounds of snuff were consumed in the country in 1875, 13,805,311 pounds in 1900 and 36,206,726 pounds in 1957.

On Living Alone

By Mabel Hall Goltra

BY MABEL HALL GOLTRA

When I come to in the morning
The sunbeams are already up.
They were amused by my snoring:
I disturbed not even a pup.

If the room is a little bit chilly,
I pull up my darling down puff.
And dream of some distant Hill Billy
Adorable, just in the rough.

When awake, I see the tall chimneys
And think of the people down there.
Perhaps its the Motts or the Bimbeys
Who have several children to spare.

They have to dash out in the morning
To get things to cover their backs
While I may lie still unencumbered
With my hair pins hung in their racks.

No one to ask about dinner;
I'll just go off on a spree;
Perhaps I'll meet up with some critter
Who might be more lonesome than me.

"WEATHER GLASS"

The pimpernel plant sometimes is called the "poor man's weather glass," because of its odd habit of closing at the approach of cloudy or rainy weather.

Black Oak and Swamp White Oak

By Rip Barnsdall

The black oak has a variable leaf form. Its leaves are often mistaken for those of the red oak.

The adult tree is between 50 and 60 feet high. The bark is thick, and nearly black. The inner bark is a bright orange or yellow.

C Q Radio Hams — Radio For Boys

By Joseph A. Smith

Part 2: Vacuum Tube

Class "B" power amplifiers, operating at or near Cutt-Off, are more efficient and give more output than can be realized from Class "A" stages although some distortion will appear in the output waveform.

Such stages are sometimes used in modulator output tubes and S.S.B. final amplifiers where a reasonable amount of output along with a reasonable amount of distortion can be tolerated.

Class "C" amplifiers are even more efficient; its grid is driven well positive and draws grid current, and this requires more grid excitation drive from previous driver stages.

Higher plate voltage can be used since the tube is biased anywhere from two to seven times cutoff. Distortion is much worse, but in R. F. carriers, where it is most often used, this is not so important as it is in audio work.

A second grid, the screen grid, was added to reduce the grid to plate inter-electrode capacitance within the tube itself. Also the positive voltage on this screen grid speeds the electrons along on their way to the plate. You must not exceed the screen voltage or screen current ratings of these tubes; doing so will exceed the screen dissipation rating of the tube and probably damage them.

Our Suppressor Grid was installed to reduce the backward flow of secondary electrons knocked off the plate as electrons coming from the filament-cathode hit the plate. This grid is negatively charged, and, since like charges repel one another, these secondary electrons are repelled back to the plate.

All Triodes and often times tetrodes must be neutralized by some means. That is, the inter-electrode capacitance must be cancelled out so that the inter-electrode capicitance can not produce undesired inter-element feedback that would support self-oscillation within the tube.

This is accomplished by feeding back a small amount of out of phase current so as to effectively cancel out this undesired feedback. A small adjustable capacitor is uesd to achieve this cancellation. See the Handbook for more details.

Human Failing

By Mary Pence Claywell

Few folks are ever satisfied,
The little . . . or the big;
And sometimes, in our eagerness,
We fall a prey . . . to greed!

Though a man may make a million,
He's not satisfied . . . at all,
And give a child a dolly . . .
It's sure . . . to want a ball!

And too, we often fail to think
God for His love and care;
We take for granted what we have
To use, or save, or share!

We think about tomorrow,
And let today slip by . . .
And smothered in its ashes,
Some fond sweet hope may die!

And when we waste a day in grief,
Because we feel our lot
Is far too hard, or whine and crave
For things that we have not,

We lose in gloomy thinking
The joy of present good;
A lesson, man has never learned,
Oh . . . don't we wish he would!

Let's grasp today, and what it holds,
And break the age-old fetter . . .
For being satisfied today . . .
Will make tomorrow . . . better!

Discuss Porch For Meredosia Sportsmen's Club

MEREDOSIA — Thursday night the Meredosia Sportsmen's Club held its regular meeting in the club house, attended by about 30 members and eleven guests, including seven Boy Scouts and Ted Clark, their Scoutmaster.

President Lloyd Lathrop was in charge. After some discussion about a proposed porch along the east side of the club house, a committee was appointed to do research on the subject: Joe Schneider, chairman; Bob Workman, A. C. Bickley, John Newman and Virgil Steinberg.

Two films were shown: "50,000 Miles by Outboard" by Mercury Motors, and "Rescue Breathing" showing mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration, a first aid feature by CIPS Co.

PNG

Tuesday afternoon the Past Noble Grands Club met at the home of Mrs. Minnie Lefever, with seven members present. The devotional period was followed by a short business session. Recreation was playing bingo and a Valentine game.

The March meeting will be with Mrs. Edward Irving.

Cubs' Potluck

Cub Scout families and friends: The Cub Scout annual Blue and Gold potluck supper will be held on Feb. 24 at 6 p.m. in the Meredosia grade school cafeteria. Those who come are asked to bring a covered dish; table service, coffee, milk and bread will be furnished.

RAINBOW GIRLS TO HOLD FAMILY POTLUCK TUESDAY

The Rainbow Girls of the Jacksonville Assecbly No. 19 are having their family potluck supper Tuesday evening, Feb. 16, at 6 p.m. at the Masonic Hall. The Mothers Circle will furnish coffee and orange drink.

A short program will follow the supper. Families of Rainbow Girls are cordially invited and are urged to attend.

A daughter was born Feb. 10 to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chapman of Alton.

Mrs. Gertrude Painter was admitted on Feb. 8 and dismissed on Feb. 11.

James Monroe, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Monroe, was admitted for medical care on Feb. 8.

Mrs. Mary Hanlin of this city was admitted for medical care on Feb. 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Marshall of Montgomery City, Mo., are parents of a son, third child and third son, born Feb. 8, weight 7 pounds, 8 ounces. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Marshall of this city are paternal grandparents.

Russel Vernor Speaks To GTS Club Wednesday

Mrs. Rose Cully was hostess to the GTS club in the Pilgrim Room at Hamilton's Restaurant on Feb. 10. Mrs. Ethel Carter, first vice president, had charge of the meeting.

Roll call was answered by ten members by naming their favorite gem. The program committee had made arrangements for Mr. Russel Vernor, of Duncan and Vernor Jewelers, to show the film, "A Diamond is Forever."

The film was followed by a talk by Mr. Vernor and a general discussion.

Refreshments were served during the social hour. The next meeting of the club will be at 2 o'clock Feb. 24 with Mrs. Norma Davidsmeyer.

Father-To-Be Philip Is Criticized By The Press In Baby Balmy Britain

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON—(NEA)— Britain's joy over Queen Elizabeth's soon-due third child has been clouded slightly by the public criticism of Prince Philip.

The royal husband came under fire from two London papers for not staying constantly with the 33-year-old Elizabeth during the last week of her pregnancy.

The Queen returned to Buckingham Palace in London on Jan. 18, but Philip stayed on at the country residence, Sandringham, for three weeks of shooting and fishing before rejoining his wife on Feb. 6. The new prince or princess is expected in mid-February.

"How dispensable is a father-to-be in these last few weeks?" asks the News Chronicle. The paper then goes on to quote a leading obstetrican, author of a book on parenthood:

"I think the father and mother should be together for the time before the birth. It is certainly preferable."

The Daily Express criticism is likewise veiled. "The Royal Family is being terribly untraditional about this third baby," declares the Express.

"Of course," the Express continues, "it is very sensible of the Queen not to insist that they all stay home and hold her hand.

"Of course, no useful purpose is served by a husband pacing the corridors and starting solicitously every time his wife leaves the room.

"But, really, isn't this all rather subversive?"

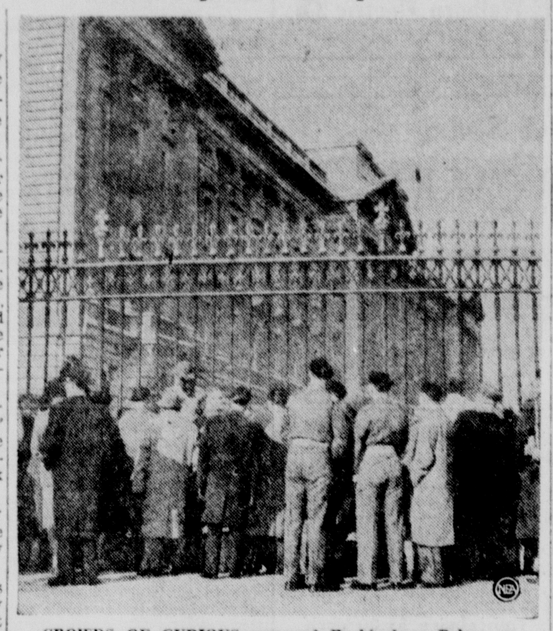

The Duke of Edinburg, who was then in the Royal Navy, was present during the weeks that preceded the birth of both Prince Charles and Princess Anne. This makes his behavior all the more inexplicable, in the opinion of those who are close to the royal household.

The Duke's present neglect of the Queen contrasts strangely with the solicitude of Prince Albert when Queen Victoria was awaiting the arrival of Princess Beatrice. The prince consort was constantly at Victoria's beck and call.

"We had to wait a fortnight beyond the time for the Princess and she kept us waiting at the door for 13 hours before she would come in," Prince Albert wrote to his cousin.

But that was 102 years ago, and royalty now are inclined to take such events as birth much more casually.

But if Prince Philip refuses to get excited, the rest of the nation has been all a-flutter over the impending birth.

CROWDS OF CURIOUS surround Buckingham Palace as Britain waits for the birth of a new royal child.

The British press is full of stories extolling the beauties of motherhood. Various methods of childbirth, from hypnotism to the so-called "natural" method and the merits of a child being delivered in the home, as opposed to a hospital, have been discussed. So has the psychological problem: What effect the new baby will have upon Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

The Sunday Pictorial consulted an astrologer for the horoscope of the new baby. "The new baby will be a Sun in Aquarius type if born before February 20," the astrologer declares. "Such children are rather shy and retiring. They have a quiet and unassuming manner which gains them many friends."

The comings and goings at Buckingham Palace have been carefully chronicled. The arrival in London to be near the Queen of white-haired Helen Rowe, 60, the midwife who attended the Queen during her other two confinements, brought the press out in full force.

"I think I probably knew about this almost as soon as the Queen herself," declares Nurse Rowe. "I saw her about a month ago and she looked very well. She is a marvelous patient—absolutely wonderful."

The royal midwife also let it be known that she has ordered two new uniforms in kingfisher blue. "Much nicer than that nasty old gray," she confided.

Gifts are pouring in. The latest is a 56-piece layette made by 22 old ladies at the Linen and Woollen Drapers' Cottage Home in Dorset.

WSCS Ladies Of Grace Chapel To Bake Cookies

Mrs. Jimmie Jones was hostess for the February meeting of the Grace Chapel WSCS. The president, Mrs. Hannah Brockhouse, presided.

The theme of the worship and program was "This Is the Day." Mrs. Charles Ater had charge of the worship service while the program was in charge of Mrs. Fred Standley. Also helping in the program were Mrs. Wilburn Wiswell, Mrs. Edward Charlesworth and Mrs. Russell Hymes. Roll call was answered with a Bible verse with the word "love."

During the business meeting it was decided to bake and send cookies to Chanute Foundation. The ladies are to take their cookies to Mrs. Wilburn Wiswell where they will be packed on Thursday evening, Feb. 23.

Many letters were read from the district officers which were interesting and informative.

An announcement of the evangelistic services being held at Arenzville Methodist church was made. There will be no services at Grace Chapel church Sunday, Feb. 14 as Grace Chapel is cooperating with the Arenzville services.

Approximately one-half of the fund needed to repair the stained glass windows has been raised.

The hostess served delicious refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

Those present were: Mrs. Hannah Brockhouse, Mrs. Fred Standley, Miss Minnie McFadden, Miss Mae McFadden, Mrs. Cora McFadden, Mrs. Ella Wiswell.

Mrs. Wilburn Wiswell, Mrs. Charles Ater, Mrs. Verne Thomas, Mrs. Russel Hymes, Mrs. Edward Charlesworth, Mrs. Thomas Parlier and the hostess, Mrs. Jimmie Jones.

Ike Has Almost Hopeless Task In Brazil

U. S. Won't Give Aid Until Rio Acts To End Country's Runaway Inflation

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— President Dwight D. Eisenhower has an all-but-hopeless task cut out for him in Brazil.

Brazil is feeding its industrial boom on inflation. That inflation is in danger of running away with the country. Brazil wants U. S. aid to bail herself out.

The U.S. says no—unless the Brazilians make sacrifices, tighten their belts, take steps to help themselves. The International Monetary Fund, with U.S. backing, says the same.

So Brazilian-U.S. relations are cooling. Brazil has been a close and loyal backer of the U.S. in world affairs. We need her. But American economics officials are convinced that aid, without Brazilian self-help, would merely add to the economic bust they think is sure to come. Therefore they insist: no aid unless the Brazilians try to get their house in order.

This is where President Eisenhower comes in. In three days, subtly, smilingly, Mr. Eisenhower somehow or other must charm that 57-year-old dynamo, Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek, and his government into believing they must cinch their belts. All this with goodwill."

* * *

This may seem impossible. Yet if Mr. Eisenhower fails, his visit could boomerang.

For popular Mr. Eisenhower, by simply going to Brazil, may raise too many hopes that may never be fulfilled, unless he does succeed in selling President Kubitschek and his friends on austerity.

The Brazilians are emotional about this aid business. They are hurt because the U.S. has given so much to Europe and Asia, so little to Latin America and Brazil.

As one diplomat puts it, "Brazil feels like the faithful wife who sees her husband shower all his gifts and attention on a beautiful mistress, while she wears last year's clothes."

* * *

Now with this trip their hopes are being rekindled after years of almost giving up. They believe the visit signifies that the U.S. will pay a lot more attention to Brazil. And begin to shower more funds on her thirsty economy.

IKE AND KUBITSCHEK, KEY WEST, 1956: More smiles in Rio, but also some hard problems.

Especially, the Brazilians would like the way cleared for a sizeable loan from the International Monetary Fund. They'd like heavy direct U.S. aid so that the Brazilian Government could sponsor stepped-up government exploitation of oil, iron ore and other resources. Brazilians are thinking in terms of hundreds of millions of dollars right away and more later.

What are the roots of Brazil's problems?

● Heavy dependence on one export. Coffee brings in half Brazil's dollars, two-thirds of all her foreign exchange. Yet coffee prices fluctuate wildly on the world markets, bringing economic confusion at home.

● Rapid industrialization. Industry has been pushed so fast of late that Brazil is called a Detroit grafted on a plantation economy with too little basic industry underneath to support it.

* * *

The frenzied industrialization has intensified Brazil's need for basic raw materials. Petroleum imports alone, at almost a third of a billion dollars a year, account for Brazil's whole unfavorable balance of trade. Yet Brazil is rich in oil reserves. The Government won't let private industry develop her oil.

So Brazil has a chronic balance of payments problem. And an internal imbalance resulting from rapid one-sided industrialization under government forced blast.

The results: inflation, social unrest and a threat of political instability.

All this is dangerous in so fine an ally as Brazil.

So Mr. Eisenhower has his work cut out for him. Especially since this is an election year in Brazil. And no one wants to go through the agony of belt tightening in an election year.

THE BIG CHANGE IS TO AN ELECTRIC RANGE

ELECTRICITY IS YOUR BETTER WAY TO COOK
CLEAN ● FAST ● COOL ● MODERN ● AUTOMATIC ● ECONOMICAL

The Electric range produces heat without combustion, it produces no soot. This means less scouring, scrubbing and washing for you. You'll cook in comfort with an automatic electric range thanks to thick insulation surrounding the oven. Oven and broilers quickly rise to the desired temperatures, and watch the surface units glow almost as soon as you flick them on. Your kitchen will stay degrees cooler because surface heat goes where it belongs—into utensils. The electric range's sleekly modern and well designed look has been planned for today's modern homemaker. And Electricity is the most modern way to cook. Set the controls then you can leave the kitchen. The electric range will automatically cook your dinner to perfection for you.

Best of all, electric cooking is thrifty, because it heats quickly and efficiently. YOUR CITY WATER, LIGHT & POWER DEPT. low electric rates makes cooking by electricity the most economical way.

Della Philathea Class Meets At Baptist Church

ROODHOUSE — Mrs. Henry Hannaford spoke on the scripture, "Be Still and Know That I Am God," at the Thursday night Della Philathea class meeting. The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Jim Shaw.

It was voted to repair the basement door and to make it similar in appearance to the other outside doors.

Mrs. R. S. Bess and her committee served the potluck supper, with the table decorations carrying out the Valentine motif. A flowering plant centered the table.

Fellowship Supper

The monthly fellowship supper will be held at the Christian Church Thursday evening beginning at 6:30. The speaker of the evening will be William Battershell, recently home from a trip to England.

Set Date

The date of the annual Methodist Men's pancake and sausage supper has been set for March 1, from 5 till 8 p.m., and will be held in the church basement.

40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Johnson observed their 40th wedding anniversary Wednesday, Feb. 10. They have two children, Mrs. Jack Smock, Wood River, and Roth Johnson, Jacksonville. Mr. Johnson is a local barber.

Memorials

The Roodhouse American Legion Auxiliary has announced that three new books have been added to the shelves of the Roodhouse Public Library in memory of three deceased auxiliary members.

Deceased members and the book titles are as follows: for Essie Berry, "My God and My All;" for Cora Whitworth, "The Crown and the Cross," and for Courtney Jackson, "Exodus."

Commander's Banquet

Jack Alfeld, Greene County judge, will be the speaker at the annual commander's banquet to be held Monday, Feb. 22, at 7 p.m. in the Legion Home here. Judge Alfeld will speak on "Americanism."

James Jones, post commander, has announced that Third Division Legion Commander Kennedy will be present as will past division commander Glenn Skinner, Jacksonville.

Presentation of a citation will be made to the Roodhouse-White Hall Woman's Club for the special project last summer at Memorial Park in Roodhouse.

To Serve At Barrow

Rev. F. V. Wright of Winchester will be in charge of morning and evening Sunday services at the Barrow Baptist Church, west of Roodhouse, until a resident pastor is obtained.

Auxiliary Makes Heart, Cancer Fund Donations

A report was given on the proceeds realized from the recent dinner served members of the White Hall Lions Club and menus planned for the next two dinners to be served to the same group.

The sum of $5.00 was voted to the Heart Fund drive now in progress of which Hazel Deavers and Dorothy M. Young are serving as co-chairmen, and the sum of $5.00 to the American Cancer Society on behalf of Miss Young in the death of her sister, Mrs. Clara Dunphy.

It was voted to purchase items from the Veterans Craft Exchange in Chicago, a departmental project of the Legion Auxiliary. The members of the Auxiliary will join post members and their families on March 7 with a fish-pot-luck supper at the Legion home, with a program following. Those attending are asked to take a covered dish and table service.

Community Club Meets Saturday At Nortonville

The Nortonville Community Club met Feb. 6 with Mrs. Hugh Burnett and Mrs. Clyde Gass as hostesses. The meeting was opened by the group singing "Now the Day is Over."

The pledge was led by Mrs. Harley Mayberry. The collect was repeated in unison. During the business session the club voted to send a contribution to CARE.

Mrs. Everett Starner, the program leader, had prepared a program on civil defense. Due to illness in the family she was unable to attend. Therefore, Mrs. Herbert Clayton presented Mrs. Starner's program.

She also passed out leaflets on fallout protection and first aid. The leaflets told what should be in an emergency kit and what emergency action should be taken until a doctor arrives.

Roll call was answered by a Valentine exchange. The meeting closed with the club prayer.

Mrs. Melvin Koehler had charge of the social hour. Prizes were won by Mrs. Virgil Vedder and Mrs. Roy Kelly. The club held a pantry shower for Mrs. Ned Jackson. She received many gifts.

The hostesses served refreshments to 17 members and two guests, Mrs. John Coop and Mrs. John Banich.

The next meeting will be held at the club hall on Feb. 19, with Mrs. Allie Bryant and Mrs. Lester Penick as hostesses.

SOUTH LOSES DUMMY ENTRY

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South wasted no time in throwing the slam out the window. He ruffed the spade lead in dummy, led a trump to his queen and a second trump back to dummy.

Then he cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs and when West showed out on the second club lead there was no way to establish the rest of the club suit.

Furthermore, since the hearts lay wrong also South actually went down two tricks.

South had violated one of the most important principles of dummy play which is: DON'T DRAW TRUMPS UNTIL YOU CAN AFFORD IT.

South should have led the ace of clubs at trick two. He just couldn't handle a five-zero club break so he should not have tried to guard against it. His next

If trumps failed to break 2-2 he would still be able to pull the last trump, run dummy's clubs and lose a heart at the finish. With the 2-2 break he would have made all the tricks.

Of course, the hand would have collapsed if all four trumps had been in one hand but so would the play that South took.

Valentine's Day In Leap Year Is Time For Gals To Start Marital Campaign

By JOY MILLER
AP Staff Writer

The wit who thought that one up obviously was male, restive in a wife-dominated environment and given to jokes he didn't repeat at home.

But it's representative of masculine thinking on women and their nesting compulsion. Another male example is their uncooperative attitude toward that perfectly sensible institution, leap year.

Leap year, as everyone knows, is comprised of 366 days in which a girl has a sort of unofficial sanction for keeping on with what she's been doing the previous three years—husband hunting.

The trouble is, in the charming custom of girl chasing boy, nothing is said about the necessity for the chasee to stand still. Sure she can ask, but he doesn't have to say yes.

Does that mean, then, that leap year 1960 is going to be no help at all to the girl who's fit to be tied up in nuptial knots?

Not if she starts right today—appropriately Valentine's Day—to reappraise standard strategy in the battle of the sexes. And with only 10½ months left in the year, and with women outnumbering men in increasing percentages, there's not a moment to waste.

Most marital campaigns are lost because spinsters, being ladies, play according to the rules.

These rules, laid down over the years, stem from the basic fallacy that a woman's three weapons are flirtation, flattery and food. They may have been once. But the fellows had them reconnoitered so long ago that the male defense in the altar sector today is practically impregnable.

For example:

Don't try to win his heart through his stomach. He's so accustomed to food the way mom defrosts it that a real homecooked meal would give him heartburn.

Don't try to show him what a thrifty little helpmate you'd be. With personal loan services, charge accounts and credit cards, today's young men don't dig this stuff about a penny saved.

Don't suggest a quiet evening at home when he says let's go to the movies. If he had wanted a quiet evening at home he'd have stayed there. He probably does want to see a movie.

Don't try to learn the difference between a dugout and a ragout so you can talk about his hobbies. You'll end up sounding like an idiot, and he'd rather do all the talking anyway.

Don't baby and fuss over your big strong hero because you think he secretly likes it. If it doesn't make him sick, he's not for you. You want somebody who can not only take care of himself but you too.

Don't work overtime to look eternally gorgeous. Even if he doesn't realize that too much attention to appearance is the surest sign of insecurity, the unending parade of glamor will pall quickly.

Don't be sweetly reasonable about marriage not changing his was of life, abridging his independence and interfering with bowling with the boys. Don't even let on marriage is in your vocabulary. Men are, by nature, marriage-shy—and just mention of the word gives them the irresistible urge to flee.

Don't, on the other hand, be aloof or bitingly clever to intrigue his interest. It won't, and don't hide a genuine affection because you fear he'll suspect you of entrapping motives. A man will not only understand your admiration for him, but frequently will share it. To be loved, love—say psychologists.

Don't forget that the problem likely won't be one at all if you remember to be yourself, treat your young man as a human being and not as a door prize, regard marriage as a means to a full life but not as an end in itself.

Don't . . . well, you get the idea. And if this foolproof strategy fails for you, let me know. But don't call next Saturday night. The local Spinsters' Club is having a meeting, and I have to preside.

Men's Club At Hardin Hosts Alton Club

HARDIN — The Westminster Men's Club of the Presbyterian church in Hardin was host to the north area of the Alton Presbytery at a dinner and meeting Monday night in the church basement. The women of the Open Door Bible class of the church served the 6:30 p.m. dinner to the 60 guests who were present.

Rev. M. Edwards Breed, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Jerseyville, acted as host pastor in the absence of Rev. Anton S. Fabian, who attended a Christian Education meeting in Springfield Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Dan Thomas, music director of the Unit 40 schools, presented several of his high school music students, who are also members of the local church, in several vocal numbers.

Ambulatory Patients

Dr. James Vaughn was returned by ambulance Tuesday from Jersey Community hospital to Montreat Nursing Home in Hardin, where he is making his home. Luther Watts, a resident of the same nursing home, was taken to Jersey Community hospital Tuesday afternoon.

On Monday, John Porter Mortland, who had undergone major surgery in Jersey Community hospital, was brought by ambulance to his home south of Hardin. Also on Monday, Paul Sevier of Kampsville was taken to the Washington University Clinic at Barnes hospital in St. Louis for examination, but was able to return home the same day.

Young GOP Club In Cass Elects New Officers

ASHLAND — The Cass County Young Republican club held its regular meeting Tuesday in the Mills law office in Virginia, and a new slate of officers were elected.

Duke Walbaum, of this city, was elected president. Duke has just returned home from service in France, Germany and Lebanon, where he spent 19 months with the U.S. Engineers. He is the grandson of the late U.S. Congressman Charles Adkins of Decatur.

Glenn Hillen, also of this city, was elected secretary-treasurer. Glenn is a former sheriff of Cass county and for the past five years has been engaged in farming north of this city.

Class At Reside Home

Mrs. Sara Reside entertained the Loyal Daughters class of the Church of Christ at her home Tuesday night. The meeting was opened by prayer being said by Betty Kruse, after which the pledge of allegiance was said in unison. Roll call was answered to by a verse of scripture.

Johanna Plowright read the scripture lesson and had charge of the devotions. A poem, "Are You An Active Member" was read by Mrs. Reside. Mrs. Dorothy Evans had a valentine contest for recreation.

Refreshments in keeping with the valentine season were served by the hostess and her assistant, Leta Hammack.

High Fashion Wardrobes For Dolls Will Be Seen In Group Of Creative Crafts At Fair

During the fittings of the many outfits model dolls were loaned to Mrs. Dysinger by the two daughters of Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Kanatzar, who have a valuable collection of dolls from all over the world.

Mrs. Dysinger, seated, holds a grown-up type doll wearing an avocado green satin cocktail dress and 'after five' feathered hat with nose veil.

Clothes for the dolls include suits, leisure outfits, handmade sweaters, nightwear, shoes and slippers, rainwear and actually more garments than most people have in complete ensembles. An eye-catcher is a brocade strapless evening gown with a cabbage rose caught at the waltz-length hemline. One of the chic suits is mink trimmed and accessories are all in high fashion miniature style.

There will be many other such exhibits showing Creative Crafts that Jacksonville area people do because they enjoy doing them.

Articles From Alaska Included In Display

Kathy holds a large Alaskan 'potlatch.' This is a hand-carved huge wooden bowl that holds food served on very special occasions, such as important entertaining, holiday or festival occasions. The dark wood has been rubbed to a firm and high polish and has a decorative border about the side and groove notched at the base for proper balance.

Charles is holding a child's ball, made by Eskimos living in the northern part of Alaska. The sealskin covering has been chewed by the natives to soften up enough for handling and shaping over the stuffing of native grasses. There is a very pretty red design on the ball that is trimmed with hair seal fur.

The garment spread out between the children is a summer Parka worn during the warmer season. It appears to be made from a cotton or cotton mixture, material somewhat like gabardine. The loose fitting parka has the traditional hood and long sleeves, made for comfort as well as attractiveness.

Mrs. Archer's Display Case For Fair Replica Of Norwegian Star Church Window

Treasures from most of the countries of the World will be exhibited at the 3rd International Fair on March 5th at Jonathan Turner Junior High School. The Fair, held every two years, is sponsored by the Jacksonville Chapter, Council for Exceptional Children, and includes teachers in the local Illinois School for Deaf, Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School, special services in private and public schools, therapists, professional people and others interested in the education of the exceptional child, both retarded and gifted.

The Fair opens its doors at 5 p.m. and remains open until ten o'clock. For the Exhibits this year the Snow Countries will be featured but articles from all over the world will be on display. Above Mrs. Edith Archer, at right, holds a large silver tray from Sweden. At the left Miss Helen Sweeney, chairman of the Exhibits committee, holds a fine ceramic elf leaf dish from Sweden. In that country the elm is the national tree.

The lovely black wooden display case, a replica of a Norwegian Star church window has a small Swedish flag at the top left. Many other beautiful articles from the Scandinavian countries will be on exhibit from Mrs. Archer's home.

Other features of the Fair this year will be the Import Bar where visitors may purchase items sent to this country from abroad. This feature has long been a big drawing card with Fair visitors. Prices range from under a dollar to the more valuable items.

The popular Scandinavian Skansen, shopping and festival center will bring 'flavor' from the Snow Countries and offer lots of fun and atmosphere for guests.

There will be a Theatre in operation with students from foreign countries who attend local Colleges performing for entertainment of the visitors. Each of the projects is supported and planned by independent committees and will have utmost attention to every detail in bringing the countries of the world to Jacksonville's International Fair.

A pastry shop where kaffee will be served with delicious pastries made from recipes from Scandinavian countries featured. For those not lucky enough to get tickets for the Dinner the Kaffee Shop will offer some consolation in tasting the imported type delicacies.

Tickets for the dinner must be purchased in advanced as only a limited number may be served in the school cafeteria. The tickets will go on sale at 9 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 20, in the lobby of Hotel Dunlap.

The proceeds from the Fairs are used for scholarships for prospective teachers for the exceptional child. This endeavor has met with much public concern and many organizations also contribute to this worthy cause. The Jacksonville Junior Woman's Club and the 20th District Junior Clubs are among those contributing to the scholarships.

For International Fair Come From Entire World

Local Man, Native Of Norway, Helping Provide Much Atmosphere For International Fair Here March 5th

By Herbrand Bratjorde

The earliest pair of skis known to the world were uncovered in Northern Sweden and are now in the Nordiska Museum, in Stockholm. Archeologists have fixed their age as about 4000 years.

The Greek Historian Xenophone stated that Armenians wore crude snow-shoes on their feet and also equipped their horses the same way when their routes of travel led over ice or snow.

Skiing has even reached the realm of mythology. The giant Scandinavian goddess Skadi, who in legend was married to Njord, one of the Scandinavian Gods, is known as the Goddes of Ski Odurris in Northern Europe. The god of Winter, Uller, is always shown walking on skis with curved toes, which often created the idea that he was so huge that he trod the snow with ships leashed to his feet.

Used In Warfare

Skis were first used in warfare in 1200 A.D. when King Swerre of Norway equipped his scouts with them and sent them out to reconnoiter the enemy encampments around Oslo, Norway, in 1542, and became the first men to wear skis as part of their regular winter warfare equipment.

At that time, skis also had a double purpose, for they could be taken from the wounded, cloth or animal skins spread between the skis and the wounded then carried back. These were perhaps the first stretchers in the world.

Soon Austrians took up the sport and then introduced it to the rest of Central Europe. Later it spread all over the world as more and more people became fascinated by the sport.

Royal Family Recognizes

Around 1860 the Norwegian Royal Family recognized ski jumping as a sport and donated a trophy to be awarded the champion jumper each year. The King also appointed a committee to lay down rules and regulations for the new sport.

Holmenkollen, near Oslo, was the site of the annual ski jumping contest which became not only a national sport but also a national holiday.

Soon the tournament broadened, so that it included not only men, but also women, girls and boys. Later the "Norwegian Ski Derby" was set up to test the durability of skiers in cross-country competition. Later other forms of ski contests were added to the program so that it became famous the world over.

To U.S. About 1840

No one really knows who brought the first pair of skis over to the North American continent. The first word we have of them dates to around 1840, and the statement is made that "these wooden blades for use on snow and ice were brought from Norway by immigrants and used in the Northern part of the Atlantic Seaboard."

Soon the Swedes and Norwegians began their trek westward and settled in the North central states where winters were long and snowfalls were plentiful and frequent. Skis were necessary to these pioneers, not for sport, but to gather up necessities of life.

Pioneered Sport Here

To a Norwegian named Thompson goes credit for making the skis famous throughout the country. It was he who went to California with other seekers of the gold in 1849. Like so many others, Thompson failed to find gold but he did establish speed records as a mail carrier between California, Nevada and Idaho by using skis for the mountain crossings.

First Jump In Minnesota

The first jumpers in the United States were two youthful brothers, Torgus and Mikkel Hemmestvedt, living in Red Wing, Minn. They gained local fame by their jumping activities. Soon their friends followed the example and ski jumping became the new sport thrill.

Soon ski clubs began appearing. The first one was set up in Berlin, N. H., and soon there were clubs in all parts of the country.

The Hemmestvedt brothers participated in the first governed jumping tourney in the United States on Feb. 8, 1887, in Red Wing, Minn. Mikkel won the Men's Jumping championship.

From there on it was a matter of nursing the new born sport. In 1904 the National Ski Association was formed and with it came the start of the tremendous growth in skiing.

In LIFE Magazine of Feb. 8, 1960, we see our splendid U. S. Girls Olympic ski team in action for Squaw Valley, California, Feb. 18th. There is no need going to Squaw Valley. Right here at home you will see plenty of Slaloms, downhills and jumps at the "Scandinavian Skansen" festivities Feb. 5.

After the "Ski Derby" run, they are serving Lutefisk, Limpa, caviar and Fillet Mignon. Pray for powder-snow and come early to the International Skansen Skf tournament and Fair at Jonathan Turner Junior High March 5.

Mrs. Cannell Will Show Silver Pieces From Grandfather's Store In Denmark

Mrs. Deane (Louise) Cannell, 830 Grove street, will display a number of treasured family heirlooms from Denmark where her people came from. Her grandfather was a silversmith and operated his own jewelry store in Veijle, Denmark.

Mrs. Cannell is pictured above at left with Miss Rose McGuire, at right, who holds a lovely garnet bracelet that once belonged to the present owner's great-grandmother.

Other articles include lovely highly polished huge silver spoons, cheese slicer, demi-tasse spoons, powder box and bookmark, all skills of the silversmith. The large spoon is 113 years old, and the silver coasters have Hans Christian Andersen motif decor.

At the right Mrs. Cannell displays a beautiful silver service at a table covered with a handmade cloth with intricate cutwork design and matching napkins.

The small bell in the top picture is used at Christmastime only and engraved with the traditional Jul. Many of the fine family silver and linens of the Danes are for special occasion only and reserved for their respective purposes.

Conservation Dept. Advises Rotenone To Eliminate Shad

A selective treatment with rotenone to remove gizzard shad from Lake Jacksonville has been recommended by the Illinois Department of Conservation, where a survey of the fish population was made last April by biologists.

Cost of the treatment is estimated by the state department at $1,000, with a suggestion that the treatment be made for three consecutive years, preferably in August when the water is warm.

Copies of the fish population study of Lake Jacksonville have been sent by Al Lopinot, chief fishery biologist, to Mayor Robert A. DuBois; William McCormick, investigator for the state department, and other personnel.

Mayor DuBois said the recommendations of the state have been turned over to Alderman Claude Lemon, chairman of the public property committee of the city council, and members of the committee for consideration.

The report included mention that the Illinois Department of Conservation supervised a rotenone operation on Lake Bloomington during the past year with apparently excellent results.

Lopinot, in releasing the Lake Jacksonville survey results, said there is possibility that the state department might give some financial assistance to the city in purchase of the chemical.

Purpose Of Study

The purpose of this investigation was to analyze the fish population to determine the kinds and sizes of the fish present in an effort to make fish management recommendations.

Techniques

The fish population was sampled with electro fishing equipment on April 22 and 23, 1959. The entire shoreline was shocked during these two days.

Observations

Lake Jacksonville is located in Morgan county about two miles southeast of Jacksonville, Ill. It has an area of approximately 469 acres and an average depth of 14.6 feet when full. There is approximately 6,847 acre feet when based on the above figures. The area and the average depth figures were obtained from the old engineering survey. The watershed size is approximately 6,880 acres of 10.8 square miles.

The lake was built in 1939 and is used primarily as a water supply for the city of Jacksonville in emergencies. It is used extensively for fishing and boating by the public. Boats are available for rent to the public and a boat ramp is available for launching private boats. Some cottages and private boat docks are on the lake but the development is small in comparison to some other public lakes of similar size. The lake has a very heavily indented shoreline of approximately 21 miles. Many of the small bays are heavily silted and it very easy to run aground in these areas with a boat. The water is fairly turbid and it is believed to be the result of erosion and a large carp and bullhead population.

Results Of Sampling

A total of 749 fish were collected with the electric shocker. The population sampled consisted of 14 species and one hybrid. The fish were measured for a length-frequency and the major species were graphed.

Gizzard shad, carp, and bluegill appeared to be the predominant species in the lake. Many more fish were observed than were picked up and this was particularly true of the gizzard shad and carp. The following are comments on the more important species.

Bluegill: Three hundred and eighty-seven fish were collected and measured. They ranged in size from 1.9 inches to 6.3 inches with an average of 3.8 inches. In studying the length-frequency graph, the 3.0"-4.5" fish appear to be the dominant group. The 4.6"-6.0" fish are the next most abundant size group. Very few fish were collected outside of these two size groups. The bluegill is probably the most abundant game fish in the lake judging from the numbers observed and collected. They appear to be in a stunted condition.

Largemouth Bass: Fifty-eight fish were collected and they ranged from 5.4"-21.0" with an average length of 14.3". Indications are that this species is reproducing though not in large numbers. There appears to be a dominant 14.5"-16.5" group.

Yellow Bass: Twenty-seven fish were sampled which ranged from 3.9"-6.3' in size with an average of 5.0 inches. Since these fish utilize food organisms which could be used by the bluegill and the largemouth bass, they do not appear to be a desirable species in this lake. However, they do not appear to be too abundant at the present time.

Black Bullhead: Thirty-six fish were sampled which ranged from 3.7"-10.2" with an average of 8.9". The bullheads appear to be making fair growth, however, they may not be a desirable fish for this lake. This lake is already quite turbid and part of this turbidity is probably being caused by the bullhead population.

Gizzard Shad: Forty-eight gizzard shad were measured which ranged from 4.4"-8.0" with an average of 6.0". Although a small number were collected, this species appears to be the most abundant one in the lake judging from the numbers observed.

Carp: One hundred and sixty-two fish were measured which ranged from 3.9"-28.0" with a 13.5" average. Two major size groups appear to be present. These fish are present in very large numbers and should be fished for commercially. They, along with the bullheads, are probably responsible for much of the turbidity.

Recommendations

This lake is used by the city as a water supply only in emergencies. The following recommendations are for the improvements of the sport fishery.

1. Due to the abundance of the gizzard shad, a reduction in their number by chemical means would improve sport fishing especially for the predatory species such as the largemouth bass. If fewer gizzard shad were available for food, the bass would strike more readily and be caught in greater numbers. Where this has been tried, fishing has improved.

The largemouth bass should also do a better job of cropping the small bluegills if less shad are available since they appear to favor the shad over the bluegill if both are available. This would possibly improve the growth rate of the bluegills.

Public health authorities will approve water supply treatments up to one part per million of rotenone. It is therefore recommended that a selective eradication for gizzard shad be made with rotenone at 1/10 part per million. This would require 220 gallons of the chemical. This will kill primarily gizzard shad, and game species will suffer little mortality. The total cost would be approximately $1,000. It is recommended that this treatment be made in August when the waters are warm. This treatment may have to be done once a year for three consecutive years for maximum benefit, since this constitutes the average life span of the gizzard shad.

The Division of Fisheries (Illinois Department of Conservation) personnel would supervise and apply the rotenone and it will be necessary for the city to make arrangements to pick up and dispose of the dead fish.

If rotenone treatment is contemplated, soundings will have to be made because of siltation since the lake was built. Average depth used in the rotenone calculation was based on the old engineering survey when the lake was built.

2. It is recommended that commercial fishing be encouraged in this lake the year around to reduce the large number of carp. This will help reduce the turbidity and may improve the sport fishery.

3. Fishermen should keep all sizes of panfish. If small ones are thrown back alive, it will encourage stunting since they easily overpopulate and become too abundant for their food supply.

4. Brush should be removed from the lake. This provides hiding places for the small panfish and makes it difficult for the bass to catch them. Consequently this also encourages stunting of panfish population.

5. If pleasure boats become a problem, it might be advisable to limit some sections of the lake to fishermen only.

6. Since this lake has an established fish population, additional fish should not be stocked in this lake as it will not contribute much to the sport fishery.

7. A complete watershed conservation program would improve the game fish habitat. This program would include contour farming, strip cropping, grassed waterways, crop rotation, erosion control, terracing, pastures and cover crops for all the farmland within the watershed. This type of program would reduce the soil loss from the cultivated fields and would minimize the destructive force of fast runoff water into the lake. Interested land owners should contact the local county soil conservation district board.

Favorite dish of the fisher, a relative of the mink, is tree-destroying porcupines. The fisher is the only animal that is seldom hurt by the porcupine's barbed quills.

Pike Co. DAR Entertains Award Winners

PITTSFIELD—The Pike County Chapter of the D.A.R. held their annual Good Citizenship Award Tea, on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at the Community Center.

The Regent, Mrs. Dorothy Sanderson was in charge of the business meeting. Mrs. Beulah Claussen read the President General's message for February.

The ladies all brought clothing to be sent to the Kate Duncan School, which the D.A.R. sponsor.

The D.A.R. State Conference will be held in Springfield beginning on Tuesday, March 8, and continuing through Friday, March 11, at which time Mrs. Helen Schimmel and Mrs. Eloise Branson will be delegates with a number of other members attending.

There were two new members taken into the organization, Mrs. Mary Rush and her daughter, Judy Rush.

Mrs. Margaret Shaw, the Vice Regent, introduced Mrs. Henrietta Kopps, who welcomed the girls from the eight schools who were honored.

They were Diana Henderson, of Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pauly Henderson; Linda Harmon, East Pike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Harmon.

Eldonna Browning, Pleasant Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Browning; Amy Daugherty, West Pike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daugherty of Hull.

Mothers of all the girls were present and Miss Eldonna Browning was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Eldon Browning, her grandmother, Mrs. Dewey Borrowman and her great grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Borrowman.

Mrs. Athene Schimmel, voice instructor in the Pittsfield High school presented some of her pupils with their contest selections. Nick Haskins sang "Bless This House," Mary Esther Evans sang, "Just One Day at a Time," both were accompanied by Joyce Dinsmore.

A trio, "Crystal Night" sung by Kay Willard, Hallie Grimes and Estilene McKee; Janes Ellis, vocal, "But The Lord," Glenn Brooks, vocal, "Invictus" both accompanied by Charles Seybold and Linda VanderStoep, "If I Could Tell You," accompanied by Joyce Dinsmore.

Roodhouse Pupils Entertained By Art Supervisor

ROODHOUSE — Mrs. Fred Strang, White Hall, formerly supervisor of art in the White Hall schools, was guest artist in Mrs. Kermit Fansler's third grade, Washington school of which her grandson, Jeff, is a member. Before an assembly of the pupils of Mrs. Fansler and Miss Mabel Hopkins' third grade rooms, Mrs. Strang did color sketches with commentary.

Jimmy Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Scott, celebrated his 9th birthday anniversary Wednesday in Miss Hopkins' third grade, Washington school, when he was surprised shortly before the close of school. Refreshments of cupcakes, bearing candles and the greeting, "Happy Birthday", and orangeade were furnished by his mother for all present.

Home From West

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ballard have arrived home from a trip to California. Among others visited were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pickens, Tulsa, Okla.; Mrs. Hazel Frech and son, Jim, in California; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brame, Warrensburg, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Moore and daughter, Las Vegas, Nev., and Mrs. Edward Heidenrich, also in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Talkington, Kampsville, were guests Monday night and Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Eva Siebenmann.

MacMurray Wins Easily: Routt And JHS Drop Decisions

Highlanders Clobber Concordia Five, 89-64

After a slow start, MacMurray, led by Marv Hohenberger, moved to a 26-12 lead with eight minutes remaining in the first half. Then with five minutes to play, Paul Tuchardt spearheaded a Concordia attack which cut the clan's lead to five points, 39-33, at the half.

The Highlanders could only hang on to their shaky lead for the first five minutes of the second stanza, but finally broke loose as Ron Price scored seven consecutive points on a three pointer and two quick buckets. The game was all MacMurray from then on as the MacMurray reserves continued to boost the lead until the last foul was committed and the game ended 89-64.

Price was the big scorer for the clan with 21 tallies and he was followed by Gary Little with 20. Paul Tuchardt was the all-round leader of the King's Men, scoring 21 points before he fouled out midway in the last half. Jim Kalthoff added 14 tallies to the Concordia cause.

MacMurray now holds a 12-5 record, and Concordia has won nine and dropped ten. The Highlanders swing into action again tonight, as they take on a tough quintet from Lincoln University of Jefferson City, Mo. Lincoln, now on a seven game winning streak, was beaten by MacMurray earlier in the season 78-75 in a hard fought game.

Small College Scoring Lead Held By Coleman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not even in the top 20 during the first month of the season, the 6-foot-3, 220-pounder popped in points at a 35 game clip during his last 11 outings to boost his average for 18 games to 31.1. The figures, released Friday by the NCAA Service Bureau, include games through Feb. 6.

Pete Gulden of Washington and Jefferson leads the field goal shooters with a .638 percentage on 55 out of 80. Bob Morgan of Drexel Tech paces the foul shooters with a .897 mark on 63 of 71.

Mississippi College, with an average of 110.6 points per game in 14 contests, leads in team offense. Wittenberg of Ohio has held the opposition to 47.1 points a game in 15 games for the No. 1 rating on defense.

TESONE LEADS PASSERS

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Vince Tesone, Little All-America backfielder from Colorado Mines, led the Rocky Mountain Conference in passing, total offense and punting during the 1959 football campaign.

A tailback, Tesone passed for 1,619 yards and seven touchdowns, ran for 592 and 42 points and averaged 42.2 yards on punts. He's a 5-foot-11, 178-pound senior from Louisville, Colo.

KEYS IS THE KEY

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Halfback Grady Keys of Colorado State University didn't play enough to get his 1959 football letter. He broke a foot in pre-season practice and saw action for only four plays in CSU's first eight games. But against Utah, the fleet sophomore from Los Angeles took a kickoff and ran 85 yards for the touchdown that gave the Aggies a 21-17 victory.

CEPEDA A HOLDOUT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Orlando Cepeda is a San Francisco Giant holdout.

The sensational Puerto Rican, who hit .312 and .317, including 52 home runs, in two seasons, has been offered "a real big raise but wants a real bigger one," said Giant Vice President Charles Feeney Friday.

No terms were disclosed.

FRANKLIN — In grade school competition at the Franklin grade school Friday night the host Franklin Cardinals took victories in both the lightweight and heavyweight contests.

In the first game of the evening the lightweight squad, paced by Gordon with 9 points, handed Chambersburg a loss by a 4 point margin. The losers' Evans tied with Gordon for the honors of the evening in the high point column as he also collected 9 tallies.

In the second game, Hocking sank the final deciding basket in sudden death overtime play. Hocking was also the big gun as he dumped in 16 points for the winner's cause. The Franklin five led the game up to the half, only to give the lead to Chambersburg in the third quarter, and then come from behind to win the game by a scant 2 points. The high man for the losing squad was Lewis who collected 12 points for the evening.

Beardstown 67 Griggsville 60

BEARDSTOWN — The Tigers slipped past the Griggsville Tornadoes Friday night as they collected win number 7 for the season with a 67-60 score. Three Tiger men hit the double figures as Gary Puck paced the victors with 20 tallies on a 7 field shot and 6 charity toss situation. Reggie Robertson and Dug Sherrill followed with 17 and 14 points respectively.

Shelton of the Tornadoes tied Puck for high scoring honors as he also dumped in 20 for the losers' effort. Harvey Bradshaw and Baker made contributions of 17 and 11 points respectively for the Tornadoes, but the Tiger offense was too strong for the Griggsville five as they were handed the defeat.

The game stood deadlocked at the end of the first quarter 14-14, and at the end of the second quarter the Tigers stayed ahead 32-29. In the third stanza the situation looked different as Griggsville came out on top at the end of the third quarter with a 50-43 reading. In the final quarter the Tiger offensive overpowered the Tornadoes and took the win.

Greenfield 57 Pleasant Hill 47

PLEASANT HILL — Greenfield took an Illinois Valley Conference tilt Friday night from the Pleasant Hill five as the Wolves failed to make up the 10 point deficit Greenfield ran up at the final horn.

The scoring for the winning five was even as George Witt led the attack with 16 points, followed by Robert Rives and Wilbur Willhausen with 15 and 13 points respectively.

The Pleasant Hill squad had the high man of the game in Gary Capps as he racked up 20 points for the contest. The defeat gave the Wolves a 11 game loss record over a 7 win record for the season.

After the first quarter the Greenfield team had little trouble with the Wolves as they led at the half by 12 points, 32-20, and 15 at the end of the third quarter. In the final stanza the Wolves drew to within 10 points as the game ended giving Greenfield the victory.

Virginia 58 Roodhouse 54

VIRGINIA — The Redbirds won their fifth Illinois Valley Conference contest Friday night as they downed the Roodhouse Railroaders 58-54.

Three seniors paced the Redbirds as Gary Reichert racked up 17 points, Dave Walter 14, and Butch Marr 10. The Railroaders fielded the high man of the game with Lyndle Winters collecting 25 points for the game.

The game was nip and tuck as the Virginia five took the lead at the end of the first quarter due to a cold shooting Roodhouse squad who managed to collect only 5 points in the first stanza of play. In the remaining quarters of the game the Railroaders stayed in the game but could not overcome the lead piled up by the Redbirds as they went on to take the game by 4 big points, 58-54. With 32 seconds remaining in the game Virginia led by 12 points, but the Railroaders whittled it down as they scored 6 points in 12 seconds to threaten the lead at the very end of the game. Tosses from the charity line were the deciding factor in the game.

The victory gives the Redbirds an 11 win and 8 loss standing for the season and keeps them in a first place tie for the conference lead with Greenfield.

WINCHESTER — The host Winchester five set the White Hall conference record at 3-3 Friday night as Winchester handed the visitors a defeat as Flynn collected 26 points for the evening. Winchester now enjoys a 17-5 record for the season and a 4-2 conference record.

The game started off with Winchester in possession of the lead and they maintained the lead without too much contention from the White Hall five.

Campbell led the White Hall offense with 17 points, followed closely by Ford with 15 and Blake with 12. Besides Flynn of the Winchester squad hitting double figures, Schofield made 18, Watts 12 and Dolan 11 for the winning team's efforts.

EAST PIKE — Paced by Kund with a sizzling 39 points, the Bluffs Blue Jays over-powered the East Pike Panthers Friday night to take an 82-57 victory.

The game opened as a hot battle between the two teams and the score at the end of the first stanza gave the lead to the Blue Jays by a 5 point margin, 18-13. In the second quarter the Panthers lost out as they got cold and fell behind at the half, 44-21. The second half of the game was pretty well dominated by the Bluffs five as they put the score at 67-29 in their favor at the end of the third quarter and went on to take the game by an 82-57 reading.

For the losing East Pike squad, Ramsey sparked with 25 tallies on 11 field shots and 3 charity tosses. The only other man to hit the double figures was Ottwell with 10.

HARDIN — With four of seven men hitting double figures, the Carrollton Hawks defeated Hardin Friday night by a score of 74 to 40.

The high man of the game rested on Dennis Shaw who collected 18 points for the contest as he paced the Hawks to their win. Bland of the Tigers paced Hardin's offensive drive.

The first quarter of the game ended with a margin of 4 points going to the Hawks as the score read 12-8. In the final half of the game a hot Carrollton five poured in the buckets as they ran away from Hardin, and at the end of the third quarter the score read 49-31 favoring the Hawks and the final horn saw a 74-40 victory for the Carrollton squad.

College Briefs

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — Lake Forest, hitting on 68 per cent of its shots in the first half, took a 61-39 lead and then coasted to a 92-85 College Conference of Illinois basketball victory over Millikin Friday night.

Tom Lewis led Wake Forest with 23 points but scoring honors went to Millikin's Vic Trantina who had 24 points.

CHARLESTON, Ill. (AP)—Eastern Illinois poured in 40 points in the second half to come from behind and defeat Eastern Michigan 64-56 Friday night in an IIAC basketball game.

Roger Beals paced the triumph with 19 points. Rod Treais and Tom McKenzie were high for Eastern Michigan with 15 points each.

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Southern Illinois University regained the IIAC lead Friday night with an 81-52 basketball victory over Central Michigan.

Charley Vaughn of SIU led the scoring with 17 points. Dean Adams was high for Central with 16.

Southern has a 7-1 record in the conference and Central Michigan is 2-6.

Billy Bruton Signs Contract With Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Billy Bruton, veteran outfielder of the Milwaukee Braves, signed his 1960 contract Friday. He became the 21st player in the fold for the coming season.

Bruton had rejected two contracts offered him by the club but said a few days ago that he and the management were "not far apart."

The 30-year-old Bruton, who makes his permanent residence in Milwaukee, batted .289 last season and seemed to have regained much of the speed which characterized his play before a serious injury two years ago. He drove in 41 runs.

Howard High On Yankee Chances

NEW YORK (AP)—Elston Howard said Friday he thinks the Yankees will have no trouble in winning the pennant this year if a couple of young pitchers come through.

The versatile Yankee catcher-first baseman-outfielder said the club had "the best group of young pitchers coming up this spring that I've seen since I joined the club in 1955.

"There's Bill Short, Jim Bronstad, Johnny James and John Gabler, among others," said Howard.

Howard discussed the Yankee potential after signing his 1960 contract. It was estimated that Howard received a $2,000 raise, boosting his salary to $30,000.

Fight Results

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Griffith, a 21-year-old shipping clerk fighting his first Madison Square Garden main event in his 17th pro bout, won a split decision over experienced Gaspar Ortega of Mexico Friday night in a 10-round match. Ortega weighed 147½, Griffith 147½.

There were no knockdowns but young Griffith, born in the Virgin Islands, was too fast for the Mexican.

The decision was announced originally as unanimous. Announcer Johnny Addie later grabbed the microphone to make a correction. Referee Harry Ebbetts originally announced as an 8-7-1 voter for Griffith, actually had voted for Ortega, 8-1-1. Judge Bill Recht saw it 8-1-1 for Griffith and Judge Artie Aidala had it 7-3 for Griffith. The AP card was 6-3-1 for Griffith.

Griffith drew blood from Ortega's nose in the seventh. He didn't seem to be able to hurt the Mexican but his speed and sound counter punching piled up the points.

It was a most important victory for Griffith who had won 15 of 16 previous pro starts.

Griffith was unranked. Ortega, once a leading welter contender, still was listed No. 8 among the challengers by the National Boxing Assn. The Mexican's record now is 52-18-2 for 72 bouts.

There was nothing close to a knockdown in the nationally televised bout.

Crimsons Lose 64-62 Sudden Death Overtime To Lakeview Decatur

By STAN SPOTTS

Ray Ostrander, a substitute forward, saved the game twice for Lakeview with clutch baskets but it was Virgil Miller's 17-footer in the sudden-death playoff that gave the Spartans of Decatur a 64-62 win over the Crimsons before a slim gathering at the Bowl Friday night.

Gary Spangenberg's only tally of the game with 10 seconds left in the fourth quarter had put the Crimsons on top, 56-54, but Lakeview took a timeout and then got the ball to Ostrander. His shot from the side swished the cords just as the final horn sounded and the first overtime was in order.

Richard Sweeney, also a sub, sparked Jacksonville in the initial overtime by accounting for all of JHS' six points. His last of two buckets came on a rebound layup with 12 seconds remaining and JHS enjoyed a 62-60 lead. Lakeview took time out with seven seconds left and they went to the same pattern. Ostrander's tally from the side hit the cords with a second to the good and a sudden death playoff was required.

The Spartans controlled the tip but missed on their first shot and Jacksonville took over. Coach John Chapman's five were close on three attempts but the ball wouldn't fall through. Lakeview then gained possession, got the ball to Batzer, who in turn passed to his running mate at the other guard slot, Virgil Miller. The latter let fly with a 17-footer that touched nothing but the bottom of the net and the winning bucket brought about JHS' 14th loss in 16 outings.

Spartans' 8th Win

Both teams had an erratic night on the hardcourt. There were numerous violations and plenty of bad passes throughout the rough contest that produced 39 fouls. But this had little bearing on the final outcome as the two fives battled each other to the final horn.

The winners connected on 24 of 28 free throws while JHS could produce only 14 of 29 attempts. The Crimsons managed to outscore Lakeview from the floor, 24-20, but the Spartans got them when they needed them the most in Ostrander's two buckets and Miller's winning goal.

Lakeview held the upper hand most of the first quarter but the Crimsons overcame a three point deficit and began closing in on the lead in the closing two minutes of play. The only lead JHS held in the period was on Tom Christison's tally just as the horn sounded to end the opening eight minutes of play, 16-15.

As the second quarter got underway, Chapman inserted his second five and they held their own under the boards. Twice the Spartans came within one point of the lead, 21-20 and 23-22, but with Parker and Mentler setting the pace, JHS built up an eight point lead, 30-22, with 2:42 left before halftime. The Crimsons went scoreless from this point on and Lakeview rallied to close the gap to one point at halftime, 30-29.

The third stanza was close all the way with JHS seeing the lead only twice, the final time being on John Bourn's 20-footer with 1:34 left in the period and it stood up for a 42-40 lead after 24 minutes of play.

The losers had to make up a three-point deficit in the final period before the game produced the unexpected fireworks in the closing minute of play. And then it took the extra minutes of play to decide the final outcome after time in the regulation match had run out.

Richard Sweeney gave his best offensive performance of the season to lead Crimson scorers with 17 points. He, along with Ken Norton, who hit 12 points, did a fine job under the boards for the Jacks. John Bourn and Tom Christison chipped in with 10 and nine points respectively.

Auburn Stops Routt's 11-Game Streak, 57-51

AUBURN—Routt's 11-game winning streak was halted here Friday night in a 57-51 verdict to the Trojans. Auburn's man to man defense checked the Rockets, who experienced a cold night at the hoop.

Fred Curtis displayed a brilliant floor game in addition to his 22 tallies which kept Routt in the contest. Don Bartolazzi hurt the Rockets with his outside shooting and his 17 points was tops for the Trojans, who had three other men in the double figures.

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

By Clarence Budington Kelland

XXIX

The whole matter of my relations with Madam Janeway had arrived at a point where self-preservation demanded that I have some advice as to how to conduct myself.

"Why," I said, "I went to borrow some money for her."

"Madam is rich. Why should she borrow money? Has she borrowed money from other people?"

"From Banker Watts and from Banker Willis and others."

"Then, Orrin, maybe all this money in your safe has been borrowed."

"Possibly," I said.

"Just let's suppose," she said, "that this money is like contraband and illicit. And if it comes to some kind of pinch, Madam denies she knows anything about it. And it is found in your safe. What then, Mr. Orrin?"

"I do not like to think about it," I said dolefully.

Lossie was pensive, not frightened, but thoughtful. "Orrin," she asked, "do you think those two murders have anything to do with this?" She flicked her hand at the safe.

"What reason have we to think so?"

"Medicine show," she said promptly. "The two men who were throttled were connected with the show. There was a knife thrower with the show. Things equal to the same thing are equal to each other. Hence Oscar was connected with the show. The first man was a snooper, and maybe he snooped too much in our neighborhood. The second man, Gideon Weeks, resembled Madam Janeway. Maybe he snooped."

"And you and I have snooped."

"We have."

"You're supposed to be the astute lawyer who thinks up capers and expedients," she said. "What if Oscar sneaked here to open the safe again, and the cupboard were bare?"

"You're leading up to something," I said.

"I'm leading up," she said, "to Oscar finding an empty safe and throwing a conniption fit."

"You," I said severely, "are trying to wangle me into taking that money out of the safe and hiding it somewhere else."

"Right the very first guess," she retorted.

"Oscar and Madam would know I had abstracted it."

* * *

That question had merit. How would they know it was I? I had not, they would be sure, the combination to open the safe. It might have the effect of arousing suspicion between themselves. Both had the combination. There had, as Lossie and I knew well, been friction between them. It might even cause each of them to suspect that the other had abstracted the money.

"And," Lossie said, following my thoughts as she so often did, "if it didn't cause trouble betwixt them, it would be life insurance."

"For whom?"

"For you and me," she said. "We would hold it as a hostage."

"Unless," I said tartly, "they took a leaf out of the book of the Indians and drove splinters under my nails or built a bonfire on my stomach to induce me to tell."

She looked me over from pate to soles and turned up her nose. "Aren't you big enough," she asked, "to take care of yourself?"

"Why go looking for trouble?" I demanded.

"You don't have to," she said pertly, "you're in trouble up to your Adam's apple."

"Suppose—just suppose—I was so foolish as to do what you suggest. Where would I hide all this money?"

"Aboard the Lizzie Ann," she said promptly, "under the eye of Captain Zacharias Wheelright."

"When do we do all this?" I asked.

"No," I vetoed. "I think they will be putting a lot more money in this safe. They haven't put in the money I got from Albany yet."

* * *

Well, that was that. We went home and the half million dollars remained in my safe, at least for the time being, and life went on as usual. Mr. Hannum's lawsuit against P. T. Barnum came to trial and, as I have warned him, we were defeated. The judge held, as I had foreseen, that there was no cause for action in exhibiting an imitation of a humbug. But the trial had served its purpose. Papers all over the nation printed accounts of the case and crowds of the curious flocked to see both the original giant and Mr. Barnum's imitation of it.

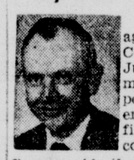

Madam Janeway seemed untouched by the money shortage. There was no abatement in her regal entertaining or in her charities or in her generosity to young friends she cultivated and loved to have about her.

With all her lavishness there was no shrinking in the amount of money hidden in my safe, but, on the other hand, a startling increase in its total. I kept track of it day by day and totaled it at least once a week. Before we even thought of the coming of spring the total reached the enormous sum of $800,000, and I, even in the favored position of Madam's attorney, could not tell where it all came from. I was able to surmise, but surmise only, that some of it, at least, was the proceeds of increased borrowings from old banks and new lending by new banks.

TV NEWS

by DON SHUMAKER

Television coverage of the National Conventions this July is going to make it rough on politicians. No longer will the smoke-filled caucus rooms, corridors, and offices provide them sanctuary from the all-seeing eye of the TV camera. Heretofore, the problem of using massive TV lighting equipment kept the cameras out of these domains. Now, the American Broadcasting Company has announced the development of a new super-sensitive camera tube that eliminates the need for large, heavy spotlights. The new tube requires only a bare minimum of light to transmit quality pictures, and can operate, if necessary, with the aid of only an ordinary flashlight.

Nor is the great outdoors at night a refuge from the camera's eye. TV remote crews will not only be able to telecast at night with just a small amount of artificial light, but also at dusk or dawn with no extra light at all. Looks like from now on, any disagreements about nominees and platforms that the politicians don't want aired publically on TV will have to be conducted in pitchdark cloakrooms and at a whisper. If there are disagreements in your house about which TV show to watch, why not settle them by getting another set? At Shumaker TV & Appliance we feature brand new large screen RCA Victor TV sets. Incorporating the latest electronic developments with beautiful decorator cabinets, the new RCA TV sets are the finest selection on the market. Visit us soon for a demonstration. SHUMAKER TV AND APPLIANCES, 222 East State Street. Phone 5-6595.

CHECKING FOR THE FUTURE

The 12-year-old boy wrote the local police department and asked for "something about becoming a cop." He said he also would like information "on how to catch crooks."

Patrick is not positive about his ambitions. He also has been thinking about being a carpenter.

THE 'WALKING MAN'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—"I've become such an oddity," said Dr. Orrin E. Klapp, sociology professor at San Diego State College, "that children call me the walking man."

He walks the two miles from his home to the college each day instead of riding in his automobile. He feels that "it is sad in a way" that this should make him seem different.

EXECUTOR'S SALE

OF VALUABLE PRODUCTIVE FARM LANDS

EIGHT HUNDRED SIXTEEN ACRES

By authority of the Last Will and Testament of Mary Adkins Reynolds, deceased, the undersigned Executor will sell at Public Auction on

SATURDAY, FEB. 27, 1960

TRACT No. 1 will sell at 10:00 a. m. at the South door of the Cass County Court House in Virginia, Illinois, the following described real estate:

That part of the Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter of Section 25 lying South of the B&O Railroad;

all the foregoing being in Township 17 North, Range 9 West of the Third Principal Meridian,

This tract is located approximately 3 miles West of Ashland, Illinois on State Route 125, then ¼ mile South, or approximately 8 miles East of Virginia, Illinois, on State Route 125, then ¼ mile South. The above farm has approximately 84 acres of crop land of which 15 acres are in growing wheat. This is an excellent farm and well located.

TRACTS No. 2 and No. 3 will sell at 2:00 P.M. at the Farmers & Traders State Bank in Meredosia, Illinois.

TRACT No. 2 described as follows:

The Northwest Quarter of Section 22; The South Half of the Northeast Quarter of Section 22 (except therefrom a strip of land 75 feet wide conveyed to the Commissioners of McGee Creek Levee and Drainage District by Deed recorded February 16, 1911 in Book 168, page 190);

The Northeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter of Section 22 and that part of the Fractional West Half of Section 23 lying West of the Illinois River Levee (except a tract shown as 24.42 acres in Surveyors Record 9, page 83 and except the right of way of the McGee Creek Levee and Drainage District and also except lands used for pumping station);

That part of the East Half of the Southwest Quarter of Section 22 lying North of McGee Creek Levee and that part of the South Half of the Southeast Quarter of Section 22 lying North of McGee Creek Levee and also that part of the Northwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter of Section 22 lying North and East of McGee Creek Levee;

All of the foregoing being in Township 3 South, Range 2 West of the Fourth Principal Meridian, in the County of Pike and State of Illinois, containing 525 acres, more or less;

This tract is located approximately 3½ miles West of Meredosia on State Route 104 then 2¼ miles South and is improved with 4 good steel corn cribs each having a capacity of 1500 bu., and one round steel granary having a capacity of 2000 bu. The above farm has approximately 472 acres of crop land of which 46 acres are in growing wheat. Tract 2 will be sold subject to the existing unpaid special assessments of drainage purposes. All special assessments on said tract which have become due and payable have been paid in full. The annual assessments on said lands that have become due and payable have been paid in full. Purchaser to assume the annual assessments for drainage purposes falling due in the future.

TRACT No. 3 described as follows:

All of that part of the North Half (N½) of Section Twelve (12) lying West of the McGee Creek Levee in Township Three (3) South, Range Two (2) West of the Fourth Principal Meridian, in the County of Pike and State of Illinois, subject to all right-of-ways and easements, if any, heretofore granted to McGee Creek Drainage and Levee District and subject to the right-of-way granted to the Texas Empire Pipeline Company by an instrument dated November 27, 1928 and filed January 22, 1929, in Deed Record 202, at Page 551; unimproved; unencumbered. Containing 207 acres more or less, in the County of Pike and State of Illinois.

This tract is located approximately 1½ miles West of Meredosia, Illinois on State Route 104 then ½ mile South. The farm has approximately 198 acres of crop land of which 50 acres are in growing wheat. All special assessments have been paid in full. Purchaser to assume the annual assessments for drainage purposes falling due in the future.

Please remember Tracts 2 and 3 sell at 2 P.M. at the Farmers & Traders State Bank in Meredosia, Illinois.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE

All tracts will be sold subject to existing roadways and existing right-of-way easements. Purchaser will receive the landlords share of growing wheat. Purchaser to pay 25% of purchase price at time of sale. Balance to be paid within 30 days from date of sale. Terms relative to possession will be given day of sale or upon inquiry.

Seller will pay 1959 general taxes due and payable in 1960. Purchaser to assume all subsequent general taxes. Abstract of title to said premises will be furnished and a title guaranty policy will be furnished each purchaser, copy of commitment for the issuance of said policies by the Chicaga Title and Trust Company will be furnished to all parties requesting same.

For further information and inspection of the premises by interested parties contact the undersigned executor, auctioneers or John E. Peters, President, Farmers & Traders State Bank at Meredosia, Illinois.

25 RUNS IN THE FAMILY

Their three children all were born on that date.

The latest arrival, a girl, was born last Jan. 26. Ann, 6, and Timothy, 5, also have Jan. 26 birthdays.

In fact, 26 is a pretty lucky number around the Coffman home. Mrs. Coffman was born on Nov. 26, and she met her husband on Dec. 26, in 1949.

BETTER BROWNIES

It has been estimated that there are about 8,500 blind children of pre-school age in the United States.

HIT TOO WELL

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Too many home runs have resulted in the banning of baseball at one city-owned lot here. Officials said players were chasing the balls out of the vacant lot into traffic on two busy streets nearby.
